LOTHIAN DEATH BLOW TO BRITAIN IN CRITICAL HOUR

End Follows Plea for Greater Help.

Weigh Successor

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Several prominent Britons tonight were mentioned as possible successors to the late Lord Lothian, ambassador to the United States. They included: Anthony Eden, war secretary; Viscount Cranborne, dominions secretary of state; Sir Robert Vansittart, former undersecretary of state; Sir Percy Loraine, ambassador to Rome when Italy entered the war; David Lloyd George, world war prime minister; Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production; Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax; Admiral of the Fleet Lord Chatfield, and R. G. Casey, Australian minister to the United States.

Lord Lothian.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Administration officials mourned the death today of Lord Lothian, ambassador of Great Britain, as a shocking loss to his country at a time when the destiny of the empire is so vitally dependent upon relations with the United States.

Lord Lothian, who was 58 years old, died at the British embassy of uremia, a toxic condition produced by improper functioning of the kidneys. At the embassy it was explained that the ambassador had suffered from the ailment for many weeks, but had not consulted a physician because of his religious beliefs.

Lord Lothian's death came as newspapers across the country were carrying streamer headlines on his speech read last night before the American Farm Bureau federation asking greater aid for Britain. His condition had prevented his delivering the speech in person.

Lord Lothian died at 1 a. m. [Chicago time], but it was not until six hours later that his death was announced thru the coroner of the District of Columbia. Then the news of his death replaced the headlines on the news he had made the night before.

Call Doctor Hour After Death.

Coroner A. Magruder McDonald said Lord Lothian was pronounced dead by Dr. Benjamin Weems, who was called an hour after the ambassador died. In attendance at the time of death were Christian Science practitioners from Boston.

Lord Lothian had been confined to his room in the embassy for a week. Attaches said his condition improved on Monday but that he suffered a relapse last night and was unable to make in person what became his last urgent appeal for all possible American assistance to Great Britain.

"If you back us now you will not be backing a quitter," he said. "The issue now depends largely on what you decide to do."

Speculate on Warship Trip.

There was much speculation in Washington as to whether tradition would be followed and a United States warship be detailed to transport the body to England. This custom was followed last year when Hirosa Saito, ambassador of Japan, died in Washington. The neutrality act forbids American vessels to enter the war zone around the British Isles, but does not apply to a warship.

Since German submarines have not molested the American squadron of a cruiser and two destroyers in neutral Portuguese waters it is not believed that a cruiser transporting the remains of the British ambassador would be attacked. Consequently, most observers believe that a cruiser will carry Lord Lothian's body home.

Roosevelt Sends Regrets.

President Roosevelt sent a message of condolence to King George VI. saying he was "shocked beyond measure to hear of the sudden passing of my old friend and your ambassador, the marquess of Lothian." The President expressed similar sentiments in a public statement, issued by the state de-

Jewish Women and Children Hurled in Sea

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Dec. 13, Friday (AP).—Approximately 200 Jewish refugees, among nearly 400 bound from Bulgaria to Palestine, drowned when their ship broke to pieces in high seas near Istanbul, Turkish newspapers reported today.

Seventeen of those drowned were children, the morning paper L'Orient declared.

Breaks Up Near Shore.

The disaster was said to have occurred in the Sea of Marmora west of Istanbul when a motorship flying the Uruguayan flag ran into heavy seas and broke up near the shore.

Approximately 380 passengers, including many children and their mothers, were thrown into the sea without an opportunity to take to lifeboats, the newspaper Cumciyet reported.

Captain Calls Rescue Crews.

The captain of the boat succeeded in swimming ashore and called government rescue crews to the scene. The sea was said to have been dotted with struggling refugees and débris.

About 180 survivors were picked up and taken to hospitals.

HUNT 3 FREED BY JUDGE IN ROW ON TRIAL DELAYS

U. S. Jury Indicts 32 After Court Acts.

A clash between Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward and the office of United States Attorney J. Albert Woll over the prosecution of federal cases in the District court led yesterday to the summary release of three alleged bootleggers. Last night the men released by the judge were being sought again by United States marshals armed with bench warrants.

Shortly after the alleged bootleggers had walked out of the federal building smiling they were named in indictments returned before Judge Woodward by the federal grand jury. If found they will be rearrested on the new charges.

Judge Demands Accounting.

Judge Woodward charged on Wednesday that the district attorney's office was lax in the handling of more than a score of pending criminal cases. He declared too many prisoners were being held in jail for four to eight weeks without being given their day in court. Yesterday in a dramatic session which lasted several hours he called upon Woll's office for an accounting.

Twenty-two defendants who have been locked in the county jail unable to post bond were brought before Judge Woodward at his request. Some of the prisoners had been waiting for more than two months for federal attorneys to find time to prosecute them. Many of them went to jail under the régime of former District Attorney William J. Campbell, who was succeeded by Woll on Oct. 22.

Forced to Promise Action.

District Attorney Woll did not appear in court yesterday. In his stead he sent two assistants, Martin Ward and Earle C. Hurley, who attempted to placate the court, with little success. The assistant prosecutors had to promise action against all the prisoners within a week before Judge Woodward would order any returned to jail cells.

Eighteen were finally remanded to federal custody. One other was ordered freed but was taken back to the jail because of a second case pending against him.

While Judge Woodward was conducting his investigation the district attorney's office kept the federal grand jury in session for the entire day and established what is believed to be a new record with the return of 32 indictments, including the three against the released prisoners.

Deadline Set For Friday.

Indictments also were voted against 15 other prisoners who had appeared before Judge Woodward. The deadline for action against the others is next Friday.

In some cases the true bills were voted several days ago, the prosecutors explained, but the return of the indictments was delayed by other business before the jurors.

The prisoners were a bewildered, disheveled lot when they were brought before Judge Woodward by a dozen husky federal marshals. Apparently unaware of the reason for their appearance, they paid scant attention to the proceedings until they realized the prosecutors, not they, were in trouble. Then they leaned forward to watch with obvious relish.

One at a time the court called the prisoners to the bar and inquired into their cases. The first was Daniel Warfield, 30 years old, colored, who had been in jail since September on an alcohol tax charge.

Following are some of the exchanges which followed:

THE COURT—This man has been denied his right to a trial. He hasn't been indicted.

WARD—It is my understanding a true bill has been voted in his case by the grand jury and will be returned before your honor shortly.

THE COURT—That's not much comfort to the prisoner. We've had three grand juries here since he was locked up and still no action.

WARD—He hasn't requested release on his own bond, nor has any one else asked that the prisoner be released.

THE COURT—That makes no difference. The government is not giving him his chance of a day in court. He's just being held. But he won't be any longer. He's released from custody.

How a Greek Major Foiled Italian Drive

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE GREEK ARMY ON THE ALBANIAN FRONT, Dec. 11 [Passed by military censor] [Delayed].—Now that it is history, the story of how close the Italians came to success in their first push on the Pindus front can be told. A single artillery major, who must remain anonymous, gets the credit for stemming the attack.

At one moment in the fighting in the Pindus mountains above Janina the Italians almost broke thru. At a critical point the colonel directing operations was killed in his advance post. For an instant the fight hung in the balance, but just then a major arrived from the rear to confer with the colonel, took charge of the batteries, and pushed the Italians back.

The Italians made two serious errors: They had not expected the Greeks to fight and they had no alternative campaign ready if their first plan failed.

Quick Action Saves the Day.

They expected a mechanized Alpine division to smash thru from Koritza if the Greeks did fight, and thought they would get Salonika within a week, cutting Thrace off from the rest of Greece. Meanwhile forces farther south were to push the Greeks off road centers such as at the Greek town of Janina.

Quick action by Premier Gen. John Metaxas and his staff saved the day. Before the Italian ultimatum expired, covering troops were rushing to the frontier and the rest of the army was mobilized in three days. Men poured toward the front. The Greeks realized speed meant everything.

They held up the Koritza advance, but the attack on Janina, peacetime headquarters of the 5th army corps, almost succeeded. The Italians came within 20 miles of the city, as testified by wrecked Italian cars, burned tanks, smashed motorcycles, and heaps of equipment and ammunition along roads leading to Janina from Kakavia and Met Mertanzi.

Italian Strength Told.

At the start of the war the Italians had 11 divisions in Albania. Around Koritza was one Alpine division, heavily mechanized and considered by the Greeks to be equivalent to a small army corps because of its large amount of artillery, high mobility, and separation into autonomous units.

At the other end of the front the Italians had four divisions to make a strong feint and draw Greek attention from the Koritza sector, while along the rest of the front the remaining forces were to push in wherever possible and take road centers.

This was characterized as a "bad imitation of German strategy."

It was the artillery that enabled the Greeks to hold during the mobilization and it was their quickness to see that the key point of the first phase of the war was Koritza.

Blasted by the Greek artillery in their first rush, the Italians were continually hammered as they tried to reorganize and then, when already shaken, were put to flight by determined bayonet and grenade attacks of the Greek infantry as more troops reached the front.

WINDSOR WILL LEAVE IN U. S. PLANE TODAY; MAY SEE ROOSEVELT

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 13, Friday [Special].—The duke of Windsor will leave Miami at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a United States navy plane for an unannounced destination, it was learned here early today. An official statement said the duke would leave on "important official business."

When reporters asked Terence McGrath, the duke's press representative, whether he could confirm or deny a report that Windsor would meet President Roosevelt, McGrath replied: "I can make no comment on that."

The news was confirmed by Capt. Vyvyan Drury, aide de camp to the duke, after all officials attached to the Windsor party had persistently denied rumors of the trip.

Originally the Windsors were to leave here this afternoon. The postoperative condition of the duchess' jaw bone, however, delayed their departure until Monday at the earliest.

It was learned that "tremendous pressure" had been exerted by the state department to keep announcement of the duke's trip from being made prematurely. It leaked out thru a chance remark by an official connected with the royal group.

Visits Bahamas Base.

ABOARD U. S. S. MAYRANT AT SEA, Dec. 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt began today the last leg of his defense inspection cruise which has taken him 3,000 miles since he left Miami 10 days ago.

From the cruiser Tuscaloosa, he viewed the seaplane base at Mayaguana Island, the Bahamas, obtained from Great Britain in the destroyer deal. The Tuscaloosa then headed for an unannounced destination.

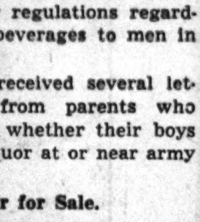
Draftees Can Buy a Drink, Congress Told

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Maj. Gen. Adams.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Men drafted into military service will not be barred from the purchase of intoxicating liquors, the war department advised congress today.

Representative Carl Hinshaw [R., Cal.] read to the house a letter he had received from Maj. Gen. E. S. Adams of the adjutant general's office in response to a query concerning army regulations regarding the sale of beverages to men in uniform.

Hinshaw had received several letters, he said, from parents who wanted to know whether their boys would be sold liquor at or near army training camps.

3.2 Beer for Sale.

Gen. Adams replied that war department regulations and instructions for many years had prohibited the sale of intoxicating liquors on military reservations. Beer containing not more than 3.2 per cent of alcohol by weight is not deemed intoxicating, he said, and the sale of such a beverage is authorized by post exchanges on reservations in any state whose laws permit such sales within its borders.

"It is believed unwise," wrote Gen. Adams, "to deny a soldier, during his few hours of leisure time, the privileges which are enjoyed by other citizens. Experience has proved that permitting the sale of beverages as indicated above has accomplished excellent results. It has encouraged military personnel to remain on the reservation [their home] and enjoy refreshments under conditions far better than exist and are available to them off the reservation."

Concerning Outside Sale.

As for the sale of liquor to men in uniform outside of military reservations, Gen. Adams declared:

"It would be harmful to the men in service to direct a prohibition against them that did not apply to other citizens. To do so would inevitably lead to intemperance.

"As the matter now stands, members of the army not on military reservations are subject to the same laws, both federal and state, that govern the conduct of other citizens. They are also subject to the ever present restriction that they must at no time do anything that will reflect discredit upon the service."

House Aroused by Widespread Lag in Defense

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sidney Hillman.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—The nationwide lag in the production of military defense equipment was the subject of furious debate in the house today.

Labor was blamed for calling strikes at plants manufacturing warplanes and army equipment. President Roosevelt was censured for failure to give genuine authority to the national defense council. All the speakers agreed there is need for immediate action to speed up the defense program.

The climax of the discussion came when Sidney Hillman, C.I.O. chieftain who is a member of the National Defense Advisory commission, was quoted as having threatened industry with "the consequences" if it did not permit the C.I.O. to organize it.

"Industry had better get aboard or take the consequences," Hillman recently declared, according to Representative Leland M. Ford [R., Cal.].

Hillman Statement Denied.

The charge brought a statement from Hillman's press representative that the quotation was "fantastically untrue." Ford, asked for the source of his information, said he obtained it from an issue of a daily aviation information service which is subscribed to by most of the leading aircraft manufacturers of the country. Last Tuesday's release of the publication stated that a "government spokesman" suggested the possibility of an attempt to commandeer industry. Ford said he was informed that this official was Hillman.

"Does it seem possible," Ford asked the house, "that in what has been called 'free America,' thru the leadership of the C. I. O. and Sidney Hillman, this defense program can be sabotaged and this country not only left defenseless but eventually turned over to the communists?

Lists Offenses of C. I. O.

"In their attempt to destroy airplane production the C. I. O. called a strike at the Vultee plant; they stopped delivery of airplanes that are necessary to our army for training our men; they are striking against the shipbuilding operators; there have been jurisdictional strikes that have slowed down and interfered with our national defense program; they are putting into effect strikes in the lumber industry.

"Does it seem fair that the C. I. O. group, no matter what the wage schedule is, appears to want more? That, no matter what the working conditions are, they can take exception to them and cause trouble, riots, strikes, and dissension, and get away with it, while on the other hand this country has drafted the man power of the country who willingly and patriotically accepted $30 a month?"

Puts Problem to Roosevelt.

Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.] declared that President Roosevelt should lead the way to "unity in defense" by stopping the practice of permitting defense contracts to be carried out under closed shop conditions. He cited instances of skilled laborers being reuired to pay large initiation fees to unions in order to be able to work for 15 to 30 days.

Taber demanded that the President's defense advisory commission be given authority so it can "accomplish something for defense."

Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] proposed a set of questions to government officials concerning the legal rights of labor unions to force payments of large initiation fees to would-be workmen upon defense orders.

INTENSIVE DRIVE TO KEEP AMERICA AT PEACE BEGINS

Speed Is Vital, Says Gen. Hammond.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

An intensive campaign was begun in Chicago yesterday to keep America out of war.

The next three or four months will decide this issue, Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, former senior brigade commander of the Illinois National Guard, said in taking office as chairman of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee. He spoke at a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman which was attended by national and local workers in this crusade.

"We hear that we are already in a war," said Gen. Hammond. "We hear too much of that. The kind of a war I am afraid of, and want to stay out of, is a shooting war. The next three or four months will decide whether we are going into a shooting war or not.

Stresses Our Unpreparedness.

"The way we are going now we are going rapidly into a shooting war, a two ocean war, with a one ocean navy. We are going in within a short time as ill prepared as we have ever been because of the lack of mechanization of the American army.

"I think the American people, when they know the facts, will answer this question correctly.

"This meeting is good, but it is not good enough. This should be an offensive proposition, I think, rather than a defensive one. We must have finances, headquarters, a speakers' bureau.

"Our job is to see that the people get the facts, and that there are no more 'smart tricks' put over on them. I think I am quoting correctly the chairman of the committee that is trying to get us into war [the William Allen White Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies]."

[In New York last night James S. Kemper, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, warned against groups urging war participation. Details on page 9.]

Rally to Be Held Wednesday.

The first big Chicago rally of the America First group will be held in Orchestra hall next Wednesday evening, it was announced. Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman, will preside. John T. Flynn, New York writer, author of "The Country Squire in the White House," will be the principal speaker. Another big rally is being planned for January, to coincide with the opening of the new congress and to provide an opportunity to make known the will of the people to that body.

Robert L. Bliss, the committee's national director of organization, presided at yesterday's luncheon meeting. Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, Chicago writer and vice chairman of the Chicago chapter, told of the aims of the committee. Dr. Anton J. Carlson, noted physiologist of the University of Chicago, was at the speakers' table as a committee member.

The job to be done in this and other states, according to Lee Williams, national organizer, is to encourage and support those who agree with the committee in principle, furnish them with organization and leadership, and then go out and convert others.

Calls for Intensive Work.

"An intensive organization effort must be made in Chicago," he said. "A thousand local organizations should be furnished with information, and the viewpoint of the committee should be represented at every meeting where war or peace is discussed. From now on to the middle of January congress should be flooded with messages to preserve the Johnson act and to keep American vessels out of the war zone, either with or without the escort of warships."

George Ranney Jr. told of the work among young people, and Mrs. Jessamine Hoagland told of the work among women. She represents a peace organization called the Roll Call of American Women.

"We are not fighting half hard enough," she said, after pledging a big attendance of women at the Orchestra hall meeting. "We have 10,000 members in 41 states, 3,000 in Chicago, and we are going to be heard from."

Elmer Taylor, past Cook county adjutant of the American Legion, said: "I made up my mind long ago that the United States must never be a sucker again."

WARSHIPS SHELL ITALIANS AS THEY RETREAT IN EGYPT

British Drive Fascists from Coast Line.

LONDON, Dec. 12 (AP).—The British have driven the Italian invaders from virtually all of the Egyptian coastline, seized more than 20,000 prisoners—probably thousands more—and the royal navy and air force are pouring fire and steel upon the last Fascist exits, it was officially declared today.

[The Italian radio last night conceded the loss of Sidi Barrani to the British. The Italian high command reported fighting still raging at Buqbuq, 35 miles to the west toward Libya.]

The outline of the first big British offensive of the war—called by Winston Churchill a victory "of the first order"—was drawn by the prime minister himself and the communiques sent here by the Egyptian command.

Aside from the 20,000 odd Fascist soldiers estimated by the British middle eastern headquarters to be prisoners of war, Churchill declared that in the rough noose now being drawn by British armored units "it would not be surprising if at least the best part of three Italian divisions, including numerous blackshirt formations, had been either destroyed or captured."

Happy Session of Commons.

He made no effort to put this force in terms of numbers of men, but an Italian division usually runs from 14,000 to 17,000.

"The whole episode," the prime minister told the house of commons in its most exultant session in many a day, "must be judged upon the background of the fact that it is only three or four months ago that our anxieties for the defense of Egypt were acute. These anxieties are now removed."

The position tonight, according to official sources both here and in Cairo, was this:

The Italians still held out at only "one or two points" along the 85 miles of Egyptian coast which they had occupied in an offensive sprung early in the autumn from adjoining Italian Libya, and a general retreat was declared developing.

Smash Toward Libya.

Some units of the British mechanized army were striking at the last of these Italian held pockets. Others, in pursuit of fleeing Italians, were smashing westward toward Libya; the Mediterranean fleet was shelling what the admiralty called "the focal points of the Italian retreat" at Sollum, which lies just within Egypt, and at Bardia on the Libyan coast.

The British air force, operating endlessly, was declared already to have dropped "several tons" of bombs upon Sollum and to have machine gunned the retreating Fascist troops along the Sollum road.

[Reuters, British news agency, said in a dispatch from New Delhi that Indian troops had played a prominent part in the capture of Sidi Barrani.]

Difficult to Feed Prisoners.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 12 (AP).—Italian prisoners of war were declared tonight by a British spokesman to be falling so rapidly by thousands into British hands that the problem of feeding and eventually moving them out of the desert is becoming troublesome.

There was no confirmation of rumors that Sollum, the Italian position just within Egypt, had fallen to the British.

BRITISH WOMEN WARNED AGAINST HOARDING FOOD

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 12.—British housewives who bought and stored food reserves exceeding one week's supply since Aug. 31 last year were warned today they committed an offense and are liable to punishment.

That such action was illegal was a surprise to most housewives. Immediately after the war was declared, the government encouraged purchases of unrationed food in order to get the widest possible distribution. The official position, clarified by a food ministry spokesman today, however, is that housewives were advised to store sufficient food only for seven days of emergency.

HERTZOG RESIGNS PARLIAMENT SEAT IN SOUTH AFRICA

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Dec. 12 (AP).—Gen. J. B. M. Hertzog, who quit as prime minister of the Union of South Africa when parliament rejected his plans to keep the dominion out of war, resigned from parliament today.

With him went his former finance minister, N. C. Havenga. They said they were retiring because the reunited Nationalist party recently disclosed a lack of confidence in them.

Hertzog resigned as prime minister on Sept. 6, 1939. He was succeeded by Gen. Jan Smuts, who advocated and obtained immediate entry into the war at Britain's side.

BRITISH SURPRISE ATTACK CATCHES FOE AS HE EATS

Writer in Egypt Tells of Desert Campaign.

BY EDWARD KENNEDY.

WITH THE BRITISH DESERT FORCES IN EGYPT, Dec. 10 [Delayed] (AP).—The advance British troops who opened the great Egyptian offensive against Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's forces took the Italians entirely by surprise after skilfully executed preparatory moves had carried them undetected across 75 miles of desert wasteland.

So great was the surprise of these operations that ordinary movements of provisions were intercepted in some of the Italian camps, and the men were surrounded while they were still eating breakfast.

The fighting started early Monday and has been going forward ever since. The British have been routing the Fascists at numerous points in the great sundrenched arid stretches, inflicting heavy casualties and taking prisoners by the thousands.

British Attack Outposts.

We left Cairo at dawn and by mid-afternoon we were settled in a camp established for newspaper correspondents some 300 miles out in the desert, but still considerably behind the advancing British columns.

So far I have seen no combat in this big drive, nor has any other correspondent, but I have heard accounts from those back from the combat area, and from airmen who have flown over it and as far as I can find out here is what has happened:

On Monday morning the British attacked outposts of the 85 mile long "beach" of desert which the Italians occupied just three months ago—Maktilla on the coast, 15 miles east of Sidi Barrani, and Nibeiwa, 15 miles south of Sidi Barrani, taking both in a few hours fighting.

Four hundred prisoners were taken Monday morning and, as the British pressed forward, the number ran well over a thousand.

Shoot Forward Again.

Thru all that night the fighting went on, the British rounding up Italian units cut off from the main force.

On Tuesday the British shot forward again, principally in a big wheeling movement south of Sidi Barrani, then in a swift dash to the Mediterranean. This was highly successful. [Sidi Barrani was taken by the British Wednesday.]

More than 200 cars were captured or destroyed. The British are using heavy tanks, armored cars, and artillery forces.

The land forces have had extensive support from sea and from the royal air force.

Our camp is adjacent to an R. A. F. air field and since the British drive started no Italian plane has appeared overhead.

ITALIANS WARNED AGAINST 'WAR LIES SPREAD BY BRITISH'

ROME, Dec. 12 (AP).—Fascist newspapers warned the Italian people tonight against "false news of imaginary catastrophes" for Italian arms, which, it was charged, British agents inside Italy are spreading in an attempt to destroy morale.

Widespread publication was given to news that Adelchi Serena, secretary of the Fascist party, had talked with the former leaders of Fascist "action squads." These were the party's street fighting forces in the early days of Fascism.

[The "action squads" introduced the administration of large doses of castor oil as a means of "persuading" opponents.]

Virginio Gayda, the frequent press voice of Premier Mussolini, used three columns in Il Giornale d'Italia to accuse British propaganda agents inside this country of combining with the foreign radio to spread "insidious" reports of Fascist reverses.

He said the propaganda was cracking up on the rock of Italian firmness.

FRIDAY, 13TH? IN ASIA THAT'S JUST A TRIFLE!

You could drop Friday the 13th in the middle of the sea of Arabic and Moslem superstitions and it wouldn't even cause a ripple. Dr. Henry Field, curator of physical anthropology at the Field Museum of Natural History, in a new book, "Folklore and Customs of Southwestern Asia," to be published next week, lists more than 1,500 taboos which make ordinary worries about broken mirrors and black cats look juvenile.

They include these beliefs: If you take a bath every Friday, you'll die. Dream of a giraffe, and you'll have financial reverses or an unfaithful wife. Carry two eyes plucked from a wolf and you'll have insomnia. Twist a bunch of keys, and you'll quarrel with some one. Sing in bed, and you'll weep the next day. Sit on a broom, and you'll become a social outcast. Jump over a child's head, and he'll become bald.

Probably the most useful, at least for young lovers, is this: If you dream of a person and awaken, you have only to reverse the pillow and that person will dream of you.

BRITISH FIGHTING ITALIANS IN 'AREA BELOW SEA LEVEL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12 (AP).—Italian and British troops in Egypt are battling under a desert sun, with water more precious than shells.

Officials of the National Geographic society today described the scene of the present Egyptian war as a giant depression about the size of Lake Ontario, one-half of which lies more than 160 feet below the level of the Mediterranean sea. At one point the land level is 440 feet below sea level.

It is known as the Qattara depression, lying between Italian Libya and the Nile delta, and is one of the most sparsely inhabited regions on earth. The population of the country is concentrated principally in a few coastal cities such as Alexandria, Buqbuq, Mersa, and Matruh, the latter being typical of many Egyptian "cities," with only a few hundred population.

Matruh is the western terminus of a railroad connecting with Alexandria, 200 miles to the east, the National Geographic society said. Little is known about the past of the city of Sidi Barrani, the officials declared, but the port of Matruh is on the site of Paraetonium, a town which once served as a connecting link between Roman ships and the traffic trail to Alexandria. The area near Matruh and extending to the Libyan border is a coastal plain with adequate rain and is extensively cultivated.

The Qattara lowland is a vast region of sand dunes, alkali flats, salt plains, and marshes.

QUART OF WHISKY PUTS ELEPHANT BACK IN THE PINK

Denver, Colo., Dec. 12 [Special].—A zoo elephant turned to whisky today for relief from subzero cold that spread over the Rocky mountains and great plains states in a sudden change of weather.

A toddy composed of one quart of whisky, half a gallon of water, and 12 mashed bananas was mixed for Shirley, 19 year old elephant who caught a cold at the Cheyenne mountain zoo near Colorado Springs. Shaking with chills, Shirley swallowed the drink in two gulps and immediately improved.

Temperatures tumbled as low as 24 below in North Dakota, while gently falling snow piled over Colorado, western Kansas and Nebraska, New Mexico, Utah, Wyoming, and the Dakotas. With lightning flashing, six inches of wet snow soaked into dry southwestern Utah range lands.

INVALID, 82, INJURED IN BLAZE.

Chester Pope, 82 years old, was taken to County hospital yesterday after he suffered severe burns in a fire that followed an oil stove explosion in his home at 2532 Congress street. Pope, an invalid, was rescued by firemen of the 6th battalion.

TRIBUNE HONORS HEROIC GUARD AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Wrist Watch Presented to Harry Walsh.

More than 400 members of The Chicago Tribune advertising department and their guests met in their annual banquet at the Drake hotel last night as a climax to the annual convention of this department.

Harry P. Walsh, chief of The Tribune guards, was the guest of honor. Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher, was the chief speaker. Chesser M. Campbell, advertising manager, was the toastmaster.

Walsh, who was wounded six times in a battle with pay roll bandits who attacked a Tribune truck on July 19 last, was given a wrist watch from The Tribune family for his heroism. At one of the tables were Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's staff and Capt. Thomas Harrison of the East Chicago avenue police station, who were in charge of the two main branches of the investigation which led to the arrest of the bandits on Dec. 1 last. The robbers took $9,179 from the truck after Walsh had been shot six times and had lost his trigger finger.

Tribune Unread in Gangland.

"It was a shock to me to find out that THE TRIBUNE was not read in gangland," said Col. McCormick. "If gangland had read THE TRIBUNE they would have known better than to shoot a Tribune man."

A $10,000 reward was offered by THE TRIBUNE for the capture of the bandits.

Tribune staff men, the state's attorney, and police took up the task of finding the bandits, all of whom are now in jail and awaiting trial. Walsh came back to work on Sept. 3 after many weeks in the hospital.

Col. McCormick said:

"You men of our organization, the most comprehensive in the world, including almost every trade, talent, and profession, men who have faced danger on land and sea and in the air, you, who have known peril and can measure courage, I ask you a question:

"Do you agree that when Harry Walsh fought against bandits firing on him from three sides, never ceasing, but fell pierced by six bullets and when wounded nigh unto death, still directed the pursuit of his assailants until he lost consciousness—that he demonstrated a faithfulness and courage that never has been and never can be exceeded? [Applause].

"Harry Walsh, The Tribune and the Tribune family will be honored if you will accept this token of appreciation, a wrist watch bearing the inscription 'Harry P. Walsh from the Chicago Tribune, for Heroism.'"

500 Years of Service.

Toastmaster Campbell directed attention to the fact that the men at the speakers' table represented 500 years of Tribune service, each man representing at least 25 years. The policy of promoting men from the ranks prevails thruout THE TRIBUNE, he said.

Col. McCormick recited some of the difficulties that THE TRIBUNE has had to face in its history.

"It has been said," he remarked, "that a newspaper is but the extended shadow of one man. That may be true of smaller papers, but THE TRIBUNE is the extended shadow of Tribune Tower and every man in it. The one man may be able to furnish the opportunity, but you have to accept that opportunity and you have done so. Difficulty is only another word for opportunity. You see here men who have met the difficulties of the last 30 years and turned them into opportunities.

Work of Paper Mills.

"You must not forget the paper mills and the men who have coöperated with you there in machinery, in chemistry, in electricity; in developing even such a by-product as yeast. You must not forget the man in the mills and back in the timber lands, developed by our own men, who now furnish a superior pulpwood. Our boats transport the paper thru dangerous rocks and shoals. One boat is now in the ice of the St. Lawrence. Two are in the Atlantic ocean and one steamer has gone down by a bomb."

Col. McCormick spoke particularly of his plans for W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting company for the coming year. This aim is toward a higher type of program and a finer public service.

ALLEGRETTI BROUGHT FROM WEST FOR TRIAL IN TRIBUNE HOLDUP

Peter Allegretti, 30 years old, under indictment for the holdup and shooting of Harry P. Walsh, chief guard of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, was identified last night as a participant not only in that crime but in another major one as well.

The prisoner was returned from California yesterday in custody of Detectives Ernest Sloey and Joseph Healy of the state's attorney's office. It is charged that Allegretti and three other men robbed Walsh and shot him six times last July 19 near The Tribune plant. The three others, Walter J. Smith, Tony Lullo, and Neal Rizzo, have confessed and are in custody.

Walsh and six witnesses singled Allegretti out of a line of seven men at a showup in the state's attorney's office. A few minutes later he was identified as one of the four men who held up the Hurley Machine company in Cicero last Aug. 2. Present at the showup were Capt. Dan Gilbert and Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the prosecutor's office, Capt. Thomas Harrison of the Chicago avenue station, and Assistant State's Attorney Emmett Moynihan. Moynihan said a robbery indictment will be sought against Allegretti for the Hurley robbery.

NUMBER OF U. S. EMPLOYES HITS ALL-TIME HIGH

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12 (AP).—Continued expansion of defense agencies, the civil service commission reported today, sent the number of federal employés to 1,086,171 at the end of October.

That was a net increase of 27,532 during the month and represented a new high in the records of executive branch employment which has been at unprecedented levels, successively higher, since the total first exceeded the 1,000,000 mark in June. The October pay roll was $166,485,603, an increase of $6,898,227 or 4.3 per cent over September, which had fewer working days.

The selective service system, appearing in the employment list for the first time, reported 21,205 workers. The largest employment gains were in the war department, 11,564, and navy, 9,147. These major reductions were reported: Agriculture, 5,698; commerce, 4,772; post office, 4,618, and interior, 3,260.

TEST FIREPROOF 'GLASS' WINGS FOR AIRPLANES

Alliance, O., Dec. 12.—An airplane with "glass" wings, so fire-resistant that a torch produces only a smudge on its fabric, was tested today to open a new field of construction in the light horse power categories.

Yet to be approved by the government, the material employed can be used, the manufacturer said, both on primary and basic military training planes as well as on the light machines in civilian pilot training.

The wings used for the experiment, produced by the Taylorcraft Aviation corporation, were covered with a woven glass fabric which took the place of "doped" cotton or linen fabric used since world war days.

Unlike ordinary fabrics, the glass cloth does not shrink or stretch from moisture and does not rot. It was described as being lighter by half and stronger than standard cotton cloth.

Hungarian General Loses 1st of 7 Duels with Nazis

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 12 (AP).—Gen. Marton Lipcsey, the Hungarian parliament's star fencer, lost the first of his seven duels today to Hungarian Nazi opponents who feel he insulted the honor of their ideology. Lipcsey suffered a cut running from ear to mouth in four hard rounds with Ludwig Grubar. He will wait until the wound heals before taking on his next opponent.

DRIVING GREEKS CAPTURE ITALIAN ALPINE TROOPS

"Advance on All Fronts," Foil Counterblows.

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 13, Friday (AP).—The Greek southern army has crushed "desperate" Italian resistance in the region of Tepeleni and has captured the strategic heights northeast of that town, capturing a considerable number of Italy's Alpine troops, a government spokesman said today.

The drive toward both Tepeleni and the coastal town of Chimara went on without setback, he added, and a drive toward Valona has been launched.

Unconfirmed reports said an Italian colonel of Alpine troops had fallen in the day's fighting.

Advance on All Fronts.

"The news," said the spokesman, "is very good from all sectors of the front and our army is continuing its advance. Everywhere the Italians attempted to counter attack they have failed.

"Thrusts against the Italian army continue in the direction of Chimara. More to the right the Italians offered strong resistance. They employed Alpine troops. Nevertheless, our army was able to occupy one after another of the heights which select units defended, and we captured a considerable number of them."

Counter Attacks Repulsed.

Two counter attacks launched by the Italians on the northern front were declared thrown back and the Italians were said to have lost even their original positions. The capture of a large number of prisoners and much war material was claimed.

To the northeast, the Greeks said their troops occupied important heights in the Premet sector. This column and the one nearer the coast apparently were coördinating drives aimed at the capture of Tepeleni, road junction about 75 miles air line south of Tirana, Albanian capital.

[The Italian high command reported its forces had repulsed sporadic Greek attacks and that Greek prisoners and arms had been captured.]

Tirana Airdrome Blasted.

Italian prisoners were quoted as saying the British and Greek air forces had forced the fascists to abandon the airdromes at Durazzo, main Italian port of debarkation, and Tirana.

A reconnaissance pilot also brought back a report that bombing had made Valona, secondary port of entry into Albania, virtually useless for large vessels.

'LASTING PEACE' PACT SIGNED BY HUNGARY AND JUGO-SLAVIA

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Dec. 12 (AP).—Jugo-Slavia and axis-aligned Hungary bound themselves today in a broad pact of "lasting peace and eternal friendship."

The accord, which provides that the two countries "consult on all questions which could concern their mutual interests," was signed after two days of negotiations between Foreign Minister Alexander Cincar-Markovich of Jugo-Slavia and Foreign Minister Count Stephan Csaky of Hungary.

A joint communique issued after the two officials put their signatures to the pact said the strengthening of Jugo-Slav-Hungarian relations would "serve the best interests of the two neighbor countries and also the well-being of the Danube basin."

Csaky said the pact "corresponds with the axis powers' idea of peaceful stabilization" of southeastern Europe.

FINED $80,000 FOR FAILING TO OFFER CASH TO BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Coll MacDougall, 71 years old, a retired sugar planter who accumulated a fortune in the United States, was fined 20,000 pounds [about $80,000] in Bow street court today for failing to offer 117,523 American dollars for sale to the treasury.

When the war began MacDougall registered his securities in America with the Bank of England and offered to sell the treasury his balances in the United States, amounting to $150,000. In June, however, the censorship intercepted a statement from a New York bank disclosing he had two other accounts in America.

MacDougall's lawyer said he had not intended to break the law and had "overlooked" both accounts, which were dormant. He pleaded MacDougall had been "almost embarrassed" by having too many bank accounts.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—An earth tremor which lasted nearly a minute violently shook several towns and villages in North Wales tonight. At Pwellheli residents ran into the streets thinking a heavy bombing attack was being made.

LOTHIAN DEATH BLOW TO ENGLAND IN TIME OF NEED

End Follows Urgent Plea for Greater Help.

partment. Secretary of State Cordell Hull called at the British embassy to express his regrets which he reiterated in a message to Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

"The death of Lord Lothian has brought me deep and profound sorrow," said Secretary Hull. "Not only has the British empire lost a great and faithful servant in him, but the United States has lost a real friend, a true interpreter to us of his country at a time when it was exceptionally important that both nations should have a knowledge and understanding of their mutual problems and interests."

Place Will Be Hard to Fill.

There was anxious speculation in official quarters as to the choice of Lord Lothian's successor. The importance of the post of ambassador to the United States is exceeded, from the standpoint of the welfare of Great Britain in her war with Germany, only by the position of prime minister, in the opinion of Washington officialdom.

Lord Lothian will be difficult to replace because of his popularity in the United States and his extraordinary success in persuading the American people that the British cause and their own are the same.

Lord Lothian exerted an incalculable influence upon the Roosevelt administration and was credited with a major share of the responsibility for each successive step this government has taken toward more and more assistance for Britain.

Sent to U. S. in 1939.

Lord Lothian was assigned to the United States by the Chamberlain government in 1939, a month before the outbreak of the war. He came without previous diplomatic experience, but had visited the United States on missions of various kinds.

The immediate reason for his choice as ambassador to the United States at such a critical time in the history of the empire was a series of articles on this country which he wrote for the London Sunday Observer. In these articles he exhibited a shrewd understanding of the American people and the ideals and arguments that appeal to them.

Lloyd George's Secretary.

Born in 1882 as Philip Henry Kerr, his appointment as ambassador to the United States climaxed a distinguished career as a journalist, scholar and government official. As Philip Kerr he was secretary to Prime Minister David Lloyd George during and after the world war.

Before coming to the United States as successor to Sir Ronald Lindsay he served as chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster and parliamentary undersecretary in the India office. He was the 11th Marquess of Lothian, the title of which dates from 1701. His other hereditary titles of aristocracy included Earl Lothian, Baron Jedburgh, earl of Ancrum, Baron Kerr of Nisbet, Baron Long-Newton, and Dolphingston, Viscount of Brien, Baron Kerr of Newbattle. He was unmarried.

Possible Envoys

Below are prominent Britons mentioned as possible successors to Lord Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, who died yesterday.

NAPOLEON'S SON TO BE REBURIED AT FATHER'S SIDE

VIENNA, Dec. 12 (AP).—The sarcophagus containing the bones of Napoleon's only son, the duke of Reichstadt who was known as Napoleon II., was removed from a crypt in the Capucine church today and carried to Paris at Adolf Hitler's orders, it was learned tonight.

With this gesture a long-cherished dream of many Frenchmen to have the remains taken to the French capital to rest alongside those of Napoleon was realized.

Since his death in Vienna in 1832 the body of Napoleon's son had rested in the "Hapsburg vault" beneath the Capucine church here, together with those of other members of the Hapsburg family.

Ickes Is Willing to Send U. S. Helium to England

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12 (AP).—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who in 1938 prevented Germany from obtaining helium from America, expressed willingness today for the noninflammable gas to be sent to England to inflate protective barrage balloons. He said, in reply to a press conference question, that congress could amend the law to permit such exports if they were to be used for defensive purposes. This, he said, could include inflation of balloons used in British cities to keep invading enemy airplanes too high for effective bombing.

PLAN AIR FLEET MORE POWERFUL THAN BATTLESHIP

90 Super-Bombers for Cost of One Vessel.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Army and navy aeronautical engineers, working with plane designers in private industry, have created a superbomber on paper which would dwarf anything now in the air.

At mass production it is estimated that 90 of the superplanes could be built for the cost of one 45,000 ton battleship, and this fleet would have a fire power 15 times greater than the battleship.

Employing the advantage of speed, the air fleet could deliver almost 60 times as much destruction as the battleship in a cruise of 1,000 miles. The super air armada would have further advantage over a battleship in its ability to strike at inland as well as sea or coastal targets.

Dwarfs Flying Fortresses.

The army's "flying fortresses" would be pygmies beside the projected bomber, and even the biggest plane ever built—the Douglas bomber nearing completion at Santa Monica, Cal.—which is capable of flying from New York to Europe and back to Los Angeles, would be small beside this giant of the air.

The Douglas army bomber nearing completion has a wing spread of 212 feet and is powered with four 2,000 horse power engines. The largest power plants in production now are of about 2,400 horse power in twin form of 18 to 24 cylinders, but the new plane will employ those of 2,000 horse power.

28,000 Horse Power Machine.

A new power plant under development, which would be installed in the superbombers if the designs are carried out, would develop between 6,000 and 7,000 horse power. Four such plants would be installed in the superbomber to give it an aggregate of about 28,000 horse power.

This plant would give the plane a minimum speed of about 90 miles an hour and a maximum speed of 300 miles an hour.

The plane would have a total useful load of about 175,000 pounds. This would permit the carrying of about 50 tons of bombs on flights of 3,000 miles.

Need 115,000 Pounds of Fuel.

Fuel for a 6,000 mile flight at half the maximum power would weigh about 115,000 pounds. The crew and fixtures and supplies would add about 8,000 pounds. Armament would add about 10,000 pounds.

The first of the superbombers might be built at a cost of about $9,000,000. At the earliest construction could not be completed within two years. In the first year after delivery of the first plane, 10 planes might be turned out and at the end of five years production might be speeded up to 100 planes a year.

During this period the cost of the planes, it is estimated, would drop to about $1,100,000 each.

These planes could carry a total weight of 9,000,000 pounds of bombs at a range of 2,500 miles—bombing distance of about 1,000 miles—or about 4,000,000 pounds of bombs at a range of 5,000 miles.

More than 50 per cent of the weight of bombs is explosive, so that the fleet of planes would have a greater destructive power than the battleship if it carried the full 100 rounds per gun for 12 16-inch guns.

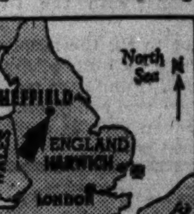
GERMAN RAIDERS BOMB SHEFFIELD; BIG STEEL CENTER

Fly in Waves from French and Belgian Bases.

BERLIN, Dec. 13, Friday (AP).—Large German bombing units singled out Sheffield, the great steel, industrial, and cutlery center in the east English Midlands, as the chief objective of their night attacks on Britain, informed sources reported early today. Sheffield is a city of 500,000 population.



Arrow locates steel center raided by Nazis. Cross locates point of attack on ships.

At dark, German planes began leaving bases in France and Belgium in uninterrupted succession for the assault, it was stated. Heavy bombs were dropped on steel mills and other industrial plants and several large fires were reported within a few hours after the raid started.

The raid was described as comparable with the fierce ones against Coventry, Birmingham, and London recently.

German bombers attacked a 3,000 ton steamer traveling near Harwich yesterday and left it in a sinking condition, DNB, the official news agency, said. Another freighter of 1,000 tons was reported badly damaged.

First Raids on Region.

LONDON, Dec. 13, Friday (AP).—German bombers, guided to their targets by incendiary bombs, inflicted damage and a number of casualties and started fires last night and early today in raids on east Midlands and northeastern industrial areas which hitherto had escaped bombings.

British fighter planes went up to challenge the waves of Nazi craft which poured across the east coast and spread out to raid scattered areas. Additional waves came over the southeast coast.

London, too, was under attack, the sirens sounding before 6:30 p. m., but there were no reports of bomb damage in the first four hours of the raid.

British flyers sprayed high explosive and incendiary bombs Wednesday night on Mannheim, important German inland port and chemical manufacturing center, the air ministry reported, and attacked French "invasion ports" and German airdromes.

Bombs were loosed on docks at Calais and Boulogne, French channel ports and the much smaller wharves at Etables, the air ministry said, adding that those ports were "badly knocked about" in the night.

The air ministry disclosed the first case of a victory scored by a British fighting plane newly equipped with cannon. The RAF pilot reported he shelled a [German] Messerschmitt 109 and saw it explode into bits "like a bursting antiaircraft shell."

"There was a quick flash—a cloud of black smoke—and bits were flying thru the air," he said. "The stuff was simply dripping out of the sky."

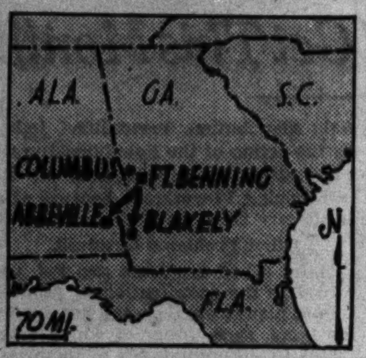
(Story in adjoining column.)



A full armored division of the United States army yesterday moved out of Fort Benning, Ga., in two columns and bivouacked at Blakely, Ga., and Abbeville, Ala.

20 MILLION EXTRA FOR NEW ILLINOIS POWER FACTORY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—The war department today increased by 20 million dollars the amount to be spent on a new explosives production plant at Wilmington, Ill., bringing the total construction cost of the plant to approximately 31 million dollars.

The department announced that its original construction contract with Stone & Webster Engineering corporation of New York, which amounted to $10,863,000, has been increased by approximately 20 millions.

They declined to reveal what the expected production capacity of the plant, which will manufacture TNT, DNT, and tetryl, will be, but the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company of Wilmington, Del., which will operate the plant, holds production contracts totaling $17,760,000.

In addition, the war department is building an ammunition loading plant at Wilmington, making that area a key munitions center. This plant will cost an estimated 14 million dollars.

U. S. ARMY PUTS 1ST FULL BLITZ DIVISION TO TEST

10,000 Troops Roar 90 Miles in 1,102 Vehicles.

Abbeville, Ala., Dec. 12 (AP).—The United States army put a full armored division into the field today. Ten thousand men moved out of Fort Benning after a leisurely breakfast, roared 90 miles in parallel columns by lunch time, and settled down in bivouac areas at Blakely, Ga., and Abbeville, Ala.

The troops, making up the second armored division, traveled in 1,102 vehicles, tanks, combat cars, trucks, motorcycles, and a few airplanes.

Commanded by Brig. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., the march set several records.

It was the first time a full armored division moved across country in the western hemisphere.

On the 90 mile run, only five tanks were stopped for repairs and four of these resumed the march before their organizations were settled in camp.

Record Tank Concentration.

The 400 tanks were the largest concentration of this type of combat vehicles ever undertaken in the United States.

Gen. Patton, obviously highly pleased by the performance of the division, asserted "there is nothing in the world equal to it."

He said the division was modeled somewhat along the lines of the German panzer divisions but "with improvements." The two American armored divisions are more powerful "than anything in Europe," he said, with equipment superior both in performance and fire power.

Scout cars and combat cars are sturdier, with a mechanical device for ditch and embankment climbing "that nobody in Europe has," the general added.

Aviation Aids Observation.

The division moved ready to fight in any direction, on the ground or in the air. Combining training with the trip, the division sent observation cars ahead, aided by aviation.

Radio kept the officers in constant communication with all units. One tank column alone stretched over eight miles of highway. Troops were alert for "enemy" on the flanks as well as ahead.

More officers and men than first announced, 10,520, made the trip which tomorrow will take them to Panama City, Fla. There were 5,250 in the Alabama column, the others in the Georgia route.

CUBA TO PROTEST BRITISH ACTIVITY IN NEUTRAL ZONE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Dec. 12.—The Cuban government next Monday will submit to the governments of the United States and Panama a report and a protest on the interception of the 5,033 ton German freighter Idarwald by the British cruiser Diomede off Cape Cruz, Cuba, last Sunday. The Idarwald was fired and scuttled by its crew.

Cuba will protest Great Britain's violation of the 300 mile Pan-American neutrality zone in accordance with the responsibilities assumed by Cuba and other nations in the Pan-American consultations held at Panama City and Lima, Peru. It is expected the United States and Panama will consult with other western hemisphere republics to determine what joint action should be taken to forestall repetition of this neutrality violation.

The Idarwald left Tampico, Mexico, on Nov. 29 with a cargo of crude oil, presumably for Spanish ports but it is believed here might have been on the way to supply some Nazi raider in the Atlantic.

BRITISH GETTING 82% OF AIRCRAFT MADE TO EXPORT

Proportion 3 Times That of Earlier in Year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—The British empire is now receiving more than 82 per cent of the military planes being manufactured for export in the United States.

The empire's proportion of exported military planes has been stepped up from 25 per cent in the first six months of 1940 to more than four out of every five of those shipped in July, August, and September.

In the first six months of the year the bulk of exported military planes was shipped to France. That country received 750 of the total of 1,532 exported, while the British empire received but 386.

Not a single plane has gone to France, of course, since the fall of that country in June. Great Britain has taken over the orders France had placed in this country at the time of her surrender.

Germans May Have Some.

The bulk of American planes sent to France probably are now in German hands. Others probably are in Africa and other French colonies. Many may have been shot down in the battle of France.

The fact that the Germans have had an opportunity to study the seized American models thoroly is one reason why the British are not using in battle the American planes they have thus far received. They are being used for training purposes. The British have complained that the American planes lack fire power.

It is assumed that the Germans have made a thoro study of the American planes and are in a position to fight these models more effectively than those they do not know so intimately. It is also possible that some of the American models built for France have been used in connection with bombing raids on England.

Detail on Plane Shipments.

A table showing the number of planes shipped to various countries in the first six months of 1940 and for the months of July, August, September, and October follows:

Complain of Fire Power.

The reason for the drop from 357 planes exported to the British empire in August to 208 in September, according to defense experts, was the British complaint that American planes lacked fire power. An upswing started in October and is reported to have gone forward in November when machine guns and other armament was added to the American planes.

In October and November the finest of the American planes were being built for Britain, while the American army and navy were receiving, for the most part, training planes. In November the "flying fortresses," reputed to be the world's best bombers, were released for export to Britain equipped with the famous Sperry bomb sight.

In some quarters here, it is felt that the British protests against the fighting ability of American air craft thus far received were part of a clever campaign to secure the heavy bombers, anxiously sought by Britain for the purpose of conducting retaliatory bombings over Berlin.

50 New Combat Planes Is All U. S. Army Will Get This Month

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12 [Special].—Despite the war department's awards of large airplane contracts in recent months, on a scale never before approached in peacetime, the army is expected to receive delivery on only about 50 new combat planes of the first line fighting type this month and a slightly larger total in January.

The army is receiving far larger numbers of training and auxiliary planes, and the navy also is receiving some shipments, but official figures prepared by the war department indicate that the United States does not now have, and will not have for a long time to come, any considerable striking power in the highly important air force.

Britain Cuts Into Total.

According to schedules, the army was to receive 95 first line fighting planes in the month of December, on the basis of contracts made before Sept. 1, and 132 next month. However, President Roosevelt recently established "a rule of thumb" by which half of the new production is released for export to Great Britain.

The 95 combat planes to be delivered in December, and divided with Great Britain, include 10 heavy bombers, 30 medium bombers, 27 light bombers, 21 interceptor pursuit planes, and seven one-engine pursuit planes, the classifications in first line fighting aircraft.

Deliveries in January, subject to the same expected division as between the American and British air forces, are scheduled to comprise 12 heavy bombers, 34 medium bombers, 51 light bombers, 22 interceptor planes, and 13 one-engine planes.

Look Ahead to 1942.

By 1942, it is expected, the delivery of combat planes, as well as deliveries in bulk of the training ships, will be greatly accelerated—but that is a year hence. Meantime, reports in authoritative circles indicate that all types of production may be frozen for some time at about 1,000 planes a month.

One of the commonest problems in a speed-up is the development of the machine tool industry to a point where it can deliver the dies and jigs necessary for the manufacture of parts. There also have been difficulties in the organization of materials distribution, exemplified today by the action of the Republic Aircraft corporation at Farmingdale, N. Y., in dropping 50 workmen because of a temporary shortage of materials.

Other Problems Unsolved.

Many other problems are yet unsolved in the coördination of production of planes, engines, and armament for them, each group of which originates in different types of factories.

Officials habitually decline to discuss these problems on the ground that they are military secrets, but some senators and representatives are expressing resentment at an attitude which they say stresses large figures of supplies and equipment "on order" without revealing the relatively slow rates of deliveries.

CRASH WIDOW AWARDED $5,000.

A jury in Judge John Prystalski's court yesterday awarded Mrs. Helen Hinchy McNamara, 3832 Arthington street, a $5,000 judgment against Paul R. Pallasch, 4505 South Sacramento avenue, as a result of her husband's death in an automobile accident.

3 MORE URUGUAY MINISTERS QUIT IN ROW ON BASES

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 12 (AP).—The rift between President Alfredo Baldomir and opponents of collaboration with the United States in construction of naval bases for hemispheric defense widened today with resignation of three more cabinet ministers.

The three ministers who quit in a body—Juan José Arteaga, public works; Gervasio Posadas Belgrano, industries, and Abalcazar Garcia, education—are members of the Nationalistic Herrerista party which has opposed the conversations with the United States.

They brought to six the number of cabinet ministers to quit within the last three weeks. Four have resigned in opposition to the policy on bases and the other two quit in a dispute over agricultural policy.

Experienced in the methods of those who seek to dominate the news, Chicago Tribune correspondents in Washington and thruout the world gather the facts from all sides and write their dispatches from the American viewpoint.

REVISE SCHEDULE TO DELAY CALLS FOR GUARD UNITS

Jan. 6 to April 1 Set for Mobilizing Remainder.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12 (AP).—The war department announced today that remaining units of the National Guard would be mobilized between Jan. 6 and April 1, under a revised, tentative schedule involving delays ranging from one week to nearly two months.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said the delays beyond a tentative schedule projected in October involved approximately 96,000 men. At his press conference Stimson said the delays were due to weather, labor difficulties, shortage of water, and other causes.

Stressing the fact that "we are building altogether 40 posts or camps" for the National Guard, the secretary declared that "in general, it seems to me to have been a very creditable performance."

Applies to 150 Units.

The revised schedule for mobilization applied to probably 150 or more units, scattered among the army's nine corps areas in the continental United States.

Secretary Stimson emphasized that the new induction dates were still tentative and were subject to possible additional delays, particularly on construction of camp facilities now scheduled for completion after Feb. 1.

In response to a question, Stimson said he could not say offhand whether the delay in mobilizing the guard would involve also a delay in inducting selective service draftees, a large proportion of whom are to be trained by guardsmen.

Tells Factors in Delay.

The war department explained that factors governing the final dates for National Guard mobilization would be adequacy of shelter and readiness of utilities and hospital facilities for the men.

After detailing specific instances of delay, Stimson said he had been informed by Isador Lubin of the defense commission that labor difficulties were responsible for only 1 per cent of the delays.

Of the 40 new National Guard camps and cantonments, Stimson said the construction of 15 had been accomplished on time. For 10 others, the delay was put at one week; for five, two weeks. One camp was reported three weeks late; two, four weeks, and four, five weeks. A two months' delay was reported to be in prospect for one camp, and a delay of two and one-half months for two others.

Under the new schedule the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, will be inducted Feb. 24, and train at Camp Peay, Tenn. Inductions in the 6th corps area are listed as:

103d coast artillery battalion, Kentucky, and 210th coast artillery, Michigan, both to Fort Sheridan, Ill., Feb. 24 [tentative]; 184th field artillery, formerly the 8th [colored] infantry, Illinois, to Fort Custer, Mich., Jan. 6, and 108th air corps observation squadron, Illinois, to Battle Creek, Mich., Feb. 3 [tentative].

Dog Lunges for a Quail, Breaks Neck on Stump

Piggott, Ark., Dec. 12 (AP).—Farmers Ralph Williams and Raymond Birchett were quail hunting when their dog made a point in tall grass near a stump. The hunters walked in to flush the game. The dog made a lunge, then sat down. When he continued to sit one grasped the dog's tail and pulled him out. The dog toppled over dead. Investigation showed the dog, in his lunge for the quail, had hit his head on the stump, breaking his neck.

Japs Report Planes Damage Bridge in Burma Road Raid

HONGKONG, Dec. 12 (AP).—Domei, Japanese news agency, reported Japanese warplanes severely damaged a bridge yesterday in a heavy raid on the Burma road, lifeline for war supplies to Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The agency said in another raid Japanese airmen destroyed 22 Chinese planes at Shiangyin airdrome, Yunnan province.

EVASION OF LOAN BAN IS OPPOSED BY MORGENTHAU

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau declared today that he will not be a party to any evasion of the Johnson act in making loans to Great Britain or any other country.

He declared he stood for strict observance of the act which bars loans to nations defaulting on their debts to this country from the old world war. Significantly, however, he declined to deny that the administration will ask repeal of the act and modification of the neutrality act which demands cash for war materials sold to belligerents.

To observers here the Morgenthau statement, coupled with a similar assertion yesterday by Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator, meant merely that the administration will try to give the British financial aid thru the front rather than the back door.

Move Started by Lothian.

The administration is now studying the British financial position as outlined by Sir Frederick Phillips, British undersecretary of the treasury. The late Lord Lothian, British ambassador, started the movement for financial assistance by declaring that his nation's resources were dwindling.

Morgenthau said at a press conference that he was "deeply shocked at the death of Lord Lothian, but that negotiations with Sir Frederick will not be delayed by the event.

When asked whether he will go to congress with a request for action on the Johnson and neutrality acts to permit loans or credits to Britain Morgenthau replied:

"I am not prepared to say what I will or won't do. However I must say again that no one has yet asked me for a loan."

Evasion Plan Spiked.

There have been reports that the administration might try lending money to Britain indirectly thru some country not subject to the Johnson and neutrality laws. But Jones spiked this yesterday when he said that loans must be made thru congressional action.

Meantime high government officials have discussed the British financial position as reported to them by Sir Frederick thru Morgenthau, paving the way for prompt consideration by the President upon his return to the capital.

In his statement on the Johnson act Morgenthau asserted that the spirit of the act is very clear. He said:

"Irrespective of any interpretation that any lawyer might give, in view of the spirit of the law I certainly would not be a party to a loan to Britain or any other country if it comes under the Johnson act, without being directed by congress."

Spanish Loan Denied.

Morgenthau also denied reports of an impending 100 million dollar loan to Spain on the purported condition that Spain remain neutral in the war. "As far as we are concerned we never heard about it and never expect to," Morgenthau said.

He also took occasion to criticize Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] and Robert A. Taft [R., O.] for their attacks on his using the 2 billion dollar exchange stabilization fund for financial assistance to China and Argentina which have been promised 50 million dollars each from the fund, supposedly to stabilize their currencies. The senators charged that Morgenthau had exceeded his authority.

"They, too, must make the newspapers," Morgenthau said of Vandenberg and Taft. He claimed he had been given a "vote of confidence" by the senate on the stabilization fund deals. Reminded that he had only appeared before the senate banking and currency committee, and Vandenberg had declared the committee is not the senate, Morgenthau retorted: "Arthur Vandenberg will always be Arthur Vandenberg" and that the same went for Taft.

STATE SLIGHTED IN DEFENSE JOBS; SEEK THE REASON

Aggressive Work Needed in Capital, Says Dewey.

Charles S. Dewey, newly elected congressman from the 9th district, asserted yesterday before leaving for Washington, D. C., that Chicagoland industry and business need more intelligent and industrious representation in the capital to obtain their rightful share of defense contracts.

"Large companies have representatives in Washington," said Dewey, "but officials of smaller concerns become confused when confronted by the situation there. They make one or two efforts in behalf of their companies, get discouraged and give up. My office will be a clearing house for information necessary to these Chicago businesses."

Tells of Machinery Transfer.

As an illustration, Congressman Dewey told of a manufacturer in his district who owned a piece of equipment valued at $16,000. The manufacturer had no present use for this equipment, Dewey said, but planned to use it in future business.

A second manufacturer needed the equipment, which could not be reproduced short of 14 months, for an immediate defense order but could not buy it because the owner feared the large government tax on such a sale. Dewey said he directed the men to the proper officials in Washington, explained the situation, and the machinery changed hands without a tax on the sale.

Chicago business leaders, who asked that their names be withheld, agreed with Congressman Dewey. They had been confronted earlier this week with figures which showed that Illinois had received only $134,000,000 in defense contracts, as compared with $488,000,000 which would have been awarded to the state if the contracts had been let on a basis of population. Defense contracts awarded between June 1 and Nov. 1, 1940, totaled $7,555,655,000, these figures showed.

Business Criticizes Congressmen.

Consensus of business comment was: "With the exception of Representative Ralph E. Church the Illinois congressmen and senators do not seem to understand what the defense program means or how to do anything about it. Because they do not understand the program they have an inferiority complex about discussing it with those who do understand it. It's about the same as the average man attempting to debate the Einstein theory with Einstein."

Congressman Adolph J. Sabath was characterized as the "worst of the bunch," by one business man, who said that Sabath "absolutely winces when the defense program is mentioned." Other comments were that United States Senator Scott W. Lucas "is not for the Chicago district, but for his home territory," and that Ex-Senator James M. Slattery "never did anything."

Two Representatives Speak.

Two Illinois congressmen were questioned yesterday about the failure of the state to obtain its share of the armament business.

Noah M. Mason, Republican of Oglesby, said: "I couldn't say why. Of course the Illinois delegation, you know, has been rather divided."

William H. Wheat, Republican of Rantoul, said: "Well, it seems to me that the administration is taking care of the east and west coasts first. I thought possibly we could get some plants in the interior but the administration seems to be getting away from that and building more and more on the east and west coasts. I don't know what we can do about it as they control the votes and have things pretty much their own way."

Some Chicagoans held to the political favoritism charge and expressed wonderment at the fact that the Nash-Kell machine was not strong enough to command a share of the business for Chicagoland. They pointed to the naval ordnance plant in Macon, Ga., and called attention to the fact that Representative Carl Vinson, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, lives in Macon. They also called attention to a second naval gun factory near Louisville, Ky., home state of the Presidential favorite, Senator Alben W. Barkley.

Labor Accord Favors City.

All Chicago observers were agreed that failure to obtain defense contracts is not the fault of labor. It was pointed out that Chicago was responsible for only .7 of 1 per cent of total man days lost thruout the country as a result of strikes during 1939. As a basis of comparison they showed that Chicago lost only 122,178 man days that year because of labor trouble as against 2,292,117 man days lost in Detroit during the same period. And in 1940 the Chicago record has improved over 1939.

Dr. Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said he believed Chicago was making progress in its drive for defense orders, but added:

"In one phase of the program Chicago may be paying the penalty for not having enough airports. We are now working with the Chicago plan commission and the Chicago regional planning board to provide more large airports in the Chicago district in order to be ready for anything that may develop in air defense."

Olander Lauds Union Behavior.

Victor A. Olander, secretary treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor, lauded the behavior of Illinois labor in the defense work obtained.

"I see no room why Chicago shouldn't have its proportionate share of the defense business," he added. "The location of the city makes it safe in case we have to defend ourselves in time of war. The question of the supply of labor is easily solved in this territory. I don't see how the government can afford not to make use of this territory and I am not persuaded that they will not do so. I do not like to point the finger of blame at this time, when the program is just getting started. I believe that all should join in pointing out the utility of this section."

Considers Defense Group.

Mayor Kelly held with others that Chicago is getting a large share of work in sublettings of contracts despite the shortage of large and colorful contracts which draw attention.

The mayor said he is now deciding upon the personnel of his proposed Chicago defense committee. This committee will analyze the metropolitan area's capacity to produce defense essentials and endeavor to persuade Washington officials to award more contracts to Chicagoland manufacturers.

"Altho I agree with Mayor Kelly that Chicago has received many defense contracts in the form of subcontracts from eastern firms, I also believe we should have more actual defense work," Ald. J. M. Arvey, [24th], said. "The city is well equipped to handle such contracts."

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th] said Chicago's ability to produce materials of all sorts has not been tapped by the government.

"We have steel mills and the general manufacturing plants that can handle any type of contract," he said. "It is plain to see that something has been wrong in the awarding of defense contracts because Virginia, which does not have the manufacturing facilities of Chicago and Illinois, has received more contracts. Our representatives in Washington should be more alert to procure contracts for Chicago."

KEMPER WARNS MINORITIES MAY PUSH US IN WAR

Calls Intervention Groups "Our Greatest Peril."

New York, Dec. 12 [Special].—James S. Kemper, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, today declared before the Merchants' Association of New York that American business can do no greater service for the country than to exert all its influence in opposing every measure that might involve the United States in the European war.

James S. Kemper.

"This, it seems to me," said the Chicagoan who also is president of the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company, "should be our major objective for the new year, and our daily thought and prayer."

Citing President Roosevelt's pledge in a campaign speech that "your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars," Kemper added that there can be no disagreement on the need to make the United States impregnable.

Minority Pressure Feared.

He warned, however, that the gravest peril facing the country is that minority groups may "induce the government to move so closely to the brink of war that events over which we have no control may force us into the struggle."

As examples of this trend he pointed to the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, extreme interventionist group headed by William Allen White, and the proposal by the Harvard university law faculty to embargo all exports to Japan. He added that he believes such efforts are being offset by the America First committee, which seeks to keep the United States out of war and build a strong national defense.

Emphasizes American Problems.

Kemper said he believes the United States should give "generous consideration to the difficulties in which England finds herself," but should remember its own problems.

"What would happen in the event of our unfortunate participation in the European war staggers the imagination," he said. "Economists are of the opinion that American participation would result in a federal debt alone of at least 125 billion dollars.

"We should keep constantly in mind that federal bankruptcy might force us into the type of government every true American abhors."

Explaining this danger, Kemper said that dictatorships are mainly receiverships. Loss of representative government in Europe came more from state bankruptcy requiring highly centralized control, he said, than from the ambition of individuals for power.

Should the United States enter the war, he warned, some "closely regulated socialistic system" would be fastened onto the country.

PRISONERS FREED BY JUDGE HUNTED AFTER JURY ACTS

U. S. Grand Jury Indicts 32 in Trial Row Sequel.

also alleged alcohol tax law violators, were the next ones called. A few moments later they had been released and had joined Warfield in the courthouse corridor. Then they went to an elevator and disappeared.

An attempted coup by federal prosecutors was foiled by the court. This coup consisted of the sudden appearance of the grand jury at the hearing with a bundle of new indictments. They were accompanied by an attaché of the district attorney's office.

"Take the grand jury back to its quarters," Judge Woodward snapped.

After a moment of uncertainty, a prosecutor asked:

"Do you want the grand jury taken outside?"

"That's what I said, isn't it," Judge Woodward rejoined.

At the conclusion of the hearing the grand jury was recalled to the courtroom and made its report.

The court had ordered the mass hearing of unindicted federal prisoners Wednesday when he became aroused over the government's failure to be ready for trial in an auto theft case which had been pending since September. The defendant, who had been in jail all that time, was freed when the judge found him not guilty at a bench hearing.

DOCTOR ORDERED HELD TO JURY IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Dr. William E. Shelton, 61 years old, a physician with offices at 59 East Madison street, was ordered held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Miss Bridget Stack, 25, of 933 Reese street, Whiting, Ind.

Miss Stack died in South Town hospital Nov. 19, several hours after she had visited the office of Dr. Shelton. Witnesses testified that Miss Stack went to the office to have an illegal operation performed. Her death was caused by an antiseptic poison, the coroner's chemist reported.

Dr. Shelton testified that he examined the woman, but did not use enough of the antiseptic to cause death.

AFFIRM SLAYING CONVICTION.

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday affirmed the conviction of John W. Lewis, a former taxicab driver, for the slaying of Carl E. Hill. Lewis is under sentence of 1 to 14 years for manslaughter. On May 19, 1938, Lewis stabbed Hill to death, presumably because of Hill's attentions to Lewis' estranged wife, Rosella.

DIXMOOR SPEED TRAP SENTENCES AFFIRMED BY SUPREME COURT

The conviction of Charles Special, president of the village of Dixmoor, for operating a speed trap, was affirmed yesterday by the Illinois Supreme court. He is under a sentence of one year in jail, plus a $2,000 fine.

The convictions of four others in the same case also were affirmed. They are Charles A. Braun, former police magistrate, sentenced to one year and $2,000 fine, and Tony Bader, Robert Grecco, and Charles Paduano, former policemen, one year in jail and $500 fine each.

The five men were convicted by a jury before Judge William J. Lindsay in November, 1938. Charges presented by Assistant State's Attorneys Richard Austin and Alex Napoli were that Special and the other maintained speed traps in Dixmoor, exaggerated speeds of arrested motorists, and held trucks in lieu of fines. The charge against them was conspiracy to defraud motorists by false arrests. Dixmoor is a suburb on the Dixie highway, six miles south of Chicago.

FREED OF LIQUOR CHARGE.

Judge Michael Tremko yesterday dismissed a charge of selling liquor to minors against Mike Pritagan, clerk in a store at 4258 South Park way.

SHERIFF TERMS BOOKIE ADDRESS LISTS 'A PHONY'

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien said last night that in his opinion the addresses of handbook operators set forth in the 1,380 summonses given to his office to serve by Attorney General Cassidy were phony. He said his deputies have spent four days of futile hunting for the bookies.

Edwin T. Breen, first assistant attorney general, said he did not agree with the sheriff. He added that, altho there may be a few incorrect addresses, he was positive the majority are accurate. He offered to investigate those found to be incorrect.

The summonses had been placed with the sheriff for service under a temporary injunction issued last week in Circuit court at East St. Louis. This order forbids further operation of handbooks in Illinois. Earlier in the day Cassidy left for Washington to discuss his campaign with the department of justice.

STELLE PLEDGES HIGHWAY GRANTS WON'T BE LARGE

It's His Answer to Talk of Big Spending.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 12.—Stung by implications that during his 100 day interim of administration Illinois state money is being extravagantly thrown around, Gov. John Stelle declared today that there will be no "promiscuous granting" nor "outlandish spending" of highway funds while he heads the government.

John Howe.

The outgoing Democratic governor produced records of road grants made in the last three months of the administrations of former Governors Len Small and Louis L. Emmerson which averaged almost eight millions. His own total will be about half that, Stelle said.

Releases a Statement.

"I hope," the governor said in a release accompanying the figures, "that the same publicity will be given to this statement of fact as has been given to the misstatements regarding state expenditures. The people of the state are entitled to know the facts."

This was Stelle's first acknowledgment of the flow of talk swirling about the state house that his administration of the last 100 days of the late Gov. Henry Horner's second term will be unduly expensive for the taxpayers. It was the first comparison of spending to come from the governor's office, and nothing has been released to show how much more costly, if any, Stelle's way of running things will be in contrast with Horner's.

Meanwhile an echo of the scandals which emanated from the state house while the late governor was incapacitated came from the Illinois Supreme court. The court affirmed the robbery conviction and prison sentence imposed upon John Howe, former state highway policeman, who must now serve from one year to life in the penitentiary.

Effect on Primary.

Howe's case rocked the state before the April primary, when it was revealed that he had been indicted for robbery with a gun 10 years ago, but escaped from the Kankakee state hospital, to which he had been committed for insanity, and four years ago was made a member of the state force.

The late F. Lynden Smith, former director of public works, whose mysterious death in a Springfield hospital was called suicide by a coroner's jury, took full responsibility for hiring Howe. He hired him and kept him on the force, Smith admitted, in spite of a report from the Federal Bureau of Investigation that Howe had been arrested in Chicago on a charge of robbery with a gun.

Trouble Over Bribe.

After his escape from Kankakee, Howe became a hotel detective in Chicago prior to wearing a star and carrying a gun in the highway force. His current troubles began when he was accused of attempting to bribe a juror in a vote fraud trial in Chicago last January, after which his record was revealed.

Gov. Stelle was literally on a wild goose chase today, having left the capital yesterday on a hunting trip near Cairo after revealing to the budgetary cimmission that the incoming Republican administration of Governor Elect Dwight H. Green will have to wrestle with a $30,000,000 deficit in relief and old age assistance funds when it takes over in January.

The governor's release on highway expenditures embraced October, November, and December records for the last 14 years. They show that contracts and day labor awards for October were $1,827,993; for November, $1,115,202, and for December, an estimated $1,000,000, a total of $3,943,195.

Records of Predecessors.

The late Len Small spent $7,182,230 in the last three months of his administration in 1928 and final awards under former Gov. Emmerson reached $8,709,793.

"Much has been said," Stelle's release read, "about tremendous spending and the award of large contracts since I have been governor. I have had the highway division make a thoro check of its records to determine the truth of the reports.

"The figures show that this year the award of highway contracts has been much smaller than in many previous years. The high point of the last 14 years was reached in the final quarter year of the Emmerson administration when the total of contracts awarded was $8,709,793.

"My policy has been to hear the pleas of all citizens who come here to urge that improvements be made in their counties. The figures show that there has been no promiscuous granting of those requests and no outlandish spending of the state's highway funds this year."

ALL IMPERSONAL, MRS. JOSLYN'S ATTORNEY SAYS

Testifies He Acted Only as Legal Advisor.

Thomas H. Fisher.

Attorney Thomas Hart Fisher declared emphatically yesterday that relations between him and Mrs. Charlotte Joslyn were strictly impersonal, purely those of an attorney to his client, and absolutely nonfriendship forming.

Fisher testified at a hearing before Master in Chancery John J. Kelly on his petition for $24,000 fees for legal services rendered in Mrs. Joslyn's divorce action against George R. Joslyn, son of a wealthy manufacturer of electrical supplies.

When Attorney Alvin Hubbard, Joslyn's representative, who had injected the misconduct and immorality issue into the affair, asked him about various visits to the Joslyn home in Lake Bluff, Fisher bristled and replied:

"If you're trying to imply that my relationship with Mrs. Joslyn was anything other than that between a lawyer and client, you're wrong. I never at any time formed a friendship for her. I never at any time have ever considered her anything more than a client."

Never Her Boy Friend.

"Did she ever call you her boy friend?" asked Hubbard, casting a quick glance at Mrs. Joslyn, who, dressed attractively in a black outfit, sat quietly in the corner of a sofa.

"Absolutely not," replied Fisher. "At least never in my presence."

Then Hubbard demanded to know how much time Fisher had spent in the Joslyn home on one particular visit in January, 1938, when he had first assumed his duties as Mrs. Joslyn's attorney.

"How long did you stay that day, exactly where did you go, and—" again with a glance at Mrs. Joslyn—"did you inspect Mrs. Joslyn's bedroom; did you go into it?"

"I did not," Fisher shot back. "I came to talk about the marital problem Mrs. Joslyn had. I went into a playroom where three of the Joslyn children were. Later the fourth was brought in. They were very attractive children, I told Mrs. Joslyn then."

Q.—How long were you there at that time? A.—From 7 in the evening until 10.

Q.—You talked about the divorce all that time. A.—Yes.

Asked About Other Meetings.

Hubbard asked about other meetings with Mrs. Joslyn—in the dining room of the La Salle hotel, in the Palmer House, and in Fisher's office. In each case Fisher reiterated that these meetings were to discuss the pending litigation and for nothing else.

"What did she call you—Tom, or Mr. Fisher, or what?" asked Hubbard.

"It was always Mr. Fisher until a few weeks after the divorce decree was entered," was the reply. "She asked me if she might call me Tom and I said yes."

"What did you call her?"

"Well, I always referred to them both as George and Charlotte."

Earlier, Fisher testified he had informed Joslyn when the first conferences were held early in 1938 that his fee would be $15 an hour and that if the divorce went thru Joslyn would have to pay.

MOTOR FAILURE DISCOUNTED AT CRASH INQUIRY

Testimony tending to show that motor failure was not a factor in the air liner crash at the edge of Chicago airport on Dec. 4, but that an accumulation of ice on the aircraft—a Douglas DC-3 21 passenger machine—had an important bearing on the case, was given yesterday by witnesses who appeared at the new postoffice building inquiry rooms. The accident brought death to 10 of 16 persons aboard the airplane.

At least five persons who saw the air liner stall in its glide and plunge its 12 tons to the ground less than 600 feet from the airport's northwest runway, related that they heard the sound of the engines roaring at full power. One of them, John Farrell, a Transcontinental and Western Air mechanic, said he heard the motors opened up and declared: "It sounded to me like both motors took."

Hears Pilot Gun Motors.

Mrs. Josephine Davis, wife of an American Airlines mechanic, related how the big plane—United Air Lines' Trip No. 21—sailed low over her home at 4720 West 64th place a few seconds before it struck the ground. She said the plane was lower than most that pass over the house which is in line with the runway, and the motors were idling as it sailed by, flashing its landing lights into her parlor.

"Just as it passed the pilot gunned the motors," she said. "There was no backfire or spitting, I would have heard it if there was. The motors made as much noise as they do ordinarily at takeoff—more than when the airplanes usually come over with motors giving some power but not all of it."

Testimony on icing conditions was supplied by Capt. Edward M. Carson, first pilot for American Airlines, who landed at Chicago at 6:07 p. m.—19 minutes after the United plane had crashed. Carson, like Capt. Phil Scott, pilot of United's ill-fated plane, arrived here from the east, flying on top of the overcast.

Plane Lands With Bump.

"I began picking up ice at 5,000 feet and continued all the way down until I broke out at 700. I'd been advised of the crash. I landed on the west runway."

Carson said the air speed of his plane had been maintained at from 120 to 125 miles an hour until he was almost on the ground. He said that when still two or three feet off the runway "the plane fell out from under me." This he explained meant that the plane ceased flying and landed with a bump. This he attributed to the ice on the wings.

"The plane acts much differently when it is coated with ice," he declared in answering an inquiry as to his experience in flying a DC-3 that was "iced up."

"The controls get sloppy. The plane loses stability. You can't tell just what it will do—depending on the amount of ice accumulated. The more you pick up the more unstable it becomes."

Explaining that kinds and amounts of ice vary greatly from a kind of frost to a clear thick glaze that is dangerous. It was the clear ice that he encountered the night of the crash, he said.

No Warning of Stall.

Asked if there was any difference in the stall warning on an airplane that was iced and a ship under normal conditions, Carson said:

"Without ice, just before the stall, the ship begins to shake violently. If you're asking me what happened when I landed that night—there was no warning. I've never deliberately stalled a plane that was badly iced up."

Capt. Carson explained that he had maintained "36 inches of manifold pressure" [indicating he was using a large proportion of the available power from his engines] to keep his air speed at 120 to 125 miles an hour after sighting the ground until he was almost over the edge of Chicago airport. Normally, he said, it is necessary to use only 24 inches of manifold pressure to keep the same speed.

He said he had used three-fourths of the 4,800 foot east west runway in landing, indicating that he came in much faster than the normal 90 to 100 miles an hour speed of a Douglas DC-3 in its glide.

Supports Theory of Crash.

This testimony supported the theory of some investigators that Capt. Scott's plane stalled in its glide because its approach speed fell below 100 miles an hour. Normally the stalling speed of a DC-3 is 65 miles an hour and under normal conditions these air liners are glided at 100. It is believed that the ice accumulation on the airplane's wings had raised its stalling speed by 30 to 35 miles an hour and the crash came when it slowed down to this speed.

Conversation between Airways Traffic control offices at Chicago and Scott's plane was read into the record upon the direction of G. Grant Mason Jr., member of the Civil Aeronautics board who is conducting the inquiry. This conversation related to directions given Scott for his turn to approach.

In these conversations the ATC operator warned Scott specifically that a plane that had preceded him to the ground only a few minutes earlier had picked up an inch and a half of ice while letting down thru the overcast between 3,000 and 4,000 foot levels. The ATC man had suggested that Scott hold 6,000 feet where he would be clear of the clouds until he was No. 1 plane to land.

20 Per Cent of Fatal Falls Blamed on Intoxication

New York, Dec. 12 (AP).—Intoxication causes one-fifth of the fatal falls in the United States, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company reported today. "This may come as a distinct shock to those who hold the view that in some mysterious manner, intoxicated persons are able to protect themselves from falls," they commented. Falls of all kinds on streets and sidewalks, the report said, cause 1,800 deaths annually.

THE WAR SHOUTERS.

Senator Holt's list of the 200 persons who financed the first large advertising effort by the William Allen White Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies divides into at least two classes.

One group included a considerable number of story tellers, playwrights, actors, movie executives, and song writers. They are emotional people, and for much the most part owe their material success to that circumstance. They have no special competence or experience in the field of politics. They are entertainers by temperament and profession. To them war may be put on and taken off with grease paint. It is not astonishing that such persons would rush into a movement whose ostensible purpose was to rescue the heroine, democracy, and crush the villain, Hitler. No one would expect them to look behind the appearances or to reckon the cost in blood, and money, and economic and social disorganization.

Those in the other group, it may safely be assumed, were animated by different motives. In this group were some of the Morgan partners and their relatives and other bankers and persons of large means. They also have intimate social ties overseas and have been ennobled by sisters and daughters married into the peerage. It is the dearest ambition of many of them to have still closer ties in private life and in business. The Morgans represented the British government as purchasing agents in the last war and their relations with the British government have always remained close.

People so placed cannot be expected to think of America first. They are colonially-minded. In the situation which now confronts us they are less concerned for the welfare of their own country and their own countrymen than they are for the greater glory of their spiritual home overseas. They resist any suggestion that the costs of intervention in the war be reckoned, because in their thinking the costs cannot be too high. They think it is both America's duty and America's fate to adjust the old world balance and to keep it adjusted in accordance with their preconceptions. Against such a conviction, no balance sheet of our national gains and losses from intervention is worth drawing.

It is these people who, by means of the White committee and other devices, are steadily pushing our country toward war.

LORD LOTHIAN.

In the death of Lord Lothian the British people have lost a most capable and devoted public servant. He will be mourned as well by Americans, both those who had occasion to feel his charm thru personal contact and those whose respect he won by his public acts as British ambassador to this nation.

Lord Lothian was in a real sense an ambassador to the people as well as the government of the United States. He pleaded the British cause with a frankness which was the essence of discretion, because he never departed from his true rôle of a spokesman for his own people. In consequence he was respected and admired even by those who do not agree that it is to the interest of the United States to take all the measures he urged upon us.

Lord Lothian's strength—a strength common to British diplomacy—was that he never ceased for a moment to be a British subject whose sole object was to advance the cause of his country by every legitimate means. It is the sorrow of the United States that in the conduct of its foreign relations during the present world crisis it has not always had the services of ambassadors with the same single minded devotion to their own country.

WOODEN SHIPS IN 1940 BATTLE LINES.

The United States navy is going to use part of a $300,000,000 modernization appropriation to strip every possible bit of wood from its fighting ships.

It may seem strange to civilians that steel warships should carry enough wood in their structure for it to be of consequence. Yet the elder generation will remember that those Spanish ships at Santiago and Manila which were not destroyed by magazine explosions went up in flames. The Russians lost some of their vessels by fire in the war with Japan. Flames did considerable damage to the ships engaged at Jutland. Photographs of the ships destroyed by the British in their recent preventive attacks on the French navy show the doomed French vessels hidden by billows of smoke even before their magazines or fuel oil took fire.

Thus, altho wood fittings present the double hazard of fire and of widespread injury to personnel, it can be seen that the United States navy has not been uniquely stubborn in retaining wood after suitable fireproof and splinterproof materials have been developed and extensively used on land. The practice is general in the world's navies.

For this two reasons may be hazarded. One is that warships, after all, spend a few brief hours in combat during their life span of 20 to 40 years. The admiral who has the final word on construction may be willing to hazard a half hour's danger from splinters or fire for years of enjoyment of wood panels or a shining hardwood floor in his cabin.

A second probable reason is that elderly naval officers are the most innately conservative people on earth. They put wood in ships for the reason that there always has been wood in ships. Old Admiral Porter, who so detested the dirt and smell of steam engines aboard a clean ship that he formally threatened to deduct the cost of the coal from the salary of any captain who used steam when he could have used sail, wasn't an eccentric. He was typical.

At any rate, it is encouraging to see the navy recognize at last that a fighting ship, barring the unavoidable risk from its magazines and fuel bunkers, can be made fireproof.

"SLACKER CAPITAL."

The secretary of the treasury hurled an epithet at people who have money at one of his press conferences the other day. The epithet was "slacker capital." The term implies to the ordinary man that the government has need for funds, and that some people are dodging service. Actually that is not true, and no one knows it better than Mr. Morgenthau. Because of the discouragement to the investment of capital in private enterprise, larger amounts of money than ever before are kept on deposit in the banks and the banks, finding no other demand for the money, use their depositors' funds to buy government bonds and notes.

The secretary of the treasury is constantly calling for more money, and the response of the volunteers is so great that the treasury yesterday was able to get 500 million dollars for a 5 year enlistment at ¾ of 1 per cent. There is no sense in talking about "slacker capital" when it volunteers so freely.

Mr. Morgenthau said that it wasn't fair to ask men to serve in the army for $30 per month while persons of means could go down to Florida and spend the interest on their slacker money. Well, let's see about that. The successful business man who had accumulated as much as $100,000 in cash could have invested his money in Mr. Morgenthau's bonds and many no doubt did. The annual income on the $100,000 at ¾ of 1 per cent is $750, and that is no more than the pay of a buck private if you consider that he gets food and lodging besides a dollar a day in cash.

But Mr. Morgenthau used the term "slacker capital" not to mean what it connoted to the ordinary man but in a specialized sense. He was talking about tax exempt bonds. If the secretary of the treasury wants to make all of his future bond and note issues subject to the income tax, no one will object seriously. That would increase the revenue of the government, but it would also increase the cost of borrowing. Many will recall that the Victory loan bonds were put out at 4¾ per cent, subject to the income tax, and at 3¾ per cent exempt from it. If the secretary of the treasury issued only taxable loans maybe the increase in cost would be covered by the increased revenue and maybe it wouldn't.

An entirely different matter is his proposal to tax all future issues of municipal and state governments. If these are made taxable, the cities and states will have to pay more for their borrowed money and they are the ones who will holler about that, not the municipal bond customers whom the secretary of the treasury condemns. There is no off-set in the form of more taxes for the states and cities if their coupon rate goes up.

As a matter of fact, the national administration has been trying to get away with taxing municipal and state bonds and notes for nearly two years. In January, 1939, the President sent a message to congress asking that tax immunity on these securities be terminated. But congress hasn't acted. Nor is it likely to do so. The mayors and governors have a powerful lobby and they have some interesting history and the constitution on their side. When the sixteenth amendment was submitted to the states, several refused to ratify it on the ground that it might be taken as authority to tax municipal and state securities. To obtain ratification of the amendment its advocates obtained opinions from the ablest lawyers and constitutional authorities that the government could not, by it, be construed to have acquired authority to tax state and city bonds. This is how the ratification was obtained. There has been a long line of decisions of the Supreme court supporting the interpretation. If the administration wants to tax the municipals it seems that it will have to do it by another constitutional amendment.

BUS FARES AND SERVICE.

A complaint alleging that the bus company is making too much money has been filed with the Illinois Commerce commission. The hearing has been postponed until Jan. 14. By that time Gov. Green will have been inaugurated and new commerce commissioners may have been appointed to decide the case.

Harry R. Booth, chief counsel for the commission, says that the company's profits are about double what they should be. He favors a reduction in earnings of $500,000 a year, to be accomplished thru lowering the fare. The suggestion has been made that instead of charging 10 cents for a ride the company give three rides for a quarter.

If the commission does find that the company's earnings have been excessive, it is to be hoped that an alternative remedy will be given consideration. The service which the company is giving now, particularly at the rush hours but also some other times of the day, is not worth 8⅓ cents and is not likely to be improved if the fare is cut to that figure. Unless we are greatly mistaken, the majority of the customers would rather pay a dime for decent service than a few pennies less for overcrowding and discomfort.

The company makes its profits by packing 'em in. The new commerce commission will earn the gratitude of many thousands of Chicagoans if it forces the company to put an end to this abuse.

GETTING SMART AT LONG LAST.

[Des Moines Register.]

Now that there isn't any Czecho-Slovakia any more nor any Poland, the "governments in exile" of these two nations have decided to have:

A customs union, a monetary union, a common foreign policy, and a unified army command.

'S funny, isn't it, how we begin to get sense after it's too late?

But at any rate this gives hope that thinking Europeans are aware of their past mistakes.

Maybe some day they'll get a chance to put their newfound common sense into practice.

PUNCHING THE TIME CLOCK.

Will the government kindly send a high salaried expert to dog our heels and discover how many hours a week we work? For example, during the last three hours we have been glancing at newspapers, dipping into magazines, pawing the air and tearing our hair in search of an idea. Is that work? If not, it's something worse; and the federal regimenters should take it into account.

One of the things we wondered about in this period of vacuity is what happened to the story of Trotzky's assassination. It dropped out of the newspapers within three days, and there have been no reverberations, revelations of the lowdown, exposures of OGPU plots, biographies of the murderer, or any of the printed aftermath that we expected. Perhaps Trotzky's news value had ended before he perished, but nevertheless he made a large dent in modern history. Before he is forgotten, let it be recorded that his real name was Lev Davidovich Bronstein.

Here is a fact to stagger the prohibitionists, who are still alive and kicking: Beer was an important factor in the Pilgrims' decision to land at Plymouth Rock. You can read about it in the journal of the Mayflower's voyage, thus:

"We could not now take time for further search or consideration, our victuals being spent, especially our beer."

But for this lack of supplies, "especially beer," they would have coasted down to the milder shores of Virginia. And beer was important to them because it was useful in preventing the dreaded long voyage disease, scurvy.

The Pilgrims' beer was really ale. The beer of festive American tradition is lager beer, which did not become naturalized until 1840. Why "lager"? Because after fermentation it is "lagered," or stored, for a certain period to permit clearing of the fluid by sedimentation.

VIOLATED SANCTUARY.

("Desecheo Island, a bird sanctuary, has been turned over by the Puerto Rico government to the United States army for a heavy gunnery target."—News item.)

Fly, fly, my feathery ones!
This land is yours no more;
Even this barren island crumb
Is part of the field of war.

Instead of your heart's impassioned song
That delighted God alone,
Is heard the bark of a sullen gun
And the death-bird's heavy drone.

Fly, fly, my feathery ones!
Wing thru a hostile sky,
For it's in the scheme of modern war
That even birds must die.

Unsung Sports Heroes of 1940.

Soon we'll be deluged with reviews of 1940's stellar exploits in the world of sports. But there's an occasional feat of truly epic proportions which, somehow, escaped the headlines. For example, the citation for 1940's Unsung Sports Hero No. 1—Otis Bleek, golfer.

Playing his home links, Old Raspberrydale, on Aug. 16 Bleek came up to the 18th [296 yards, par 4] needing only a snappy 7 to set a new Bleekian course record of 125. A booming 85 yard drive, three screaming brassie shots, an approach, and a runup putt left Bleek with a mere 18 inch tap into the cup for his coveted 7.

At this crucial juncture, Bleek did not [1] concede the putt; [2] pick up his ball, ostensibly for cleaning, and replace same a foot nearer the hole; [3] ask his partner to please quit shifting his damn shadow around; [4] brush away approximately a cubic yard of imaginary leaves, twigs, and worm casts; or [5] yell to his caddy to for Gossakes quit rattling them clubs around or was a man expected to play golf in a boiler factory.

No; without a moment's spiritual preparation, Bleek putted three inches wide of the cup, pocketed his ball, and remarked, "Well, sure was a great day to get some exercise."

A Secret Weapon of 1662.

Samuel Pepys, who worked for the British navy as well as for future columnists, wrote in his diary under the date, March 14, 1662:

"Home to dinner. In the afternoon came the German, Dr. Knuffler, to discourse with us about his engine to blow up ships. We doubted not the matter of fact, it being tried in Cromwell's time, but the safety of carrying them in ships; but he do tell us, that when he comes to tell the king his secret, for none but the kings, successively, and their heirs must know it, it will appear to be of no danger at all. We concluded nothing; but shall discourse with the duke of York tomorrow about it." C. L. K.

A Hint to Playbill Collectors.

A rare item in Chicago playbills would be one naming in the cast John Wilkes Booth, who assassinated President Lincoln. With its date as trail finder, one could turn to the files of THE TRIBUNE and possibly pick up a good description of the assassin as actor.

During the last three years seven books dealing with the subject have been published. They are: "This One Mad Act," "Why Was Lincoln Murdered?," "The Unlocked Book," "The Mad Booths," "In the Shadow of Lincoln's Death," and "The Great American Myth."

So James Lane Allen wrote "Col. Carter of Cartersville," did he? [Dec. 11, "A Duck Dinner for Two."]

THE SENSITIVE COLON AND ALLERGY.

Most of us are familiar with the ordinary manifestations of allergy — hives, eczema, hay fever, and asthma. But there are other reactions that are not quite so well known.

The intestinal tract, for example, may be affected by an offending food, resulting in such marked abdominal distress that an operation for appendicitis may be performed. When in doubt it is far safer to proceed with surgery than to risk loss of life thru neglect. But the job of the physician is to be accurate, to become so expert in identifying symptoms that errors will not be made.

The question may well be asked—have special types of discomfort been recognized as "digestive allergy"? Some authorities believe that many cases of "irritable colon" may be ascribed to this source. The pain will vary from a dull ache, which is observed intermittently, to severe cramps and loose stools. The first sign is swelling of the lining of the colon. Then comes redness, which is similar to a skin rash. Later follow slight hemorrhages into the bowel wall and, finally, ulceration.

The suggestion has been offered also that in victims of mucous colitis—in addition to the search for emotional causes—a check should be made for the presence of food or drug susceptibility. If there is a family history of asthma, hay fever, or eczema, that very fact is reason enough to make a careful study. While periodic bouts with diarrhea may be traced to too little hydrochloric acid in the gastric juice, the disorder ofttimes is due to what is eaten. Many of us have friends who cannot drink milk without experiencing cramplike pains and frequent stools.

If sensitivity is suspected, the elimination diet should be tried in an attempt to determine the exciting factor. The intake for 24 hours may be limited to milk, eggs, wheat, potatoes, and oranges. These are the usual culprits and if the disturbance is of allergic origin, the response will be prompt—perhaps severe.

It may be well to continue the program for two or three days to make sure that nothing is going to happen. If symptoms appear, the schedule should be changed at once and the meals restricted to boiled rice, rye bread, gelatin, a green vegetable, and cooked fruit. Improvement should then come within 48 hours after this latter plan has been instituted.

Fortunately, most of us can rid ourselves of food allergies if we will be patient. A very small bit of the guilty article may be taken at first. If no distress ensues, tomorrow's portion may be doubled. This procedure of gradually increasing the "toxic" edible will in time allow the body to make adjustments. Months later perhaps, a normal ration may be imbibed without the slightest symptom.

In the meantime, body strength is maintained thru the use of edibles that are not annoying. If milk is responsible it must be avoided scrupulously in all dishes and one drop only be used in 24 hours. This dose may be increased by an equal amount daily until a teaspoonful is well digested—let us say by the end of three or four weeks. Sometimes the quantity may be augmented more rapidly, but if a setback occurs we will need to start all over again. This is the process by means of which we outgrow some of our idiosyncrasies.

Yes! Allergy may exhibit itself almost wholly along the alimentary tube. In such cases, a boatload of medicine may accomplish little. Our job lies in spotting the offenders.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

NEWSPAPER SUPPORT OF WILLKIE.

Gary, Ind., Dec. 10.—I am writing you to express my disapproval of your editorial dealing with newspaper support of Willkie. After reading such an editorial one is led to question your writer's sagacity; yes, that is the word, he cannot be said to have sense.

This is not the first time that your so-called newspaper has referred to supporters of our President as being of low mentality or of voting for him because of what could be secured from such support. The writer belongs to that large group of independent voters who think for themselves and who can discern the fact that THE TRIBUNE has been wrong in its support of major political candidates over the years. It would seem that your editorial writers would at least know that your paper is read by some of those you claim to be illiterate, and that it is not just the thing to insult some 20 odd millions of supporters of Mr. Roosevelt.

If the writer of this article ever had any idea of voting for Mr. Willkie it was driven from his mind after reading your trash in support of Mr. Willkie and more so after seeing and hearing the aforesaid candidate. The writer is of the opinion that your editorial writer would be nearer the truth were he to say that those who supported Mr. Willkie did so from a blind following of the blind, and as such should be classed among those whom your editorial writer likes to class as illiterate. SYDNEY HILTON.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—I highly commend your courageous spirit in setting forth the real truth in today's editorial entitled, "Newspaper Support of Willkie."

As I have watched Presidential campaigns the last 50 years I have noticed that the balance of power has practically always been in the hands of the "independents." The situation is now reversed, as the balance of power seems to be in the hands of the "dependents." For this I almost wholly blame the system which is un-American and corrupting. That is why I believe the states should severally take care of their own dependents, at least in a general depression. If certain states are unable to raise the money within their own borders they could borrow from the government and perhaps pay no interest for a few years and then gradually pay the loan off. In this way there would be a brake on extravagant and political spending and on federal control of votes, even by unjustifiable tactics, because the Republican states would take care of their "dependents" and the Democratic states of theirs. Of course, the whole thing should be kept out of politics rigidly or America will become decadent by corruption within. S. O. LEVINSON.

SEES VALUE IN PWA AND WPA.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—In your column was a recent letter headed Hoover vs. Roosevelt, in which the opinion is expressed that had the Hoover policies been carried out under the present administration we all would be much better off today. Mr. Parker's reference to a factory employing 500 people in 1932 being subsidized thru the RFC, continuing to operate, keeping the distribution of goods and services flowing, with 500 wage earners at work, is all well and good, but industries were accepting assistance from the federal government and in spite of this were, in most cases, operating with merely a skeleton force. As for the Roosevelt policy giving direct relief thru nonproductive work under PWA, CWA, and WPA, one can look around thruout the country and see many lasting improvements financed thru PWA, such as postoffices, bridges, superhighways, etc., which will for many years stand as monuments.

In the 41st ward alone, since the advent of WPA and as a consequence of extensive street improvements and the laying of sewer and water mains, there has been approximately 10 million dollars of new building. Practically none of this work would have been undertaken without federal aid because of the tremendous cost of the improvements mentioned. The building boom has spread to a substantial degree to other outlying wards in the city of Chicago. Under normal processes it would be years before such progress could be attained.

Perhaps all of the various projects have not been entirely fruitful, nevertheless in the main much good has been accomplished.

WM. J. COWHEY,
Alderman, 41st Ward.

BARE LEGS IN WINTER.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—On a wintry day, an old settler, out hunting, met an Indian brave who wore no garment about his waist. Asked if he was cold, the brave in turn asked the white man if his face was cold. When the pioneer replied that it was not, the redskin then said: "Me no cold; Indian him all face."

There has been a great deal of water over the dam since that time and the Indians have learned that by adopting the customs of the white man they live better.

When I observe on these wintry days little girls and high school maids with their ankles and knees bare, it looks to me like a throwback to the days of the red man. On one of the recent cold days, I saw two sisters of about 9 and 10. As they ran they exposed to the freezing blasts their little limbs bare midway up the thigh.

It seems to me this is cruel. If the Lord had intended us not to have raiment he would have endowed us with a coat of hair like animals. In consulting a health specialist I was informed that this thing of children going partly bare in winter is unreasonable and later in life serious ailments might develop. In my opinion, if this mode of dressing is good for girls it should be equally so for boys. I fail to see lads like this. I say let's not revert back to the ways of the Indian but dress these youngsters as warmly as we do ourselves.

How sensible it looks to see a mother wrapped up in fur and galoshes and beside her one or two children with bare limbs, blue with cold—or is it, I ask you? HARRY T. IRWIN.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—Today one news item tells of the large percentage of applicants for army service who are not acceptable for many physical reasons, most of them the results of neglect in building and sustaining a healthy body. Finishing this item, I jump to the next. Our stock show and the wonderful results man has attained in developing prize beef, mutton and pork, and the generous support given to the 4-H clubs and others by the processors of meat products.

That's wonderful, I say to myself. The next news item makes me dizzy. Chicago firms get huge army meat orders. Contracts let for over 9,000,000 pounds of canned meat, corned beef, corned beef hash, Vienna type sausages. Then this item concludes with this thought stimulator: Low grade cattle scarce and packers are temporarily not in a position to fill the army orders. Buyers for packing houses have been scrambling for poor grade cattle to fill these orders and find them scarce—old bulls, broken down cows, and scrubs in demand. Why? To feed the men we so carefully select for the army.

Did scrambling around for poor grain to feed animals at the stock show help to win a blue ribbon? If so, then probably the packers are doing our boys a favor by hustling for cheap meat. It doesn't make sense to me. N. H. HOPKINS.

THE VOTES HAVE BEEN COUNTED.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—Can any one tell me where is the man who a few weeks back could not travel farther from Washington than a night's train ride? Is the crisis over now? HOPEFUL REPUBLICAN.

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

RIGHTS IN ESTATE.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A dies, leaves his estate in a trust fund, bank to act as administrator. Trust fund consists in small amount being paid annually to sister-in-law, widow of deceased's brother.

1. Is sister-in-law considered a relative since her husband died prior to A's death?

After sister-in-law's death, money, will states, should go to orphan home. Now this orphan home has two in one—one for boys and one for girls. They have since consolidated with another home and have incorporated a new association.

2. Does this affect their status in the will?

3. Could sister-in-law have identified body of deceased when same was shipped in from another state so as to be legal heirs were willing to cooperate?

4. Does any law in any state regard man living a hermit's life a resident of the city where he died?

5. A had no established home here, left and lived in California for a few years prior to his death. H. S.

1. Depends on the context in which you propose to use the word "relative." She would not be an heir, if that is what you mean to ask.

2. Probably not.

3. The question whether she could identify the body would depend on the condition and on her acquaintance with the deceased.

4. Yes. The fact that he lives as a hermit would not be material on the question where he resides.

5. We cannot pass upon the question where he had his legal residence without having the facts. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

COURT AFFIRMS CLEARING MAYOR ON VICE CHARGE

Quashing of Indictment in Champaign Upheld.

Mayor Flynn.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 12 [Special].—The Illinois Supreme court today affirmed dismissal of an indictment charging Mayor James D. Flynn of Champaign with malfeasance in office as a result of alleged vice conditions in that university city.

Flynn's indictment followed an investigation by a grand jury impaneled after a University of Illinois sophomore was fatally shot near a Champaign vice resort in 1939. The mayor, one of eight city and county officials indicted, was charged with failing to make "sincere efforts" to halt law violations.

Attorney General Appeals.

The indictment was quashed by Circuit Judge C. Y. Miller on June 29, 1939, on the ground it didn't allege that Flynn knew of the vice conditions. Attorney General John E. Cassidy appealed to the Supreme court to reverse the decision, but the high court declined.

Of the series of indictments returned in the vice inquiry, Flynn's was among the last to be before the courts. Indictments against four city commissioners were nolle prossed for lack of evidence; malfeasance indictments against State's Attorney Fred Hamill and former Police Chief Roy Argo were quashed, and former Sheriff Clarence W. Roth was acquitted by a Circuit court jury of bribery charges.

The Supreme court also affirmed judgment of the St. Clair County court in holding that the name of an East St. Louis business man should not be placed on the voters' registry of that city because he lives outside the city limits.

The business man is E. J. Coffey, East St. Louis agent for the Southern railroad and secretary-treasurer of the East St. Louis Tire and Battery company. He formerly was president of the Missouri Athletic association which owns a big office building and hotel in St. Louis, Mo.

Residence Where He Sleeps.

Coffey made a test case of the matter after he and several other East St. Louis businessmen sought to vote in the 1938 election.

In affirming the St. Clair County court, which had upheld the board of election commissioner's refusal to let Coffey vote, the Supreme court asserted that a voter's legal residence is where he sleeps, not where he conducts his business. The court said Coffey's place of abode has been in Missouri for more than three years.

APPROVE CITY'S $170,000 SHARE OF AIRPORT WORK

$1,320,000 Improvement Program Planned.

Appropriations for a total of $170,000 to be spent in improvements at Chicago airport were approved yesterday by the city council finance committee, which continued its task of making up the 1941 budget.

This money is to represent the city's share of WPA projects. Of the total $10,000 is for resurfacing airport runways, $110,000 for a new lighting system, and $50,000 for a hydrant and sprinkling system.

The cost of the lighting is expected to be $750,000; of the runways $150,000, and of the water system $420,000. a total of $1,320,000. The committeemen said Senator Scott W. Lucas would be asked to aid in getting national defense funds to push the projects along.

Discuss WPA Work.

Much of the discussion during the session centered on WPA work. Ald. William J. Cowhey [41st] protested vigorously when Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, announced he could not use motor vehicle tax funds to maintain streets constructed by the government agency; that there funds were earmarked for streets financed by special assessment.

"Do you want to chase our pioneer northwest side residents out of Chicago?" demanded Cowhey. "The city and WPA built 100 miles of macadam streets. Does the city contend now that it has no further liability for those that are in bad repair?"

Hewitt retorted he had never been in favor of the WPA building streets in outlying sections, but that the aldermen had insisted on them.

Call Fund Too Small.

He added that the vehicle tax fund had $2,585,000 for macadam street repair and the amount wasn't sufficient to care for the new WPA streets. A decision on the matter was deferred by the committee and the corporation counsel was asked for an opinion on where the money must spent.

Ald. Walter J. Orlikowski [35th] asked a $1,500 appropriation to buy an automobile for John Szumnarski, motor vehicle tax commissioner and the alderman's ward committeeman. The committee agreed to let the commissioner have $47 a month car allowance and to keep on using his own car. Szumnarski's salary is $7,500 a year.

MIDWEST G. O. P. LEADERS TO MEET HERE TOMORROW

Place in Party a Big Issue at Stake.

Ben L. Berve.

Republican chairmen from 12 midwestern states will meet in Chicago tomorrow and Sunday for round table discussions on the future of the party.

With the recent election demonstrating that Republican strength has shifted from the east to the middle west, the question of what part the middle west leaders will play in the new national leadership of the party becomes one of the chief subjects on the agenda.

Called by Illinois.

The resignation of Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, minority leader in congress, as national chairman and the resignation of John D. M. Hamilton of Kansas as executive director of the national committee, leaves these two posts open for discussion, and possibly the selection of candidates from this section as successors.

The meeting was called by Ben. L. Berve, chairman of the Illinois state central committee, at the suggestion of several leaders from nearby states. Sessions will be held in the La Salle hotel. Formal subjects for discussion are:

1. The middle west's part in the national leadership.
2. Importance of a coördinated educational program to advance the principles of the party.
3. Coördination of various state legislative programs.
4. Speeding up of national defense machinery.

State Chairmen Invited.

Berve will act as chairman. The following state chairmen have been invited to attend: Arch N. Bobbitt, Indiana; Harry Swan, Iowa; Walter S. Fees, Kansas; Leslie B. Butler, Michigan; Dr. R. C. Radabaugh, Minnesota; Charles L. Ferguson, Missouri; Kenneth Wherry, Nebraska; Thomas Whalen, North Dakota; Ed D. Shorr, Ohio; Glenn W. Martens, South Dakota, and Dr. F. L. Gullickson, Wisconsin.

The question that may be discussed is what part the Willkie clubs, which are now being reorganized in New York, may play in the future setup of the party. There was a loose coöperation between these groups during the campaign, but it was an arrangement that was not too popular with the regular Republicans.

RULED WINNER; LOST PRECINCT IN; HE'S BEHIND

O'Neill, Neb., Dec. 12 (AP).—A count of votes from a missing precinct today gave Frank Marsh, Republican, an 8 vote lead over Secretary of State Harry Swanson, Democrat, who has been declared reëlected by the state canvassing board by a 59 vote margin.

The ballot box of Verdigris precinct was opened by order of the state Supreme court, and a long-missing tally sheet found. The ballots, added to those cast by the rest of the state in the November general election, offset Swanson's lead and gave Marsh the 8 vote margin.

A report on the Verdigris precinct vote will be forwarded to the state canvassing board for action.

GRANGE TO MEET IN DECATUR.

PARK BOARD, SHY A MILLION, HOPES FOR TAX BOOST

Has Best Reputation for Living Within Means.

(This is the fourth in a series of articles discusing the financial status of Cook county's six major operating governments.)

BY LAURENCE BURD.

The Chicago Park district, faced with total revenues for 1941 more than a million dollars short of its revenues in the last two years, will ask the general assembly next month for a boost in the district's pegged tax levy, Robert J. Dunham, president, said yesterday.

Dunham said that the amount of the increase to be sought will be decided shortly. He indicated, however, that the park commissioners estimate the minimum levy needed for the corporate, or operating fund, at 11 millions a year. The 1941 levy was pegged by the assembly two years ago at 10¼ millions.

Estimates to be Made Today.

Tentative budget estimates for next year, on the basis of the 10¼ million dollar levy, will be submitted today to the commissioners by Dunham. These preliminary figures show $10,443,027 available for 1941, compared with $11,514,136 appropriated for the current year.

Dunham gave two reasons for the reduction in prospective revenues available for next year. These are a $250,000 drop in the pegged levy compared with the 10½ millions authorized for 1940, and a reduction of more than $800,000 in the surplus available at the start of 1941, compared with the sum on hand Jan. 1, 1940.

The chief cause of the decreased surplus which makes necessary the prospective request for a boost in the district's levy is the continued low rate of tax collections, Dunham said.

Tax Collections Lag.

Because of poor tax collections the district estimates that the corporate fund would have available in 1941 only about $9,300,000 of its theoretical income of $10,443,000.

The $10,443,000 represents the sum that would be available after allowing for failure to collect 10 per cent of the taxes. Actually, however, tax receipts in recent years have averaged only 80 to 82 per cent. The Park district, in planning its actual expenditures, therefore figures a reserve of 20 per cent for uncollected taxes.

The state Supreme court has held that the governments must appropriate at least 90 per cent of their tax levies, but they cannot be required to spend this much when tax collections run below 90 per cent. Some governments in Cook county, notably the city and the county, have piled up unpaid bills by incurring debts beyond the revenues available from the 80-82 per cent level of tax collections.

Keeps Sound Rating.

The park district has leaned the other way, and has consistently held its expenditures within its revenues. Consequently, it is conceded by such authorities as the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency to be in sounder financial condition at this time than any of the other six major county governments.

The park district in recent years has paid its bills on time and taken advantage of discounts. It has a 5 million dollar "working cash fund" that it dips into for current expenses.

Dunham said the district will continue to keep this fund in use and to hold its expenses within available revenues, altho this will mean deferring maintenance on park improvements. He estimated that $12,810,000 is the annual corporate expense necessary to keep the parks operating a normal basis and fully maintained. He divided this sum as follows: Four millions for operating existing facilities, $3,810,000 for police, recreation, and administrative functions, and 5 millions to maintain the parks' improvements valued at 179 millions.

The 1941 appropriation for the bond and interest fund was estimated by Dunham at $10,665,567, a drop of $1,065,000 for the year. Three other appropriations will remain unchanged: police pensions, $442,321; employés' pensions, $664,444, and aquarium and museum fund, $613,006.

Awarded Damages

[Acme Photo.]
ANNE FRANCINE.

New York, Dec. 12 (AP).—Anne Francine, night club singer, today was awarded $155 damages for face cuts she suffered in an automobile collision in November, 1939. She had sought $20,000 damages.

Frank Bonacchini, part-owner of a night club, who lost an eye as a result of the accident, was awarded $18,141, and Eranooey Kevorkian, 30, a stenographer of New Britain, Conn., was awarded $2,100.

The verdict in all three cases in Brooklyn federal court was against Virginia Keosian, owner of the car in which Miss Kevorkian was a passenger, and Armond Babyn, who was driving it. Miss Francine was driving the other car, owned by Bonacchini.

HAIL NEW PLAN FOR EXAMINING CITY TEACHERS

Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schols, and other school officials expressed gratification yesterday over the action of the school board in tentatively providing for the establishment of an independent committee to conduct oral examinations for teaching posts in the public school system.

The committee, according to present plans, will be made up of one representative each from the University of Chicago, Northwestern university, Loyola university, De Paul university, and the University of Illinois. The salaries will be $2,000 a year each.

Act to Avert Criticism.

The establishment of the committee was recommended by Supt. Johnson in a letter to James B. McCahey, president of the school board. One of the admitted reasons was to avoid criticism heaped in the past upon the school system's own examining board, headed by Dr. Johnson. This was touched upon in the Johnson letter, which stated in part:

"The oral part of our certificate examinations had for many years involved the employment of committees consisting of district superintendents . . . and others on the staff of the superintendent of schools. Invariably [they] had to be freed from their important educational duties in order to serve on these oral boards. They have not relished the job of performing this critical evaluation of candidates. They have, over the years, been subject to unmerited criticism for performing a difficult task in an unbiased manner."

Oral Board Heads Sign.

The letter was signed by Dr. Johnson, chairman of the regular oral board; Alfred H. Clarke, secretary, and Paul G. Edwards, vice chairman.

President McCahey's recommendation for the creation of an outside or independent committee was made to the board at its meeting Wednesday, immediately after receipt of the Johnson letter. Three members of the board sought to defer action because the recommendation came to them as a surprise. However, these three and other board members voted for the committee after McCahey explained any action now would be tentative. To be final, the $10,000 appropriation to pay the five man committee, must be approved in the 1941 budget.

TAVERN PORTER DIES IN CHAIR FOR SLAYING GIRL, 8

Robert Schroeder, 26 years old, died in the county jail's electric chair this morning for the murder last July 18 of Maizie Smith, 8, in the basement of a tavern at 2850 North Central avenue, where he was a porter. The current was turned on at 12:03 a. m. and off at 12:07.

Gov. John Stelle had refused late yesterday to interfere with the execution. A plea for clemency had been made earlier before the state pardon board by Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach, who cited a state alienist's report that Schroeder had been mentally ill for several years. Assistant State's Attorney Irwin Clorfene opposed the plea, calling Schroeder "coldly calculating."

Harold Smith, father of the dead girl, witnessed the execution.

REPORTS POSTAL SAVINGS THEFT.

WATERWAY TEST COMPLETED WITH DUBIOUS RESULTS

Brandon Pool Is Reported Still Sludge Laden.

A 10 day experiment in flushing out the sludge laden Illinois waterway was concluded at noon yesterday. Intakes to the turbines in the Lockport power house were closed down, and sluice gates at the Brandon road pool in Joliet were raised. Flow was gradually reduced from 10,000 to 1,500 cubic feet a second, the limit set in an order of the United States Supreme court effective last January.

The results of the experiment will not be known definitely until after 8,000 laboratory tests and analyses have been completed and compared in Sanitary district laboratories. Hundreds of soundings will be made by Sanitary district engineers during the next five days to determine what effects the flushing produced.

Fail in One of Two Objects.

Altho chemists and engineers were wary of early predictions, they did not hesitate to say that indications already noted are that increasing the flow did not accomplish one of the two objects of the experiment—cleaning out the 1,000,000 cubic yards of sludge in the Brandon road pool. Most of the sludge probably is still there, they said. Of the second object, they declared that it is likely that a large amount of sediment was washed out of the channel between Chicago and Lockport.

Dr. Floyd W. Mohlman, director of laboratories for the Sanitary district, said findings in his latest tests for suspended matter in the water above and below the pool were much the same as the earlier ones. They showed more than twice as high concentration above the pool as below it. The test indicates that the pool received more sludge than was washed out of it.

Oxygen Content Raised.

One good result was that the concentration of oxygen in the water in the pool was increased materially, Dr. Mohlman said. This increase, he explained, would increase the speed of digestion of organic matter and remove some of the rank odors of the stagnant water.

Dr. Mohlman estimated that tests to be completed would require at least 10 more days. His report to Monte M. Lemann, special master in chancery appointed by the United States Supreme court to hear evidence on the plea of Illinois for a temporary increase in diversion of lake water, will not be made until about Jan. 1.

MSGR. ROUMIE, 71, SYRIAN CATHOLIC PASTOR, IS DEAD

Msgr. Seraphim Roumie.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Seraphim R. Roumie, archimandrite of the Syrian rite in the Catholic church, died yesterday in St. Anthony hospital. He was 71 years old. Msgr. Roumie came to Chicago from Rugby, N. D., in 1906 and lived with the Paulist Fathers while organizing his work among the Syrian Catholics.

The late Archbishop Quigley in 1910 appointed him to take full charge of all Syrians in the archdiocese and to the pastorate of St. John the Baptist Syrian church, 1249 South Washtenaw avenue. Funeral services will be held at this church next Monday, conducted by priests of the Syrian rite from other dioceses.

JACK JONES DIES; FOUNDER OF THE DILL PICKLE CLUB

John Archibald [Jack] Jones, founder of the Dill Pickle club, which was for years a near north side rendezvous for radicals, artists and writers, died of a heart attack yesterday in his rooms at 1130 North Wells street. He was 64 years old.

Born in Kingston, Ont., he first worked as a miner, but forsook that for radical activities. He is said to have been one of the organizers of the Industrial Workers of the World. With Jim Larkin, now in Ireland, he founded the Dill Pickle club at 18 Tooker alley. For years hoboes and notables alike visited the club, and its Sunday night doings often made Monday news. The club went out of existence about six years ago.

Jones was married three times. His first wife was Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, whom he divorced in 1920. They had one son, John. His second wife, Anna Mitchell, was drowned during a honeymoon cruise on Lake Michigan. His third wife was Lailah Cooper. Jones' body is in the chapel at 1424 Larrabee street, and friends, headed by Dr. Ben Reitman, will raise money for the funeral.

WIFE OF EX-JUDGE THOMAS TAYLOR IS DEAD IN WEST

Mrs. Florence Clarkson Taylor, wife of Thomas Taylor, retired Chicago judge, and mother of two world war heroes, died yesterday in her home in Carmel, Cal. She was 72 years old.

Mrs. Taylor was born in Chicago at Ontario and State streets. The family home was destroyed in the Chicago fire. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thorne Clarkson and was educated in private schools in Chicago, Germany and France.

She was active in hospital and nursing work during the world war, and at one time was treasurer of the Illinois Training School for Nurses. Her sons, Capt. Thorne and Lieut. Wilberforce Taylor, served in the aviation force overseas during the war. Capt. Taylor won six medals for bravery in action. Both died of war wounds or injuries shortly after the war. In 1918 Mrs. Taylor translated "Revelations of a German Attaché," which became a best seller. She was a member of the Colonial Dames of America.

3D RABBIT FEVER VICTIM DIES; WIFE BATTLES MALADY

The third death in Chicago from tularemia, or rabbit fever, since the hunting season opened, was reported yesterday. The victim was Fred Zeh, 43 years old, 8907 Cottage Grove avenue, who died in County hospital despite three blood transfusions and an injection of a special serum.

Zeh was believed to have contracted the disease while dressing rabbits he shot on a hunting trip. His wife, Elizabeth, 43, entered the hospital Wednesday night and is under care for the same disease. She said the infection started on her hand, where a pin scratched her while she was bandaging her husband's hand.

MUSIC PHONED TO W-G-N WHEN AIR MAIL FAILS

At noon yesterday—almost time for the cast of the In Chicago Tonight program to assemble at W-G-N for the final rehearsals for last night's performance—Producer William A. Bacher discovered that the special music for the program had not arrived from Hollywood.

David Broekman, the Hollywood composer-conductor, had dispatched by air mail the score of his "Regimental Song," a recent composition, for use in connection with the presentation last night of the play, "Breathes There a Man—," starring Ruth Gordon. When the score failed to arrive, Bacher had an idea. Harold Stokes, conductor of the orchestra on the show, telephoned Broekman in the west. Broekman hummed the melody in Hollywood and Stokes set down the notes in Chicago. Several hours later Stokes was ready for rehearsal with an orchestration.

Last night at 7:30 Miss Gordon, who is starred in the comedy, "Here Today" at the Selwyn, gave a moving portrayal of Mrs. Benedict Arnold in the play "Breathes There a Man—" with Broekman's special music to set the musical scene. The performance was rounded out with comedy by Mischa Auer and songs by Leni Lynn, two visitors from Hollywood who are playing at the Chicago theater.

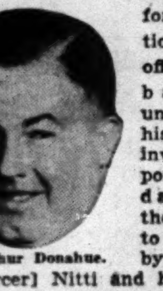
THREATS BRING COURTNEY INTO BAR UNION POLL

Calls In Candidate on the Anti-Nitti Slate.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney intervened yesterday in the forthcoming election on Jan. 6 of officers in the bartenders' union. He said his office would investigate reports that candidates opposing the slate alleged to be dominated by Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti and his gang, were resigning suddenly because of threats.



Arthur Donahue.

The prosecutor said he had summoned Arthur Donahue to his office today for questioning on the report that Donahue had resigned as a candidate for business agent at the point of a revolver. Courtney said other candidates opposing the Nitti slate also would be questioned on reports they planned to get out because of terrorism.

Pledged to Fight Nitti.

Donahue is a member of a group of bartenders who organized a Progressive slate to oppose the Nitti gang's domination of the union. Austen Steeves, candidate for president on the Progressive slate, said he would confer with others on the slate to determine their reaction to the reported threats.

Courtney said his office would look into complaints that tavern owners thruout the city had been approached by hoodlums and told they had "better go along" and instruct their bartenders to vote for the coalition ticket headed by James Crowley, present secretary treasurer of the union, and George B. McLane, who is seeking reëlection as business agent.

Charge Gangster Control.

McLane had the union thrown into receivership on his charge that it had been taken over by Nitti. Later McLane refused to testify in Criminal court against Nitti and his associates. The Progressives charge that the Crowley-McLane slate is controled by the gangster.

POLICY KINGPIN PLEADS GUILTY OF TAX EVASION

Admits Dodging $198,787 Federal Levies.

Edward P. Jones, "brains" of Chicago's Negro policy kings—the three Jones brothers—pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of income tax evasion as part of an agreement made with the government in settling claims which once totaled more than $2,000,000.

Jones entered a plea of guilty to one of six counts, charging him with evasion of $198,787 in taxes for 1938. His brothers, McKissack McHenry Jones and George P. Jones, pleaded not guilty, as did their former auditor, Attorney Thomas Gilson, who once worked as a deputy collector of internal revenue.

John M. Kiely, assistant district attorney, told Judge Philip L. Sullivan that the pleas were entered by an agreement reached last summer when the Jones brothers settled the government's tax claim for $481,000. As part of the agreement, Kiely said, the government will ask for dismissal of the charges against the other brothers and Gilson.

Offers No Recommendation.

"Do you mean that there is to be no regular trial?" asked Judge Sullivan. When Kiely said that was correct, Judge Sullivan inquired:

"Has the government a recommendation to make?"

Kiely said the government has none.

"How long have you been connected with the case?" asked the court.

"Since last May," replied Kiely.

"Then you ought to give the court the full benefit of your knowledge," commented the judge.

"The attorney general does not permit the district attorney to make any recommendation in such cases," answered Kiely. "The matter is entirely up to the discretion of the court."

Arguments Set for Jan. 21.

Judge Sullivan continued his decision until Jan. 21 when arguments will be made by the defense in mitigation of sentence.

Originally the government claimed $2,067,026 in taxes, penalty, and interest for the years 1931 to 1938 inclusive from the Jones brothers, former dining car waiters who made a fortune on pennies and dimes wagered by the poor of their race. Because of the statute of limitations, the criminal indictment charged evasion of $1,020,453 taxes for the years from 1933 to 1938 inclusive.

In conferences at Washington, the brothers were able to show that many items were duplicated and that in most instances they were in partnership with their mother, widow of an Evanston Baptist preacher. This brought their income from the high surtax brackets to the lower brackets. The brothers live at 4724 Michigan avenue.

EVER LOVING MR. CADY WINS JUDGE'S PROMISE OF A DIVORCE DECREE

The marital troubles of Glen G. Cady, the Kelvyn Park High school teacher whose wife, Mary, complained he was too amorous, were finally ended yesterday when Judge Rudolph Desort indicated he would grant him a divorce. The hearing was on Cady's fourth suit for divorce, the previous suits having been thrown out of court.

The Cady worries were first brought to court in 1938 when Mrs. Cady sued for separate maintenance. She charged her husband was too affectionate, disliked pajamas, and was a nudist. Cady filed a countercomplaint that his wife bit him and tried to limit his breakfast to one egg.

Cady's complaint, drawn by Attorney Alvin Kayner, charged desertion. Mrs. Cady, who was permitted to resume her maiden name of Medley, did not contest the suit. She lives in Flora, Ill.

TRAFFIC CLUB'S GOOD FELLOWS TO RALLY TODAY

Annual Luncheon Will Aid Christmas Drive.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Fourteen hundred men and women will fill the grand ballroom and adjoining foyer of the Palmer House this noon for the fifth annual Good Fellow luncheon of the Traffic club of Chicago, beginning at 12:15 o'clock. From 12:45 to 12:55 the program will be heard on radio station W-G-N. During this period the speaker will be Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, sponsor of the Good Fellow campaign.

Following the luncheon a two and one-half hour entertainment program will be presented, featuring Edgar A. Guest, the poet; Lillian Gish and Percy Waram, and "the four sons" from the cast of the play, "Life with Father"; Margit Bokor, Hungarian soprano of the Chicago Opera company; Joe E. Lewis and Tamara from the Chez Paree, and other headliners of the stage and radio.

Proceeds Will Pay for Baskets.

Proceeds from this luncheon will go to purchase 450 baskets which will be delivered the Monday morning before Christmas to the homes of needy families in Chicago.

The "four sons" from the "Life with Father" company—Jimmie Roland, David Jeffries, Peter Jamerson, and O. Z. Whitehead—were inducted into the Good Fellow work Wednesday evening when they received their Good Fellow buttons from David X. Meyers at his garage in the Hotel Sherman.

Meyers often is called a one man Good Fellow campaign. He got his start in civic affairs at the age of 18 selling Liberty bonds. Now customers who leave his garage during the Christmas season more often than not depart with a Good Fellow button in recognition of a contribution to the Good Fellow fund. Meyers estimates that he will collect at least $200 for the work this Christmas.

Plan Carol Sing Sunday.

The Knights and Themis clubs of the university college of Northwestern university will present for the third time the annual carol sing at 3:30 p. m. Sunday in Thorne hall. Part of the proceeds will go to the Good Fellow fund.

The Rogers Park Congregational church choir, directed by William Phillips, will sing, and John Thorsen of the university's school of speech will read Dickens' "A Christmas Carol." Dr. Samuel Burkholder will present an organ recital, and Alice Phillips will be soloist with the choir. Vladimir De Lissovoy, president of the college student council, is chairman of the affair.

LUCK TRIPS CAT OWNED BY FOES OF SUPERSTITION

A large, docile black cat is wanted to preside tonight—Friday the 13th—at the 13th anniversary dinner of the Antisuperstition society in the Merchants and Manufacturers' club in the Merchandise Mart.

The society had a nice black cat named Evil Luck, but, according to Gen. A. F. Lorenzen, vice president of the society in charge of the party, Evil Luck is sick, or maybe superstitious, and won't be at the party. Anyway, the general is advertising for a black cat and actually, he said, he'd like 13 of 'em.

Tonight's dinner will start at 6:13 p. m., and right at the start the chairman will break a mirror. Everybody'll have to walk under ladders, too. There will be 13 tables, with 13 guests at each. Nathaniel Leverone is president of the society.

Baby Born in Ambulance Parked at Curb in Gary

A boy weighing eight pounds was born yesterday to Mrs. William Floyd in an ambulance parked at the curb in a busy street in Gary. Mrs. Floyd was on the way from her home at 4408 Pennsylvania avenue to the Mercy hospital in Gary at the time. She said last night she probably would name her son Robert Wade, after Wade Morris and Robert Swift, the ambulance attendants, who assisted at the birth.

The Odor of Violets

By Baynard Kendrick

[Copyright: 1940: By Baynard Kendrick.]

SYNOPSIS

Leaving their house guest, Chell Scott, Norma Tredwill goes to the city to break up the romance between her libertine ex-husband, Paul Gerente, and her stepdaughter Barbara. She sees Barbara leaving Paul's apartment—and discovers Paul murdered. Duncan Maclain, a blind detective, receives a visitor who claims to be Paul Gerente—with orders in code from the naval intelligence. They are instructions in case New York is plunged into darkness by war, giving the five vital locations where sabotage might occur. Maclain refuses to divulge them to his visitor. Maclain surprises Cameron, who lives below Paul, in the apartment with the dead man. Cameron confesses to the murder, claiming a girl, Hilda Lestrade, witnessed it. Maclain doubts his story. Norma longs to ask advice of Bunny Carter, president of the aircraft works where her stepson, Gilbert, is a designing engineer, but she does not dare for fear of implicating Barbara in the murder. Barbara disappears. In Gilbert's workroom some one pushes a wardrobe on Norma. Col. Gray, head of the New York defense plans, commissions Maclain and his partner, Spud, to investigate spy activities in connection with the murder and the bombing sight Gilbert Tredwill has designed. Maclain tricks Hilda Lestrade into accusing Cameron of murder. With his dogs, Maclain goes to the Tredwill home, ostensibly to solve Barbara's disappearance. He discovers the plans for the bombing sight have been traced and learns from Norma that she thought Bella was hiding behind the wardrobe.

INSTALMENT XXIII.

THE BROADAXE.

Darkness and blackness.

The blackness of the deepest mine, the lack of light which drives weak men mad in dungeons, was the world of Duncan Maclain.

There was no light in Norma's room; no light in the hall; no light in the great house built on a Connecticut hill. Neither was there night and day—just time, and sound, and feeling and sometimes taste and smell.

There was trust in a dog, footsteps to count, voices to remember, and the tingling feel of fabrics when sensitive fingers brushed against a wall.

Twenty paces.

Twenty yards.

Sixty feet.

You remembered it the next time. If you forgot it, then Schnucke warned you—or by yourself, you risked barked shins and a nasty tumble. You had to remember. It wasn't nice when a blind man took a fall.

Paces and faces and talks and walks and what was said in Norma's room—you had to remember it all. The faces you built by the voice, of course, because you couldn't see. The talks were always clear.

"I'd better send for Pierce, Capt. Maclain. The servants' quarters are upstairs in the other wing. The door leading in there is the last to the left at the end of the hall."

"I can find it, Mrs. Tredwill, thank you. I prefer to go alone. I went upstairs with the state policeman this afternoon."

"Bella's room is the second to the right at the top of the service stairs."

"Don't worry, Mrs. Tredwill. My dog can see. If I need something I can call."

The talks were always clear, like that one with Col. Gray: "The last war blinded you, Maclain—this one may end your career!"

God, how careful you had to be—"I'm sorry, Mr. Tredwill. I'm afraid your plans all smell of gasoline."

Twenty paces.

Twenty yards.

And three times 20 is 60 feet.

"Good girl, you're right again! This is the door to the servants' wing."

Thru it and close it and listen.

"Nobody here, eh, Schnucke?"

Thirty-two paces and then the stairs.

Darkness. Blackness. Silence. The carpet is thick. The kitchen's below. See that rattle of dishes. See that smell of cooking lingering from the day.

Twenty-nine. Thirty. Thirty-one. Thirty-two.

Five steps up a landing.

Turn right.

Seven steps up and a landing.

Turn right.

Ten steps up and you're there. Or was it nine?

Watch your step at the top, Maclain! Next time you'll remember—21 or 22. It's careless to confuse them with those 32 steps in the hall.

"Thank you, Schnucke. It's 21, not 22!"

Darkness. Blackness. Silence. The carpet is thick. Bella sleeps in the second room to the right at the top of the stairs.

One. Two. Three. Four. Five.

That's the first door, and it's open. Feel that change in the air?

One. Two. Three. Four. Five.

"Right here, Schnucke. Bella's door is open. The light would shine in. If she's sleeping, it must be dark here in the hall. I'll call her softly."

"Bella!"

"Steady, Schnucke, and forward! What are you trembling for?"

One step onward and listen.

"Schnucke, my ears are better than yours. Quit your whining and balking. I'll call her again?"

"Bella!"

Darkness and blackness and silence and a smell of violet perfume. Maybe Bella uses it. "My nose is as good as yours, Schnucke. I smelled it out in the hall. Forward, Schnucke! Forward, I say! All right, if you want to be stubborn I'll leave you here at the door!"

Another step into the room and stop.

A table here. A bureau here, but nobody breathing.

"Bella!"

Those are clothes on the back of the chair.

Another step—Merciful Christ, Maclain, what's that you kicked on the floor? It's rolled away! No. It's only rolled. It's right there close to your toe.

Down on your knees.

No. You'd better stand and reach down with your hand. It can't be what you think it is—a football would roll that way!

Merciful God—a football with teeth and a nose and hair!

Out in the hall and down the stairs and thru the serving door.

"God, Maclain, you're deathly pale! What are you running for?"

That's Thaddeus Tredwill. Calmly now. Tell him about the girl.

"It's Bella, Mr. Tredwill——"

"Bella," he's saying. "Pearce said she was upstairs in bed."

"Her body's in bed, Mr. Tredwill—but her cut off head's on the floor!"

Police.

Sergt. King was grim. Under his faultlessly tailored uniform of trim khaki his broad shoulders tapered down to a waist athletically small.

This was murder beyond the sergeant's ken—brutal and bloodier than the swift striking thrust of a maniac. Decapitation—a genus of crime the capable sergeant hadn't met before, and most heartily hoped he'd never meet with again.

"And you, Mr. Tredwill—you were on your way upstairs when you ran into Capt. Maclain?"

The sergeant's voice had roughened from the grating of endless questions. He seemed reluctant to move his commanding post in front of the mantle; equally reluctant to relinquish his comforting grasp on the butt of his gun.

"Good God, man—yes—yes—yes!" Thad's affirmatives grew progressively louder. "Get some place, can't you? Some place that we haven't been before."

King eyed him unemotionally. "I'm doing my best. Your son sent Trooper Stinson away. If the trooper had stayed he might have saved that girl."

"I sent no one away," said Gil in patient contradiction. "I merely told Stinson he might go if he thought it safe to do so. How would his presence——"

"Have saved the girl? Maybe it wouldn't. The sergeant turned his back on the room and made passes at the fire with his toe. "He was downstairs, it's true," he went on, speaking more to the fire than to Gil, "but it wouldn't have been so easy to get that broadaxe out of the hall."

"There's a back stairway, as I've told you," Thad put in. "Whoever killed her probably went up that way."

"A broadaxe," Sergt. King repeated as tho the words were indigestible. "Why?"

Capt. Maclain answered him. "It's quick and silent, sergeant, and a method that's certain sure. The best executioners abroad revived it for political purposes, I understand. In addition, I believe I'm safe in saying that it fills potential victims with a certain sense of fear."

INVITING ARRAY OF HOLIDAY FOOD AVAILABLE NOW

Christmas Spirit Is Found at Grocery.

BY MARY MEADE.

It's Christmas season in your grocery and there's more than the decorations to prove it. Big bags and baskets of unshelled nuts of all kinds, trays of candied fruits, candies, ready baked fruit cakes and cookies and all the other Christmas foods are on display.

Some of the stores are featuring all kinds of baking supplies, too, and are all set to help you bake your plum puddings and other goodies. If you like, you can buy canned steamed puddings in several varieties. Mince meat comes plain or brandied, or in the packaged dry form. And all the ingredients for making your own mince meat are on hand.

Citrus Fruit Bargains.

Big news at the fresh produce counters are the low prices on all citrus fruits. Grapefruit is very low this year and the quality is excellent right now. Most stores are featuring some kind of oranges. The Florida juice oranges are selling at low levels and the California navels are here in larger quantities and somewhat lower prices. Tangerines are a bit cheaper, but they will probably be still cheaper in another week or two.

Apples—and they have lots of holiday season uses—are another good fruit buy. Some varieties cost you more than others, of course, but as a group apples are reasonably priced and worth the money. Stores are featuring one variety and another.

Some Luxury Items.

Other fruits available include moderately priced California avocados; luxury priced strawberries [they sell for around 25 cents a pint, wholesale]; reasonable bananas and dried fruits; Emperor grapes which are a little higher this week, and Anjou and Bosc pears which also have gone up in price a bit.

There is not much change in the prices of fresh vegetables. Green beans are very slightly higher priced but still selling at moderate levels. Broccoli and celery are slightly higher. Cucumbers are rather scarce, and this vegetable is high. It's a little early in the season for the hothouse cukes and only a few are coming in from Florida.

Both lettuce and spinach are cheaper this week. Dry onions are somewhat cheaper, but hardly enough to affect retail prices. Eggplant from Florida is arriving in increasing quantities and at somewhat lower prices. Tomato prices are sliding downward.

Good Vegetable Buys.

Good vegetable buys for the weekend include green beans, beets, Brussel sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, greens, Irish and sweet potatoes, lettuce, dry onions, spinach, turnips, parsnips, and rutabagas.

Prices on Irish potatoes vary with quality and variety. The long Idaho russets for baking and the red Nebraska triumphs for cooking are selling at comparable prices. Somewhat cheaper are the northern cobblers and triumphs.

Pork is still the best meat buy, tho pork loins are bringing somewhat better prices than they did a couple of weeks ago. Smoked cuts, including sausage meat and bacon, are featured widely in the city and suburbs. Many stores are featuring legs of lamb and other lamb cuts. Next to pork, lamb is the cheapest meat as a class on the wholesale market. Rib roast of beef is another good buy this week-end and the cut is featured in several stores.

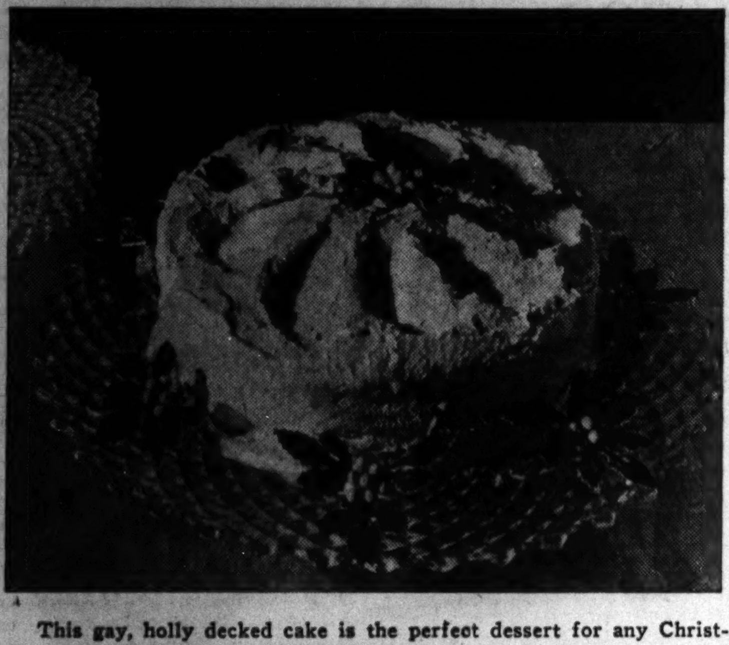
The Perfect Christmas Dessert



This gay, holly decked cake is the perfect dessert for any Christmas party. Holiday colors are carried out in the soft green topping and rich, red cranberry filling of the cake. Add almond flavoring to any plain layer cake recipe, and when the cake has baked and cooled, spread cranberry sauce between the layers. Just before serving, cover with slightly sweetened whipped cream flavored with almond and tinted green.

ADD RAISINS, AND GINGERBREAD CAN TOP FEAST

Have you tried raisins in your gingerbread? You can use it as bread, of course, but it is so good, you'll be wanting to top it with a dab of whipped cream and serve it as a climax to dinner.

RAISIN GINGERBREAD.

[Serves 8 to 10.]

1 cup seedless raisins
⅛ cup granulated sugar
⅓ cup shortening
6 tablespoons dark molasses
2 eggs
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons ginger
2 teaspoons cinnamon
¾ cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon soda

Rinse raisins in hot water, drain and dry on a towel. Cream sugar, shortening and molasses; add beaten eggs and beat. Add flour sifted with the salt and spices and soda, alternately with buttermilk, and beat well. Add raisins. Turn into greased baking pan [12 by 7] and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve hot, with a topping of whipped cream, if desired. Also good with cream cheese.

NOW'S THE TIME TO BAKE COOKIES FOR CHRISTMAS

Remember the hard little cookies called peppernuts and the white squares with the quaint imprinted designs that grandmother always included in Christmas cookie collection? Both of these cookies need to be made right now, if you want to include them in your Christmas stockings.

You'll need a special board or pin to make the designs on the springerle. The boards and pins are on sale in the department stores, but if you do not want to get one you can manage by simply marking the cookies off in squares and imprinting them with any tumbler that has a cut glass design on the bottom or sides.

Both pfeffernusse and springerle are very hard when first baked. They are to be stored in a stone jar or other tightly covered container where they will soften with age. If you make them immediately they should be about right by Christmas time.

PFEFFERNUSSE [Peppernuts]

2 cups honey
2 teaspoons soda
1 cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter
¼ cup lard
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon crushed cardamom seeds
1 teaspoon ground cloves
Flour to make a stiff dought [about 6 cups]

Beat honey, sugar, and softened shortenings together until creamy. Beat in eggs and cardamom seeds. Add soda, black pepper, ground cloves, and three cups flour which have been shifted together. Add more flour to make a stiff dough. Cover tightly and let stand in refrigerator for three days. Then roll into long rolls about one inch in diameter. Cut into pieces one-half inch long with sharp knife. Bake on greased cookie sheet in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until brown. If desired two-thirds cup finely chopped citron and one cup shredded almonds may be added to dough. For a molasses flavor use one cup molasses and one cup corn sirup in place of honey. These cookies are very hard, but become softer with age.

Both of these recipes were taken from Mary Meade's booklet, "Holiday Cookies and Fruit Cakes." Send 5 cents in stamps and the booklet will be mailed to you promptly, or pick it up for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, or in the Tribune Tower lobby.

SPRINGERLE

2 cups sugar
4 eggs, beaten until light
4 cups all purpose flour [approximately]
1 tablespoon crushed anise seed or ½ teaspoon anise oil

Beat eggs until lemon colored, then add sugar and continue beating for one hour [15 minutes if an electric beater is used]. Add flour to make a dough stiff enough to roll. Roll about half inch thick, press sheet with springerlie board or rolling pin. Cut cookies apart and place on greased baking sheet which has been sprinkled with anise seed. [If oil is used in place of seeds add before flour.] Cover cookies with tea towel and let dry overnight. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven. Tops will puff to resemble icing but will retain shape. Remove from oven when tops are firm, but not browned. Store in stone jar. A four to six weeks' ripening period is best.

REFRIGERATOR FROZEN ICE CREAM SUITABLE FOR CHRISTMAS MEAL

You'll like the unusual flavor of this refrigerator frozen ice cream. It's easy to make, but entirely suitable for your Christmas dinner or any company meal. Unflavored ice cream powder is the base.

COFFEE CARAMEL ICE CREAM.

4 tablespoons sugar
½ cup strong fresh coffee
½ cup milk
½ package [scant ⅛ cup] unflavored ice cream powder
1 cup cream, whipped

Carmelize sugar until golden brown. Add coffee gradually and stir until dissolved. Add milk very gradually to ice cream powder, stirring until dissolved; then add coffee-caramel mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible. Stir when frozen around edges and twice more at 20 or 30 minute intervals. Total freezing time is about three hours.

NO MEASURING OR SIFTING

No bother. 12 to 18 tender cup cakes or one layer for layer cake—by simply adding egg and milk to the contents of a package of CUPLETS.

NO MEASURING OR SIFTING

Just pour contents of a package of FLAKORN into a bowl. Add egg and milk. Whip together, and you'll have 12 delicious corn muffins, all ready for the oven.

NO MEASURING OR SIFTING

Quick! Easy! A package of FLAKO, and water are all you need to make a nine inch double crust that's light and flaky, top and bottom. A crust that will "make" the pie.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Women World Wide

by Ruth DeYoung Kohler

EVER since the Greeks have been making mockery of the threats and promises that have issued from the Palazzo Venezia in Rome common impresion seems to be that the heroes of this campaign are warriors clad in skirts.

Truth of the matter is that there are few soldiers wearing the famous "fustanella," or skirted uniform, in this present warfare against the Italians.

The Evzones, or Greek mountain troops, are the only ones to cling to it, but this is enough to give the skirted uniform great importance. Even today half the members of the royal guards are chosen from among the Evzones . . . chosen for their physique, courage and skill in battle.

The "fustanella" is accepted as the Greek national costume, altho really it is Albanian in origin. It is composed of white socks, embroidered in red, a kilt which gives it its name, and a zouave jacket with enormous sleeves. Even the finest needlewoman would exhaust superlatives over it.

A GOOD many years ago former Kaiser Wilhelm made a trip to Greece and suggested that all Greek troops once again be put in the "fustanella." Had the suggestion been followed, it would have been an expensive change, for the kilts alone require 20 yards of material.

Since there has been fighting in the valleys of Epirus, where Atlanta once ran her race, Greek women have laid aside their beautiful silk and velvet gowns woven with threads of silver and gold. Women of Greece, noted for their beauty, are wearing instead nurses' caps and the simplest kind of dresses adaptable to war work. They are exceedingly proud that in a few short weeks their small nation has broken the fatalistic belief that more and more setbacks must inevitably befall the cause of human freedom. Days of fighting always have been great days for Greece. . . .

IT was important news the other day when Donna Rachele, wife of the Duce of Italy, left her residence, the Villa Torlonia in Rome, to make a trip to Forli in the province where she was born of poor peasant parents. High Fascist officials were with her, for the visit was not wholly sentimental.

In the ancient city where once the Borgias ruled she officially opened a new factory for making fuel alcohol from sorghum. Outside Forli Premier Mussolini's father once ran an inn and it was as a servant in the kitchen that Donna Rachele first knew the Duce-to-be.

Thruout the 18 years that Mussolini has ruled Italy his wife has remained obscure, her personality, her very appearance almost unknown to her fellow countrymen. Behind the walls of the Villa Torlonia she has lived her life and brought up the younger Mussolinis. Italian politics and Roman society she has avoided. Donna Rachele is 50 now, plump, fair haired, and smiling despite the severe reverses that the Duce's armies have suffered.

PROBABLY no woman closely akin to the powers that rule the world today has been devoting more of herself to war relief than Elizabeth, queen of England . . . unless it be Mme. Chiang Kai-shek in China.

Queen Elizabeth's unceasing activity is motivated by deep human sympathy and concern for her subjects. Amid battle she daily moves about London and its environs to set an example of cheer and fortitude.

In few aspects is her life what it used to be. From one standpoint this may even be said to please her, for it has meant a complete abandonment of all social and ceremonial activities. There are no more courts, no more processions, no more long formal dinner parties. While Queen Elizabeth always was a gracious sovereign at these affairs, they are not the sort of thing she really likes. She is far more interested in the people of England.

In this great crisis for Britain Mrs. Winston Churchill, wife of the prime minister, is another who is taking her full share of the heavy job of organizing the defense and relief agencies of Britain. She, too, has put aside her usual routine—the brilliant dinners she used to give and all sports including her favorite skiing. She has put them aside for relief work and also in order to run No. 10 Downing street to suit the prime minister's tempestuous and irregular life.

Tho she is no power behind the prime ministry, the prime minister reads all of his important speeches to her and accepts much of her criticism.

Black Horse Squadron Gets Ready for Camp

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE'S a flurry of excitement at the 122d Regiment armory, where Chicago's famous Black Horse squadron—from 450 officers and men down to their favorite polo ponies—is packing up to depart on Monday for a year's service at Camp Livingston, La.

The squadron's departure, of course, means that some of Chicago's favorite young bachelors will be missing from the stag lines for the coming year. They'll go marching down the Outer drive on Monday to board the special troop train which will head southward at 4 o'clock and from then on it will be boots and spurs in place of the tails and dinner coats that have been a more familiar uniform.

Sergt. Brewster Perry, Sergt. Arthur T. Galt Jr., Private Dustin Grannis, Private Benjamin B. Bryan, 1st Lieut. Henry T. Gardiner, and Staff Sergeant George E. Hale are among the young Chicagoans who will be receiving their mail next year at Camp Livingston.

Officers Preparing to Have Their Families Join Them.

Several of the married officers will install their families in homes already selected for them near the new headquarters. The wives and children, of course, won't be going by troop train. Capt. Sydney P. Waud of the medical corps will be joined in Louisiana by Mrs. Waud and Ibbie, Bevvy, and Sydney Jr. Maj. Roy D. Keehn Jr., who commands the Black Horse squadron, is making plans to welcome Mrs. Keehn and little Dee Hampton Keehn, who is just a year old.

Private Grannis, Capt. Waud, Maj. Keehn, and Sergt. Thomas T. Carter, who hails from Scarborough-on-the-Hudson, make up the squadron's "Princeton quartet."

Another important member of the squadron who will be making the trip south is El Lopo, the black horse famed for his jumping prowess as well as for his haughty disposition. Trained by Capt. William F. Kirby [who plays on the squadron's polo team with Maj. Keehn and Capt. Richard K. Strauss], he has attracted hundreds of visitors, for whom he jumps barrels and bales of hay with the air of a seasoned actor.

Organized Under Direction of Maj. Gen. R. D. Keehn Sr.

Organized under the direction of Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn Sr., the squadron has had as its past commanders Capt. Maxwell M. Corpening, Capt. John T. Knight Jr., Capt. Chauncey McCormick, and Capt. Paul Butler. Originally a part of the National Guard, it was inducted into the regular army on Nov. 25.

While Chicago bids farewell to the Black Horse squadron, an officer of the 202d coast artillery, antiaircraft, is being welcomed home by his family. Col. Charles C. Dawes, who has just completed a six weeks' course at military school in Old Point Comfort, Va., is spending a week at his home in Barrington. Col. Dawes will return to Fort Bliss, Tex., for Christmas, where Mrs. Dawes will join him the middle of January.

James N. Rawleigh Jr., who is with the same regiment, will arrive in Chicago on Dec. 21 for a week's furlough. His younger brother, William B. Rawleigh, will be at home from the University of Michigan to spend the holidays with his brother and parents, Mr. and Mrs. James N. Rawleigh of North State parkway.

Dinner-Dance Tonight for Broome Sisters.

Mrs. Kendrick E. Morgan and her daughter, Mrs. William George Lee, are giving a dinner-dance tonight at the Racquet club for Debutantes Betty and Caryl Broome. The popular Broome sisters are cousins of Mrs. Lee, and tonight's party will be reminiscent of the ball which the Morgans gave at the Blackstone hotel for their mother, the former Caryl Spoor, when she was a debutante. Mrs. Lee's son, Alden Haupt, will not be here for the party, as he is at work in Tennessee.

Mrs. John A. Stevenson and Mrs. Huntington B. Henry, who are in charge of tonight's dinner-dance at the Casino, have arranged for "The Escorts and Betty" to entertain members. An orchestra will play for dancing. The party will be something in the nature of a birthday celebration, as the 26th anniversary of the club's founding was yesterday.

Two artists of the Chicago Opera company, Mme. Maria Hussa and Frederick Jagel, will be the especial CHRISTMAS TREE—1940.

(Written for the tree of the Withers Public library in Bloomington, Ill., a large beautiful tree that came from Nova Scotia.]

Once I was a tree that grew in fertile soil
And knew the feel of wind, and sun, and rain.
Now I am a Christmas tree with numbered days of glory,
Now I am Christ's tree, and now
may speak. . . .
O, rain, weep, weep for a troubled
Christmastide!
Weep for the shattered homes and tortured hearts of humankind.
O, sun, bring warmth into this world of hate,
Bring light into this darkness of despair.
O, wind, as you go questing thru
the lands across the sea,
Sing the song you've known these thousand years;
Carry my message thru the whole wide world
Of "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

—Clara Louise Kessler.

Paraphrase.

Jed Harris, producer of Here Today, the Ruth Gordon play at the Selwyn, went to the Panther room the other night to hear Larry Adler, the harmonica virtuoso. Adler had just announced his first number when a voice called, "Play Flight of the Bumble Bee."

As Adler dislikes the piece, he ignored the request and repeated, "I am going to play Malaguena."

"Aw, play Flight of the Bumble Bee," repeated the voice.

"All this and heckling, too," retorted Adler.

The generosity of spirit of famed violinist Fritz Kreisler, soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra this week, is illustrated by his answer to a request made by Larry Adler some time ago when Kreisler was playing in Birmingham. Adler went backstage to see him and told him he hoped to give concert performances some day.

"I'd like to play several of your pieces," he said. "But I will have to make some slight changes for the harmonica. Have I your permission?"

"Make any changes that suit your instrument," said Kreisler.

Six months later Adler encountered Kreisler in Monte Carlo.

"Did you make those transcriptions?" he asked.

And this year, when Adler was appearing in Keep Off the Grass in New York, Ray Bolger suggested one night that he change one of his numbers and play Caprice Viennois instead. Adler did so and learned afterward that a man sitting down in front applauding was Kreisler himself. Bolger had known he was to be in the house.

Kreisler, as Symphony Soloist, Stirs Audience to Cheers

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Forty years ago, in the 10th season, Fritz Kreisler, an Austrian violinist in his middle twenties, filled his first engagement with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. This week that same Fritz Kreisler is adding to the brilliance of the orchestra's golden jubilee season by appearing as soloist at the Thursday evening and Friday afternoon concerts under Hans Lange's direction.

A packed Orchestra hall applauded him thunderously last night. In the four decades which have elapsed between his first and his 10th engagement with the orchestra he has not only achieved the position of world's first violinist but he has achieved it without sacrificing one iota of his dignity as a man and as an artist. It is difficult to say whether affection or respect was the most important factor in the demonstration which marked his first appearance upon the stage last night.

The several demonstrations which followed may be easily accounted for. They were set off by the display of an art so superlatively fine that one can hardly hope to avoid becoming incoherent trying to write about it.

In the Bruch G minor concerto there was apparent again and again that serene and shining tone which in Mr. Kreisler's case is never merely serene and shining but which invariably takes on at least a suggestion of the performer's rugged strength. As the music called for other colorings the violinist stood ready to supply them. The main theme of the last movement actually flashed. The subsidiary subject possessed a dark and regretful, but still unsentimental, coloring whose perfect rightness was enough to take one's breath away each time it recurred.

In the more sustained parts of the work phrase contours were marked by that long breathed grandeur which is one of the hallmarks of the Kreisler style. Yet the songfulness of the adagio was hardly more perfectly realized than the smoking strength and speed of the finale.

Later Mr. Kreisler returned to the stage for a brilliant and clean cut presentation of Rimsky-Korsakoff's Fantasy on Russian Themes.

Not all of the evening's honors went to the soloist. Mr. Lange and his men contributed a luminous performance of the interlude called "The Walk to the Paradise Garden," from Frederick Delius' opera, "A Village Romeo and Juliet." There was also a first performance of the symphonic overture of Remi Gassmann, an American composer now living in Chicago. The work is dedicated to Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra and was written for the golden jubilee season. Mr. Gassmann was present in Orchestra hall last night and was brought to the stage to receive the applause which his creditably constructed little overture had evoked.

The concert ended with the Tschaikowsky Fifth Symphony, which was broadcast in its entirety by W-G-N and Mutual.

Many Juvenile Books Offered at Small Cost

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

As I wander around the bookstores and look at what is offered for children, beauty of illustration and "format" in general are what impress me most. Text is the next thing to consider. This, too, is suitable and charming these days and well geared to young listeners, or readers, as the case may be.

But the stumbling block that appears as I think of recommending books for gift-buying is often the price. Not that three dollars or two dollars isn't money well spent for a book that a child will love for years, but that parents very often haven't that much money for that purpose, or perhaps they want to buy several books.

There are, however, I am glad to say, more and more inexpensive children's books being made. The Child Study Association of America has made a comprehensive list of these and today I am going to select some for you, in case you are in need of this kind of suggestion.

Grouped as books for those under eight are the following, and you will see at once that some are "very first books," others for the 4 or 5 or 6 year old:

PICTURE BOOKS.

Baby's First Book, published by Saalfield, price 10c.

Baby's First Book, illustrated by G. de Beanlien, published by Platt & Munk, linen, price 35c, board 60c.

What Baby Sees, published by Platt & Munk, linen, price 60c.

A B C Alphabet Book, illustrated by H. Daugherty, published by Platt & Munk, linen, price 35c, board 60c.

1-2-3 Picture Book, illustrated by W. Kolliker, published by Platt & Munk, linen, price 35c, board 60c.

Baby's Day, by Margaret Sutton, illustrated by Pelagie Doane, published by Grosset & Dunlap, price 50c.

Farm Folk [Dean rag], published by Cupples & Leon, price 25c.

Farmyard Friends [linenette], published by Gabriel, price 50c.

Fur and Feathers [Dean rag], published by Cupples & Leon, price 50c.

Four Footed Friends [linenette], published by Gabriel, price 50c.

My Book of Wild Animals [linenette], published by Gabriel, price 50c.

The Tale of Peter Rabbit [linenette], published by Gabriel, price 50c.

PICTURE STORIES.

The Three Little Kittens, illustrated by Tony Brice, published by Rand McNally, price 10c.

The Noisy Book, by M. W. Brown, published by Scott, price $1.00, illustrated by L. Weisgard.

A Busy Day at Home and Playing House, by Julia Letheld Hahn, Whitman Pub. Co., price 10c, illustrated by Lucia Patton.

The Cock, the Mouse and the Little Red Hen, by Lefevere, published by Macrae Smith, price $1.00.

The Little Red Hen, published by Whitman Pub. Co., price 10c.

Ting-Ling and Mee-Too, by E. Keto, published by Grosset & Dunlap, price 50c.

Uptown Players Mark Anniversary Tonight

The Uptown Players of the People's church will celebrate their 15th anniversary tonight with a theater-supper party at the Chicago Woman's club. Mrs. Lee Alberts, president of the Chicago Drama league; Mrs. James Lukey, president of the Friends of Art, and Mrs. Burnette Warner, president of the Chicago Woman's club, will be among the guests.

Looking at Hollywood

by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 12.—Hope Dare, the famous redhead of the Dixie Davis case, is becoming a dramatic actress. In Palm Springs—where she and Dixie operate a "juice joint," or health food store—she is rehearsing with the Emery Hall players for the Sadie Thompson rôle in "Rain." Opposite her will be Peter Cushing, young English actor who is a protége of Louis Hayward. Hayward and his wife, Ida Lupino, are at the springs, and he is coaching the production. Possibly not so much in the interest of Miss Dare as of Cushing, whom he hopes to get a movie break. Miss Dare, who has been working 12 hours a day in the carrot juice store and has been doing all right, plans to give her "Rain" salary to hungry Mexican children in Palm Springs.

After long puzzlement over why Paul Muni made so many takes in "Hudson's Bay Company," 20th-Fox executives did a little detective work and discovered that Mrs. Muni was giving the final okays. She was always on hand, and when she saw a take she liked at last she put her finger alongside her nose. . . . The local national defense program has hit a terrible snag. Aviation students of Pasadena Junior college have been ordered not to fly low over chicken houses bordering Monrovia airport because the noise has been cutting into egg laying something awful and residents are yowling.

Beginning next week, the studios will abandon press premières and show their wares to us journalists and tradewriters in plant projection rooms. Thus ends a practice whereby a studio buys up to 600 seats at the Pantages, Paramount, or Westwood Village theater and sandwiches its new product into a regular double bill. Theoretically the seats are for the press, but by the time producers, directors, and actors take care of friends and relatives the writing Johnnies are sometimes leaning against a side wall and getting a lousy ocular and mental perspective.

Least happy of the recent previews was the one for Chaplin's "Dictator" at the Cathay Circle. Chaplin was in New York, and blameless. Agents, relatives, hangers-on, and tradesmen flocked in, and there was almost a fist fight when the publisher of one of the local trade sheets was ousted from a decent location and made to go sit in a corner.

Under the new system the showings will be strictly press, for studio projection rooms are small. Only in case of a riotous comedy, where a large audience reaction is helpful, will pictures be taken to theaters. The saving will average about $12,000 a year per studio.

A new producing unit starts work at RKO next week, with Norman Krasna and Frank Ross beginning on "The Devil and Miss Jones." Star is Jean Arthur—soon to be seen in "Arizona"—and she's Frank Ross' wife. . . . Sterling Hayden, whose first film job was in "Virginia," has had his option lifted. . . . Every year Bing Crosby donates receipts from his recording of "Silent Night" to a charity. This year the money goes to Bing's church in the San Fernando valley, to help build a convent. Incidentally, Crosby recently signed a new phonograph deal which gives him a minimum of $60,000 a year.

Speaking of Friday the thirteenth jinxes: Warners had scheduled shooting to start on a thing called "Jinx Woman" tomorrow—but now it looks as tho it will be delayed because Jeffrey Lynn, one of the players, has been suspended for not wanting to play in "Jinx Woman." Four actors currently occupy the brethren's doghouse—Ann Sheridan, George Raft, Wayne Morris and Lynn. . . . Warners' English studio, which has been slightly bombed, keeps right on going. "An Empire Is Built" has been completed, shooting begins immediately on "Trans-Atlantic Ferry" and the script is ready on "Trilby." . . . Gertrude Niesen has signed with Universal to do a musical. Her contract stipulates she must be mugged by Cameraman Joe Valentine. . . . Republic's first "A" picture for Gene Autry, "Melody Ranch," can't get booking on Hollywood boulevard—but the studio figures the film will get into a lot of class houses that usually pass up westerns. . . . It's a girl horse at the James Cagney stable at Martha's Vineyard.

Here Are Color Sparkle Tricks for Christmas

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Pertinent to days ahead and Christmas trees, some one writes in: "Is there any way of making a Christmas tree more fire resistant? They get so dry after they have been standing in a room for several days?"

There's a simple formula for a solution which will make a tree a little more fire resistant. By no means fireproof. Take 100 parts water, 6 parts borax, and 5 parts boric acid. Use any insect sprayer you may have to apply this solution.

Order your tree several days ahead of time, and use the sprayer on it at least three times, letting the tree dry thoroly between each spraying.

A tree of course will keep green longer if its trunk is immersed in water and a green tree is less of a fire hazard than a tree with its needles overdry. Another precaution to take is to check on your Christmas tree light cords, especially around the sockets, and see that there are no loose connections or defects in insulation. Then too, it's wise not to wrap cords around the tree branches when you are decorating the tree. This can damage insulation and cause a short.

Another query of interest to every one with a fireplace: "How do you prepare logs so they will give out different colored lights, and are there any special chemicals to use?"

You can drill small holes in each log, about three inches apart: two to four inch holes and fill each hole with a different chemical. Copper sulphate will give you a green light, copper chloride a blue light and then there's a chemical, strontium nitrate, which burns red and yellow. Just pour these into the holes and cover up with melted paraffin. Or you can buy special packaged preparations all ready to sprinkle on your logs. Much easier!

Still a third query asks how to make artificial hoarfrost to put in vases at holiday time?

This isn't hard. All you need are bare branches from some back yard where there are shrubs. Then get some artificial mica "snow," and put it in a dish and make some ordinary starch and put in another dish. Then dip branches first in starch and then in the "snow." You have sparkling sprays for any number of uses, and they are especially effective with Christmas greens. [Don't have starch too thick.]

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Refugees flocking to these shores from stricken lands abroad are perceptibly swelling the ranks of our expert bridge players. Europe's loss is our gain, and we extend a cordial, even a grateful welcome.

Some very fine bridge used to be played in Vienna, Budapest, Amsterdam, and other centers where, today, conditions are not exactly ideal for quiet concentration or calm analysis. I am indebted for today's remarkable hand [and analysis] to Dr. Robert Brunner, late of Berlin, now [happily] of New York.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	2 diamonds	Pass	3 diamonds
4 diamonds	Pass	4 hearts	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

The ace of diamonds was led, and ruffed by South. The trump ace was laid down to test the trump situation and, when West showed out, declarer cashed the ace and king of spades, then ruffed a spade. The trump ten was returned and, not unnaturally wanting to preserve his trump trick, East refused to cover. Now, however, declarer was home. He led a club from dummy and, whether or not East played the ace, declarer could not be stopped from making one club trick and all six of his trumps [by merely exiting in clubs and forcing the defenders to lead diamonds or trumps].

There was nothing remarkable about the play of the hand, but the post-mortem revealed some very interesting facts. The first was that East could have defeated the contract by sacrificing his trump trick, that is, by covering dummy's ten spot. South then could have drawn East's trumps, easily enough, but would not have been able to establish a single club trick.

One of the players suggested that this line of successful defense might be vitiated by the lead of a club, instead of the heart ten from dummy. On first analysis, this view seemed correct. If East put up the ace and pumped declarer again in diamonds, declarer would, as before, cash one club trick and make all his trumps merely by using his low clubs as exit cards. If East ducked the club play from dummy, declarer would, of course, put up his king, with the same result.

To show how far analysis must go, however, to be really conclusive, it was found that a defense existed against this line of attack, also. On the club lead from dummy, if East played the ace and returned his low club, declarer would be helpless! The timing of the play would be changed to such an extent that declarer would have to lose four tricks. A truly remarkable hand, in my opinion. Try it out for yourself!

Church Council Moves Toward National Unity

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 12.—Joint sessions of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America here with six national denominational coöperative agencies came to a close today after making two forward steps toward the future unity of all churches of North America not related to the see of Rome.

The first of these was the merger of the National Council of Women for Home Missions with the National Home Missions council; the other is the merger of the National Stewardship [financial methods] council with the Federal council. Altho the only national agency not represented here, it is anticipated by many delegates that the International Council of Religious Education, with offices in Chicago, will soon be included in some form of merger with the Federal council.

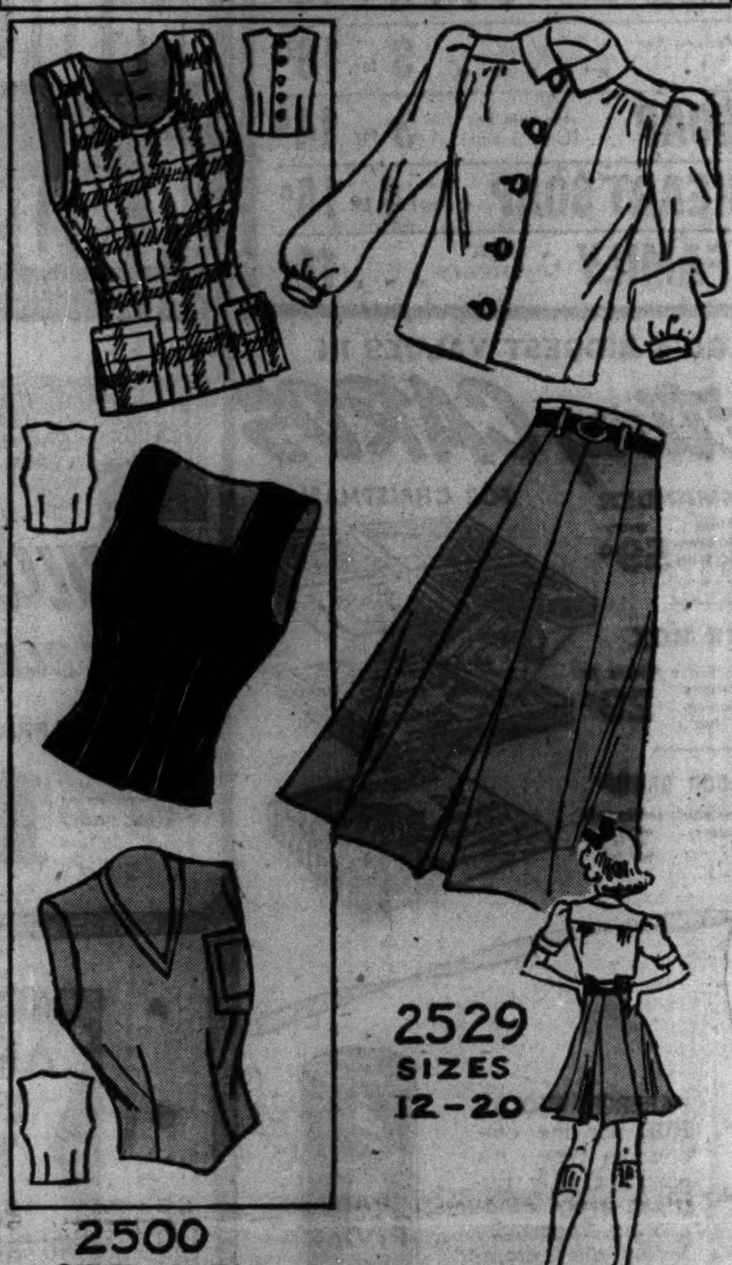
Following the joint sessions with the various functional councils closing today, the Federal council began executive sessions tonight to act on the grist of recommendations of the four joint seminars and other business matters. The first act of the executive session was to welcome delegates from the Episcopal church. Three Episcopal delegates out of ten are from the central west. These are Bishop Harwood Sturtevant of Fond du Lac, Wis., the Rev. Dr. Harold Holt, of Oak Park, Ill., and Clifford P. Morehouse, editor of the Living Church, Episcopal publication, Milwaukee, Wis.

A lively debate in the council is expected over the recommendation of the seminar on social change which asks the council's approval of all New Deal social legislation, particularly relating to relief, National Youth administration, Works Progress administration, and Civilians' Conservation corps.

Criticism of this recommendation was voiced by Dr. Carter Davidson, president of Knox college, Galesburg, Ill. He asserted in an interview that these measures may have temporary merit, but should not, as the recommendation implies, be regarded permanent governmental functions. Dr. Davidson said that it looked as tho the church had ceded all relief functions to government.

Before executive sessions close tomorrow an effort will be made to increase the size of the council by one-third, with additional members to be laymen. The action must be ratified, as a constitutional change, by constituent churches.

Blouse, Skirt, and Jerkins



MISS' BLOUSE, SKIRT, AND JERKINS.

The campus uniform this season is blouse, skirt, and jerkin. Today's two patterns fill this wardrobe specification nicely, for they fashion all three items. As the sketches illustrate, the mix-and-match contrast principle is very smart. Slim lines prevail in the plaited skirt. The shirtmaker blouse is softly styled, and the jerkins are sophisticated models.

Style No. 2500 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. See pattern envelope for yardage requirements.

Style No. 2529 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material for blouse, 2 yards of 54 inch for skirt. "Shortie" skirt also provided for in pattern instructions.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

"Everybody is buying gay gifts this year," one of the salesgirls told us the other day. People seem to want whimsical things—and why not? And there are plenty of them to be found, not expensive nor lavish, but lots of fun, and nice to find in a stocking toe on Christmas morning.

There is the ski boutonniere, for instance. This is a lapel gadget—and this year a woman can't have too many of them—but it's also a dram flacon of precious perfume. The lapel pin proper is made of two crossed skis and a little bunch of bright snowflowers. The perfume is fastened to it with a tiny red ribbon bow. When she wants to wear the clip, which she'll want to do the minute she sees it, the perfume goes into her purse. There are wonderful perfumes to choose from—gardenia, carnation, a new amber, and two exciting blends. It's a cute little whimsey, and only $1.25.

The same house has perfumes tucked into a plump little boot in a brilliant lacquer red. This is to hang on the tree.

For that little extra space in the Christmas stocking, slip in a box of perfumed letters, the kind you'll never tear up. A package of five crisp envelopes, in pastel shades, stamped, sealed, and inscribed with "Merry Christmas" and sweet nothings are filled with one of the loveliest of sachets. A sprig of mistletoe nestles in the bow of red ribbon with which they are tied. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Universal day—Doing some Christmas shopping? You can get into the spirit of it today.

Birthdays — Norman Foster has passed another year today. Like all those who are facing a four-year he may find that he has his work cut out for him, and unless he is willing to put extra effort into what he does, he may taste a little defeat and discouragement. In order not to sink into obscurity, those in a four-year have to see that their house is well in order. It is an especially difficult number for royalty, as witness King Carol who has a four-year this year. Order and system has to be established and only the well established stands.

guests of the College club at tea after the symphony concert today.

Twenty young couples, the guests of Mrs. James O. McKinsey's twin sons, Robert and Richard, will gather tonight at the McKinsey home in Lake Forest before starting out on a sleigh-ride party, weather permitting. The young hosts, who attend the University of Chicago, will take their guests on to Knollwood for a late supper.

Shepard Vogelgesang Visiting in Chicago.

Numerous small parties are being given for popular Shepard Vogelgesang, who is paying a visit to Chicago, staying with Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Owings. Mr. Vogelgesang, who is living in New York now, will be here another week. Unfortunately, his hostess has not been able to enjoy any of the parties, for she has been ill with the flu.

Because they've just returned from a two week cruise to Puerto Rico the Percy Wilsons are having an even greater struggle than most of us in getting used to the ups and downs of Chicago's winter weather. They have taken an apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive and have invited their friends in for their annual Christmas "at home" on Dec. 28. Ted Wilson, who is a "brother rat" at the Virginia Military institute, will be at home on Christmas furlough and his younger brother, Bob, will be enjoying his vacation from the Tome school in Maryland. Miss Patricia, who's been in the east attending house parties, came back to Chicago with her parents after they landed in New York.

Mrs. Carson Elwood and her daughter, Virginia, will be at home to "Ginger's" friends at a small informal party on New Year's day. Miss Elwood attends the Girls' Latin school.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Andrus of Greenwich, Conn., and their baby are arriving today to spend two weeks with Mrs. Andrus' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Moulton of Kenilworth.

Miss Beverly Bartlett's Marriage Is Announced.

Word comes from Phoenix, Ariz., that Miss Beverly Bartlett, daughter of Robert Bartlett of Chicago and Mrs. Helen Woodall Bartlett of Phoenix, became the bride yesterday of LaFayette B. Utter Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Utter of Los Angeles, in Las Vegas, N. M. Mr. and Mrs. Utter Jr. will come to Chicago on their wedding trip. They will reside in San Diego.

Mrs. William A. Nitze will be hostess today at the Cliff Dwellers tea. Assisting her will be Mrs. James Weber Linn, Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee, Mrs. Arthur Bissell, Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Mrs. Quincy Wright, Mrs. Frederick Underwood, and Mrs. Rudolph Reuter.

Miss Nancy McLaughlin, daughter of the Alexander G. McLaughlins, and Miss Patsy Blackett, daughter of the Hill Blacketts of Winnetka, are cast in important rôles in the Wellesley college play being presented this week-end.

The McLaughlins will not be going east to see their daughter as the secondary feminine lead, for their last visit with her was just two weeks ago. At that time the trio went down to New York to see Mrs. McLaughlin's children, Barbara, Jack, and Jim Gammie, who are in school on Long Island. Miss McLaughlin will be coming home for Christmas, but the three Gammies will remain in New York until Easter.

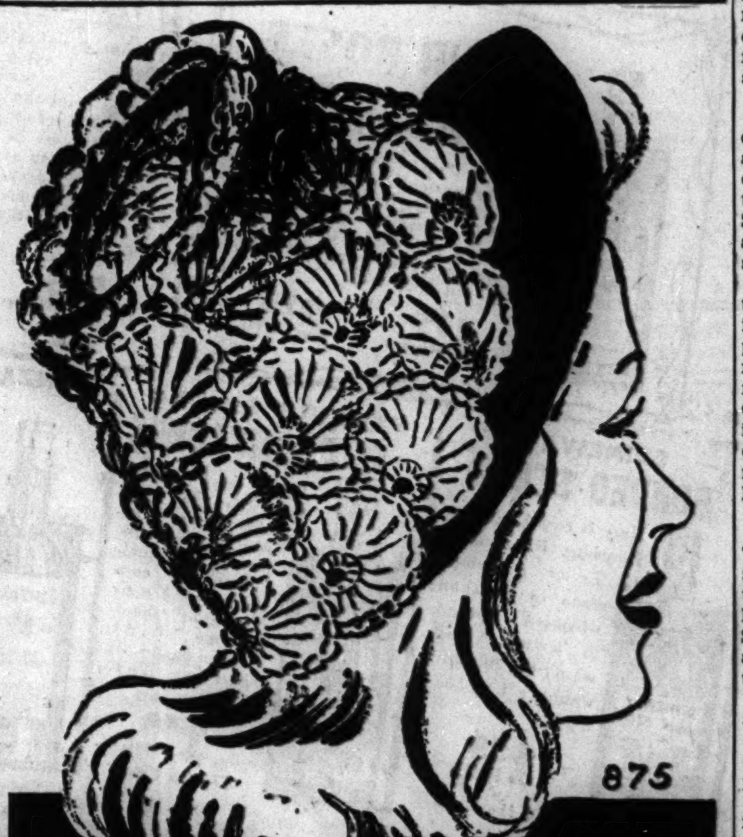
Crocheted Hat and Flowers



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

You may have hand crocheted hats worked in your favorite colors this season, whether you follow the sun or stay in wintry climates. These gay, colored flowers may be worn on a soft felt hat or be applied to a perky crochet model. These items are easy to make and add a touch of chic to an already fashionable wardrobe.

For instructions in crocheting the hat and flowers, No. 875, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Leather Goods Make the Ideal Gifts for Men

BY REA SEEGER.

The handsomest Christmas gift assortments for the men in your life are of leather. One superlative collection features just about everything the most critical male ever desired, covered or fashioned in leather. There are a couple of unusual humidors, one to hold a box of cigars, the other a cube of large proportions for pipe tobacco. Tricky buildups to anchor pipes alongside of the tobacco supply, boxes for the meandering collar buttons, cuff links and other trivia necessary to hold a man together boast saddle stitching.

Long brushes with a leather cover and a finger loop, shoe horns extra long and the last word in comfort for the lazy person who doesn't bend easily, ash trays, stunning cases with fine English military or clothes brushes, good looking pocket and table lighters, desk gadgets, including clocks, memo pads, files, cutting shears, and paper knife, and a lot of other small but mighty aids to an easier life complete the small finds in leather.

Larger pieces of the same smart leather include traveling bags, with plenty of important zippers, extra compartments and saddle stitching. There's one huge case that is the last word in leather luxury, first the size, . . . it would hold the most complete wardrobe for a world encircling expedition . . . second, the complete set of toilet accessories is expertly fitted along the front width panel. Brushes, mirror, and shaving equipment, each has a place and an anchoring strap.

Brief cases come in three models, a very thin envelope, a more capacious affair with a twin handle, and the extra large model with inside lining and compartments of contrast color. This leather collection is outstanding. Not a man alive would sniff over any of the pieces.

'Giselle' Given Last Time by Ballet Theater

BY CECIL SMITH.

Without advance warning, the Ballet theater abruptly withdrew the promised première of "Carnaval" from last night's bill at the Civic Opera house, and equally abruptly substituted an unannounced repetition of "Peter and the Wolf." The remainder of the program was devoted to the season's final representation of "Giselle."

Upon final consideration, Adolph Bolm's choreography to the Prokofieff score of "Peter and the Wolf" does not loom large upon the horizon of contemporary ballet. The attempt to translate the animal life of the fairy tale—the bird, the cat, and the wolf—is too literal, and the whole ballet has too condescending and obvious a tone in its telling of the story. In the original version, when a narrator tells the story, the imagination of the audience is stimulated and freed; in the ballet version it is restricted and perhaps almost insulted.

Eugene Loring danced in most ebullient fashion as Peter, however, and Nina Stroganova's very feline cat, David Nillo's acrobatic wolf, and the Chauve-Souris burlesque by David Saddler and the other hunters were all amusing enough in and of themselves.

Anton Dolin's restoration of the century old "Giselle," on the other hand, is quite another story, for it is perhaps the most perfect and the most completely impressive achievement of the Ballet theater in its Chicago season. The re-created original choreography possesses far more dramatic interest, far more stylistic range, and far more intrinsic brilliance than the Ballet Russe version.

It is no small triumph to make "Giselle" seem like an engrossing story, and Mr. Dolin has accomplished this feat. In addition, his dancing, like that of Nana Gollner and Nina Stroganova is quite as beautiful and accomplished as the first report in these columns indicated.

Too little has been said this fall about the splendid conducting of Alexander Smallens, who directs the orchestra in all the Ballet theater performances. He understands both his scores and the choreography fully, and he maintains an admirable artistic unity between music and dancing.

The Ballet theater will give one, and only one, final performance on Sunday, at 3:30 in the afternoon. A gala bill will include "Swan Lake," "Billy the Kid," "Bluebird," "Judgment of Paris," and "Quintet."

THIRD PERIOD.

Scoring—Dahlstrom [Seibert, Thoms], 2:22. Penalties—Conacher—MacKay, Seibert.

Officials—Stewart and Stevenson.

New York, Dec. 12 [Special].—Cully Dahlstrom, lean, dark haired forward of the Chicago Blackhawks, is rapidly becoming one of their most valuable hands in this 1940-'41 National Hockey league campaign.

Last Sunday night, it was Dahlstrom's two goals which gave the Hawks a 3 to 2 overtime decision against the Boston Bruins. Tonight it was Cully's third period goal which enabled the Chicagoans to gain a 2 to 2 tie with the New York Americans in Madison Square Garden. The 5,000 who saw the Hawks rally from a 2 to 0 deficit constituted the smallest crowd of the local season.

The one point which the deadlock gave Chicago enabled it to draw into a third place tie with the Bruins, while the Americans' share of the evening gave them a draw for sixth place with the Montreal Canadiens. The Hawks will meet the Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday night, returning with the Leafs to meet them in the Chicago Stadium in a Sunday night encore.

Two Goals Disallowed.

The Hawks departed from their customary close checking tactics for a driving, puck-carrying style which had the Americans on the run for most of the latter half of tonight's game. The Americans twice caged the puck with no result, Referee Bill Stewart disallowing the goal on each occasion.

The Americans collected their first goal with Art Wiebe, Hawk defense man, in the penalty box for tripping Buzz Boll in front of the Chicago net. Art was just ready to step on the ice when Boll took a pass from Lorne Carr about 10 feet in front of the goal, and fired it underneath Goalie Paul Goodman as he slid to the ice in an effort to halt the shot.

In the 18th minute of the second period, the New Yorkers went two goals up on a shot by Norman Larson. The American rookie took a pass from Murray Armstrong directly in front of the Chicago net and backhanded the puck past Goodman at 17:48.

Chad Fires One In.

Thirty-four seconds later, the Blackhawks retrieved that score on a neat play which saw Johnny Chad, Bob Carse, and Dahlstrom travel the length of the rink in a passing sortie which kept the puck rotating among them until Carse finally routed the puck to Chad, who fired a low shot from 10 feet out that went thru Goalie Earl Robertson's legs as he attempted the save.

At 2:22 of the third regulation period, Dahlstrom delivered the tying goal for the Chicagoans. Big Earl Seibert, Hawk defense man, essayed a blazing 50 foot shot. The puck sailed thru a maze of legs, and Dahlstrom crashed thru just in time to tip it into the cage. For the remainder of the game the Hawks dominated most of the action, altho one of their power plays in the overtime session saw the Americans pilfer the puck and stage a breakaway which nearly beat Goodman. In the third period, Max Bentley suffered an injured knee and left the ice.

HOGAN, LOVING TIE AT 67 FOR MIAMI GOLF LEAD

Last 5 Holes Ruin Texas Star's Game.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 12 (AP)—Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., shot out a three under par 67 today to share the first round lead in the $10,000 Miami open with Ben Loving of Springfield, Mass.

Hogan, front-runner in the stretch battle for the year's money-winning honors, took a three-stroke lead over the No. 2 man, Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., and a two-shot margin over Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Ga., third high.

Twenty-one golfers equalled or bettered par despite a brisk southeast wind.

Clayton Heafner, of Linville, N. C., and the veteran Ed Dudley of Augusta, Ga., scored 68s.

Seven Card 69s.

Seven professionals, including Snead, sliced a stroke off par with 69s. Among these was the day's hard-luck player, Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., who took a penalty stroke after a long conference following his round.

Jimmy Thomson of Chicopee, Mass., who also carded a 69, charged that McSpaden's ball moved while he was addressing it on the 14th green. The penalty gave McSpaden a five on the par three hole.

Others at the 69 notch were P. G. A. Champion Byron Nelson of Toledo, O.; Jim Turnesa of West View, N. Y.; Claude Harmon of Orlando, Fla., and Tommy Wright of Knoxville, Tenn.

Last Five Holes Tough.

Hogan, out with a 31, was six under par until he hit the last five holes, which were very tough in the wind today and ruined many other fine scores. Ben bogeyed three out of those five holes to nullify half of his six birdies.

Loving went over par on just one hole, the first. The 31 year old professional, who has been making the circuit for years but never won a tournament, was steady from the tee to green with nine hole scores of 34 and 33.

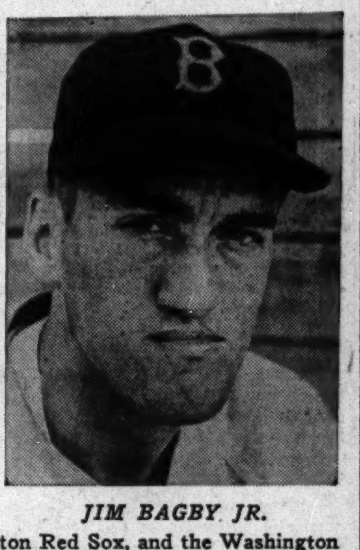
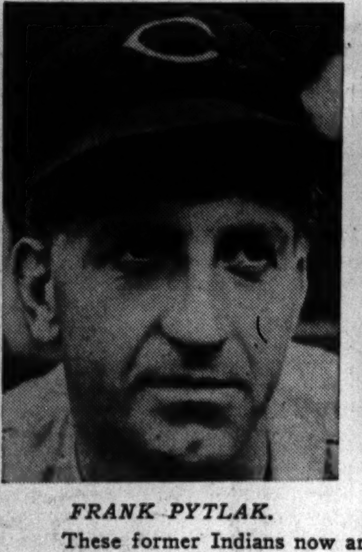
GENE DESAUTELS.

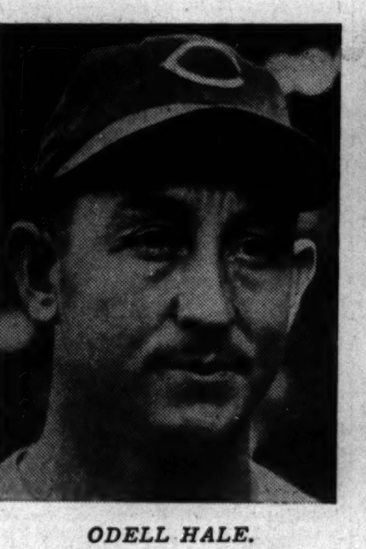


JIM BAGBY JR.

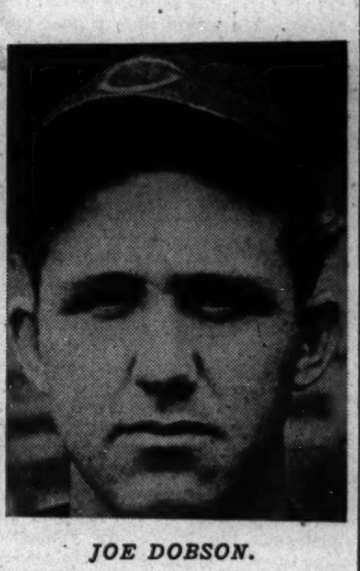
These three players became Indians last night as Cleveland, the Boston Red Sox, and the Washington Senators completed a seven player deal. Walker, an outfielder, was traded to Boston for Roger Cramer, also an outfielder, then was passed on to the Indians with Catcher Desautels and Pitcher Bagby in exchange for the players pictured immediately below.



FRANK PYTLAK.



ODELL HALE.



JOE DOBSON.

These former Indians now are Red Sox as a result of the trade. Pytlak is a catcher and Hale an infielder. Dobson is considered one of the better young pitching prospects in the American league.

Rigney Refuses to Accept Terms of New Sox Contract

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

John Dungan Rigney of the White Sox pitching department may be fixing himself for a rôle as the No. 1 holdout of 1941. Long John, who during the baseball meetings earlier in the week wanted to talk contracts but couldn't catch up with the club bosses, visited Comiskey park yesterday, conferred at length with Vice President Harry Grabiner and departed. John, however, promised to return for another haggling session.

Just what Rigney has on his mind and what is in Grabiner's mind wasn't revealed. The natural guess, in the absence of a signature, is that John wants an increase over his 1940 wage and that the club has built its defense on the athlete's record last season. He won 15 while losing 18, but his failure to finish over the .500 mark was partly balanced by the fact that he was somewhat of an iron man. He was present, part time or otherwise, in 39 ball games.

Kreevich Comes to Town.

Another piece of contract work for the Sox bosses showed up yesterday in the form of Outfielder Mike Kreevich, the man the Boston club was so anxious to land in trade for Roger Cramer. Kreevich came up from his southern Illinois home to do some Christmas shopping, and as soon as that detail has been disposed of he'll go into a huddle with Grabiner, and possibly with Manager James Dykes, who tomorrow will resume commuting between Philadelphia and Chicago.

Dykes, who put out a lot of feelers at the baseball bazar, only to get nothing better than a laugh from his prospective victims, thinks some of the latter will have different ideas before spring training time arrives. He still is willing to deal with Cleveland for Outfielder Jeff Heath, with St. Louis for Outfielder Joe Grace or Infielder Don Heffner, and with Washington for Pitcher Joe [Lefty] Krakauskas.

Wilson Ribbed; Heads Home.

Jim Wilson, the Cub chief who during the baseball sessions was subjected to an endless stream of harmless ribbing about taking Billy Myers from the Reds for Jim Gleeson, Bobby Mattick, and a player to be named later, will start back to Philadelphia this afternoon.

Wilson, despite the ribbing, still insists he is satisfied with the deal. He thinks that by landing Myers he plugged up the hole at shortstop. He refuses to be swayed by those arguing that Mattick's worth was underestimated. Wilson doesn't become excited when asked what he is going to do about filling Gleeson's place in the outfield.

As for additional trades Wilson, like Dykes, remains hopeful. The nature of this possible future business is stowed safely under his hat but it is probable that in the next few weeks he'll concentrate on the pitching problem.

DE PAUL RALLIES, BEATS ARKANSAS STATE, 50 TO 30

Recovering brilliantly from a ragged first period start, De Paul university's basketball team scored 30 points in the last half to defeat Arkansas State, 50 to 30, in St. Sabina's gymnasium last night before 1,200.

The Demon attack was paced by a 6 foot 3 inch sophomore, Carter O'Rourke. O'Rourke collected 21 points. Byron Parker, Arkansas center, scored 10 points to lead his mates in the scoring.

The first half was a seesaw battle in which the lead changed four times. With five minutes gone in the first period Gene Osment, Arkansas forward, scored on a set shot to tie the score, 7 to 7. At midperiod, however, consecutive scores by Wozny and O'Rourke of De Paul pushed the Blue Demons in front, 14 to 9. From then until the final gun De Paul maintained a margin, playing unhurried ball. The score at the half was 20 to 14 for De Paul. Lineups:

INDIANA BASKET TEAM DEFEATS BUTLER, 39 TO 36

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 12 [Special].—The Indiana university basketball team drew away in the closing minutes to defeat Butler, 39 to 36, here tonight. The Hoosiers led 21 to 20 at the end of the half, but Butler stepped into a 28 to 23 lead soon after the intermission. With 12 minutes to go, Indiana regained the advantage at 32 to 31, lost it momentarily and regained it at 35 to 34. The Hoosiers maintained a slim margin from there to the finish.

Both teams made 16 out of 68 attempts from the field but Butler was even more inaccurate than Indiana from the free throw line. William Menke, led the Indiana scoring with six baskets. Lineups:

CLEVELAND GETS G. WALKER BY WAY OF BOSTON

Cramer Is Shifted to Washington.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 12 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians tonight announced a three cornered deal intended to bolster their outfield and pitching staff. They obtained Outfielder Gerald Walker, Pitcher Jim Bagby Jr., and Catcher Gene Desautels from the Boston Red Sox in exchange for Catcher Frankie Pytlak, Infielder Odell Hale, and Pitcher Joe Dobson.

Prior to the six player deal the Red Sox traded Outfielder Roger Cramer to the Washington Senators for Walker.

With the acquisition of Walker, the Indians hope to give the outfield the batting punch it lacked in Cleveland's world series pennant drive last season.

He's Been Around.

The 31 year old Walker, a native of Gulfport, Miss., averaged 100 runs batted in per season for the last five years, accounting for 96 with the Senators last summer. He previously played with Detroit's Tigers and the Chicago White Sox.

"I'm delighted with the deal," said Roger Peckinpaugh, recently appointed manager of the club. "As I see it, we got exactly what we went after without giving up anything but Dobson's prospects. And don't forget that Bagby has some prospects, too."

Bagby, 24, son of a hero of Cleveland's 1920 pennant winning team, won 10 games against 16 losses for Boston last year, and can win 20 games for the Indians during the coming season, Peckinpaugh believes. He joined the Red Sox in 1938.

Dobson Loses Seven.

Dobson, 24 year old right hander from Durant, Okla., won only three and lost seven games last season.

Desautels, 33, Red Sox first string catcher since 1937, "will be every bit as good as Pytlak" as a second string catcher for the Indians, Peckinpaugh declared. Gene started with Detroit in 1930.

Both Pytlak and Hale have been popular with Cleveland fans, but they knew the fiery little catcher probably would be offered in trade for an outfielder. Both players have been with Cleveland since 1933 and the previous year played together in Toledo. Both are 31.

Hale, used mainly as a pinch hitter the last two seasons, batted .224 last summer.

Walker and Desautels Rejoice.

The first reactions of both Walker and Desautels to news of the deal were expressions of thankfulness that they will be on Bobby Feller's side now and will not have to face him.

"I got only two hits off Feller in my last 20 times at bat against him," said Desautels in his home in Quinebaugh, Conn. "This deal suits me fine."

Walker, who is wintering in Orlando, Fla., said: "I'll believe in Santa Claus from now on. I wouldn't want a finer gift than not to have to face Feller's fast ball again."

Vitt Turns to Landis.

Oscar Vitt, former manager of the Indians, has taken his $2,500 salary dispute with the club to Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, President Alva Bradley said today. Vitt, recently named manager of the Portland, Ore., club, contended the sum was due him under a supplementary agreement to his bonus contract for last season.

Bradley asserted Vitt apparently misunderstood the terms, and agreed to send the club's record to Landis for study along with the manager's papers.

PETE FOX TO RED SOX

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 12 (AP).—Ervin [Pete] Fox was sold today by the Tigers to the Boston Red Sox for an undisclosed amount of cash. The 31 year old outfielder, native of Evansville, Ind., had patroled the Tiger outfield for eight seasons.

"Pete wasn't a regular here last year and we didn't figure he would make the grade in 1941," said General Manager Jack Zeller of the Tigers. "A change in scenery may benefit him. Every one connected with the Tigers wishes Fox every success with the Boston club."

Announcement of the deal probably didn't surprise Fox because for long there has been gossip saying he was to be involved in this trade or that one. Barred from trading by the American league rule against a pennant winner, the Tigers today made one of the few straight cash sales in the history of the club.

Fox came to the Tigers in the spring of 1933 after having been developed at Beaumont of the Texas league by Del Baker, present Detroit manager. Fox was a Tiger regular thru 1939, boasting a seven year major league batting average of .303. Last season he alternated in right field with Bruce Campbell and Earl Averill. He batted .289 in 93 games.

NIGHT ISN'T TIME TO RUN RAIDS ON CROW ROOKERIES

They're Too Smart to Stay Out in Moonlight.

BY BOB BECKER.

If hunters in Illinois know the location of a large crow rookery they'll have more fun, get more shooting, and kill more of the big black birds by not disturbing the birds at night with a shotgun barrage. These night attacks against crows that are roosting invariably result in very few birds killed. And once the crows are disturbed they will move or scatter and make it much harder for the predatory control division of the department of conservation to go after the big concentration of birds with their shot-loaded bombs.

Frank N. Davis, the department of conservation inspector who has been bombing crow rookeries in Illinois for several years, stressed these points about tactics against the crows when we checked on a northern Illinois rookery the other day.

They're Right Smart.

Davis said that crows are too smart to let a group of shooters get under them on a moonlight night and on dark nights the work of a few shot guns firing in the dark is inefficient compared to the number of crows that can be eliminated by a bombing. [One of the department's bombs loaded with 2¼ pounds of shot is capable of killing 200 to 300 crows.] The fact that crows are too smart to let shooters fire at them on a roost, we know all too well. We tried it one moonlit night. The birds flew away before our gang was within effective range of them.

But hunters who want shooting at crows during the winter months can lend a hand at reducing the numbers of these birds in this way, says Davis: They can get into a blind [on a flight line] about a mile and a half from a rookery, put out an owl decoy and some crow silhouettes, and shoot the birds as they come from the rookery in the morning. The same system may be worked late in the afternoon, when the birds are on their way to the rookery. The point is to stay far enough away from the roost so that the birds won't leave it, because the concentration produces two flights a day to give a shooter a chance to decoy and kill the birds.

Seeks Information on Rookies.

This department now is assembling information on crow rookeries in northern Illinois around which hunters may do some shooting later in the season. We would like to hear from sportsmen who know the location of a rookery in their neighborhood so that organized crow hunting over decoys may be obtained during the next few months.

OVERLIN SEEKS SECOND VICTORY OVER BELLOISE

New York, Dec. 12 (AP).—Ken Overlin and Steve Belloise meet again in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night, with Ken's New York middleweight championship on the block. The bout will match a boxer [Overlin] against a slugger, a veteran, and his ring skill against a youngster with a wallop. The odds-makers refuse to make either a favorite.

Overlin, the ex-sailor from Decatur, Ill., seeks to repeat his decision victory over the New York youngster over the 15 round route, thereby keeping that portion of the world's 160 pound crown recognized in California, New York, Pennsylvania, and a few other states.

Promoter Mike Jacobs expects tomorrow's return will attract 15,000 or more fans and a gate of $30,000 to $40,000.

Toronto Beats Montreal, 4-3, for 6th in Row

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 12 (AP).—The Toronto Maple Leafs increased their National Hockey league lead to six points over the idle Detroit Red Wings tonight, turning back the Montreal Canadiens, 4 to 3. It was the sixth consecutive victory for the Leafs.

The first period ended 1 to 1, with Johnny Quilty, Montreal rookie, matching a goal by the veteran Sweeney Schriner. Charles Sands put the Canadiens in front in the second session when he scored on Ray Getliffe's rebound, but Schriner got his second goal of the night to send the teams into the final period on even terms.

Billy Taylor stole the puck in Montreal territory to score at 11:35, after Syl Apps drifted an easy shot past Goalie Bert Gardiner to put Toronto ahead at 4:57. The Canadiens fought back, and less than a minute after Taylor had tallied, Joe Benoit fired the final goal of the night.

A crowd of 9,969 witnessed the contest in which 13 minor penalties were handed out by Referee Mickey Ion, eight of them going to Toronto.

Yank Holdings Go to Farley Any Day Now

New York, Dec. 12 (AP).—The $4,000,000 deal for the purchase of the New York Yankees by a group headed by James A. Farley will be completed within the next few days, brokers in the negotiations said today.

The office of Brown, Wheelock, Harris & Stevens Inc. said there never has been any question involving the cash in the transaction, and that final details practically have been ironed out. Preston Goodfellow, cobroker, said he had been in touch with Farley, and John Farber of the law firm representing Farley, and had been informed by both men that Farley has the necessary funds to purchase the club.

The deal involves the purchase of the New York, Newark, Kansas City, Binghamton, N. Y., Akron, O., Norfolk, Va., Butler, Pa., and Amsterdam, N. Y., properties.

The Rupperts own in fee the Yankee stadium, and the Kansas City and Newark properties. The others are under lease.

Junior Trials in Prep Swim Ruled by Lane

Lane Tech's dominance of the 26th annual Chicago Public High school swimming tournament at the University of Chicago, first manifest earlier in the week during the preliminaries of the senior events, spread yesterday to the junior trials. The finals in both divisions will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight with Lane a favorite to carry off major honors.

Swimmers from Lane qualified in every event in the junior division, a total of eight placing in the four individual contests. A Lane team made the best time in the medley relay—one minute, 52.5 seconds and Woodman of Lane showed the most speed in both the 40 and 100 yard free style swims.

Sullivan High school, like Lane, placed in both team events, and in addition qualified a man in each of two individual events. Bowen, Du Sable, and Calumet each advanced in one team and two individual events.

Schools qualifying in one individual and one team event included Taft, Schurz, and Tilden. Farragut and Tilden teams each qualified in one event and Steinmetz and Hyde Park each qualified a man. Qualifiers:

Teachers' Five to Meet Arkansas State Tonight

Weight Lifting Builds Mighty Men and It's Easy to Learn

The men with the bulging muscles, the fellows who nonchalantly hoist 100 to 300 pound weights over their heads with a minimum of grunts and groans, were hard at work yesterday, doing, they said, their bit for national defense.

Their immediate goal, they admitted, is to place high in the seventh annual Central A. A. U. novice weight lifting tournament Sunday afternoon at St. Philip High school, 3141 West Jackson boulevard. But that is only incidental, they insisted—they're really building sturdy bodies for defense and having a lot of fun, too. Weight lifting, all agreed, is one of the best ways to build strength and stamina.

It Sounds Easy.

Between lifts they insisted that any one could do what they were doing, but it would take months of training and practice. You just start with the small weights and work up gradually to the big ones. And, as you progress from little weights to big, you are getting the best form of physical conditioning.

These mighty men have been at it a long time, their spokesman, Norbert B. Grueber, director of the West End Physical Culture club, 1137 South Kedzie avenue, explained, and the ordinary man couldn't be expected to match their feats without long hours of daily practice. The name, weight lifting, is a misnomer, Grueber says. It suggests the lifting of heavy weights under extreme strain. That isn't the case at all—it's more training than straining and is a valuable contribution to physical education.

Are You a Progressive?

There are two categories of weight lifting, progressive and competitive. Progressive weight lifting is a system of body building in which a group of related exercises with moderate poundages and moderate repetitions are practiced regularly. More than 10,000 Chicagoans are progressives, Grueber said.

Competitive weight lifters, said Grueber, perform feats of strength or stunts, in which a single strenuous effort is applied to a maximum poundage.

Grueber urges his pupils to follow a preparatory period of progressive training for at least six months before undertaking competitive lifting.

"The benefits of weight lifting come from progressive resistance," Grueber said. "Resistance is necessary to develop muscles. Its function is to provide flexible, controled resistance, with bar bell weights adjusted to fit the requirements of any one from an 8 year old boy to a man in his fifties."

It's a Popular Conditioner.

While the athletes toiled with the big bars, Grueber pointed out that John Kelly of Philadelphia, former world's sculling champion and chairman of the president's physical preparedness committee, keeps in shape by weight lifting. So do George J. Jowett, another committee member, and Lawson Robertson, Olympic track coach.

Other weight lifting enthusiasts include Movie Actors Clark Gable, Robbert Taylor, Dick Powell, and James Stewart. The late Florenz Ziegfeld, the showman, and John Philip Sousa, famous band leader, were weight lifters, Grueber said.

More than 60 contestants from scores of physical culture clubs, Y. M. C. A.'s, and park district weight lifting associations will compete in Sunday afternoon's tournament.

Clarence Is the Star.

The star of the meet already is picked out, Grueber said. He is 21 year old Clarence Deja, 316 South Clark street, a hotel clerk, who will compete in the 181 pound class. Trained by William Hector, a musician who somehow finds time to teach weight lifting, Deja has smashed all four novice tourament marks in practice at the Central Y. M. C. A.

Teams entered in the tournament, which opens at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, include the Northwest Weight Lifting club, defending champion, Chicago Weight Lifting club, German-American Athletic club, Mid-City Weight Lifting club, Joliet Y. M. C. A., Swedish-American Gymnastics club of Rockford, Community Gym of Mount Morris, Ill., Aurora Y. M. C. A., Washington High school of East Chicago, Ind., 15 branches of the Chicago Park District Weight Lifting association, and eight local Y. M. C. A. teams.

Fenwick Football Squad Is Honored at Annual Dinner

Fenwick High school's football team last night was honored at the annual banquet sponsored by the Fenwick Fathers' club in the Morrison hotel. The speakers included Jimmy Wilson, manager of the Chicago Cubs; Mal Edward, Purdue university football coach; Paddy Driscoll, former Marquette coach; Bill Cerney, assistant coach at Notre Dame; Burt Ingwersen, assistant coach at Northwestern; Tony Lawless, Fenwick coach; the Rev. P. J. Conaty, Fenwick athletic director, and the Rev. C. M. Fisher, Fenwick principal.

HOPE WINS, 46-35.

Holland, Mich., Dec. 12 [Special].—Hope college scored its first M. I. A. A. basketball victory tonight, beating Adrian, 46 to 35. John Visser, center, was high scorer for Hope with 11 points, while Ken Brown, guard, led the visitors with 15.

MORE MONEY OR NO PRO FOOTBALL FOR KIMBROUGH

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 12 (AP).—John Kimbrough, Texas Aggies full back, declared here tonight "there will have to be a lot more money in professional football than I think there is to lure me away from the ranch I've already picked out in east Texas."

On his way to New York, where he will be the guest of the New York Yankees football team, Kimbrough made his remarks during a 15 minute plane stopover.

The Aggies star said: "The trip doesn't mean a thing. I've been invited to the big town and expect to have a big time—at the Yankees expense. But there will be no discussion of my entering the pro grame. This was understood before I left College Station."

BAKER'S FAMOUS HARNESS STABLE NEARS LAST MILE

But Owner Still Has Palin and Greyhound.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 12 (AP).—One of the most successful combinations of men and horses in American harness racing history is about to be dissolved.

Only Greyhound, holder of 16 world trotting records, remains of the famous string of standardbreds assembled by E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., and trained and driven by Sep Palin of Indianapolis.

The Illinois capitalist, 73 years old and in poor health, sold all his active campaigners this fall except the great grey gelding.

Six Run Mile Under 2:00

At the retirement of Greyhound in another year or two, the stable will leave a record that is not likely to be equalled soon.

Baker, whose fortune stemmed from association with his brother in law, the late John W. [Bet a Million] Gates of New York, has owned six harness horses with records better than 2 minutes for the mile. They were Winnipeg [1:56¾], Star Etawah [1:59¾], His Majesty [1:59¾], Cardinal Prince [1.58¾], Her Ladyship [1:56¾], and Greyhound [1:55¼].

Her Ladyship's record, set at Lexington, Ky., in 1938, was a world mark for a pacing mare.

Winnipeg's record is the world's best for pacing geldings. He also held the record of 2:01 for pacers on a half-mile track but Billy Direct broke it last year with a 1:59¾ performance in New York state.

Contender, another Baker horse, set a world record of 2:06 for a trotting gelding from a standing start. The mark has been equaled but not beaten. He held the record of 2:05 for a two year old trotting gelding but Greyhound lowered it to 2:04¾.

Holds 16 World Marks.

Greyhound, of course, is the greatest of them all. Palin sat down the other day and brought the champ's record up to date. It lists these world's trotting marks:

Trotting against time, 1:55¼ [Lexington, 1938].

Racing, 1:57¼ [Springfield, Ill., 1936].

For 2 year old gelding, 2:04¾ [Syracuse, N. Y., 1934].

For 3 year old gelding, 2:00 [Springfield, Ill., 1935].

For 4 year old, any sex, 1:57½ [same race in which he set all-age racing record].

For 5 year old, any sex, 1:56¾ [Lexington, 1937].

For 6 year old, any sex, 1:55¼ [same race as the all-age trotting record against time].

For ½ mile track, 1:59¾ [Goshen, N. Y., 1938].

At pole [with Rosalind, world's champion trotting mare], 1:58¼ [Indianapolis, 1939].

Under saddle, 2:01¾ [Lexington, 1940].

Two heats, 2:02 and 1:57½ [Springfield, Ill., 1936].

Three heats, 2:02 and 1:57½ [Springfield, Ill., 1936].

Three heats, 2:01, 2:00¼, and 2:00 [Goshen, 1936].

Quarter mile, 26¾ seconds [Cleveland, 1938].

Greyhound won the Hambletonian at Goshen, world's richest trotting event, in 1935 and set a two heat record for the race, 2:02¼ and 1:02¾, which still stands.

Palin, himself a champion, says he believes Greyhound may trot his fastest mile next year.

Decide Today on Status of Zale Fight

Bill Rand today will know whether Chicago Stadium is available for a 10 round overweight bout between Champion Tony Zale and Steve Mamakos Jan. 10. Both fighters have agreed to the contest, but Rand is withholding the actual signing until after he is sure of a spot in which to hold it.

After a conference with Rand yesterday in the Chicago Athletic association, Arthur Wirtz, treasurer of the Stadium, said Rand would be granted the date if Mike Jacobs relinquishes his option on it. Jacobs will make a decision some time today, Jim Norris Jr., secretary at the west side building, said on the telephone from New York.

Previously, Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois boxing commission, spoke to Jacobs in Detroit and the New York promoter gave indication that he had no suitable bout to offer in Chicago next month.

John J. Hettche, head of the Michigan Athletic commission, which has rejoined the National Boxing association, yesterday was appointed a member of the association's championship rating committee. . . . Thomas James, Savoy Athletic club welterweight, is matched to meet Jimmy O'Malley in a five round amateur fight tonight in Madison A. C., 4711 Madison street. O'Malley, who did not go thru with a scheduled encounter in the 132d Infantry armory on Wednesday because of a sore hand, will be ready for James, Matchmaker Jack Biggerstaff said. . . . Tony Reno, west side middleweight, who recently placed himself under the management of Danny Spunt, will meet Johnny O'Hara in a four round match in Marigold Gardens Monday. Mike Sopko, Indiana Harbor welterweight, is paired with Stanley Murczek, Booker Beckwith with Speedy Schaefer, and Eu Eulien with Harvey Dubs. Lem Franklin and Selman Martin are principals in a round headliner. . . . Oki Shikina and the Swedish Angel have been booked to clash in a heavyweight wrestling engagement in White City Monday.

BRADLEY SPENDS 81ST BIRTHDAY ON IDLE HOUR FARM

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 12 (AP).—Lonely, in his beautiful blue grass mansion, Edward Riley Bradley, turfman, was 81 years old today.

The famous horse breeder, whose thorobreds won four Kentucky Derbies, spent the day with his sister, Mrs. Catherine Bailey of Philadelphia, the only guest at Idle Hour farm. Bradley's health is poor.

If Kentucky's weather continues to be pleasant, Bradley plans to remain here until Jan. 1, when he will leave for his annual visit to Palm Beach, Fla., where he has a night club enterprise.

The veteran horseman, who once told a senate committee he gambled on anything, has had a career which found him at one time or another a Pennsylvania steel mill laborer, a Texas cowboy, an Arizona prospector, an anti-Apache government scout, and a Chicago clothing store operator.

FIVE COMPANIES VOTE SPECIAL OR EXTRA DIVIDENDS

Special or extra dividends were authorized yesterday by five companies, while additional firms resumed payments or made larger distributions.

Directors of Wieboldt Stores, Inc., declared a special dividend of 75 cents on the common stock and voted regular quarterly payments on the $5 and 6 per cent preferred stocks. The company paid special common dividends of 25 cents at this time in 1939 and 1938.

Companies which declared extra dividends included Air Associates, Inc., 25 cents; E. J. Brach & Sons, 40 cents; Pennsylvania Exchange bank, 10 cents, and Loew's, Inc., $1.

The Cudahy Packing company ordered dividends of $3 on the 6 per cent and $3.50 on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stocks, the first disbursements since May 1, 1937. Accumulations as of Nov. 1 were $21 and $24.50, respectively.

TURRET LATHES.

Gisholt Machine stock has been suggested to me as an investment in the machine tool industry. What information do you have on the company?
—G. S.

Answer: Gisholt Machine company, Madison, Wis., has been in business more than 50 years. Until this year the company's stock was held closely. The first public distribution of a block of the stock was made last October. Capitalization of the company now consists of 267,000 shares of $10 par common stock.

An initial dividend on the present stock of 35 cents a share will be paid Dec. 16 to holders of record Dec. 2. Operating results of the company compared as follows in recent years:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Earned per share.
1938	$2,658,242	$194,701	*$0.80
1939	3,824,892	437,163	*1.79
1940	......	†670,292	2.51

*Based on 243,873 shares. †For 40 weeks ended Oct. 5, 1940.

The company manufactures machine tools, including heavy duty turret lathes, lathe tools, and related machine products. Exports have averaged one-third of the company's total output in the last 45 years. This export ratio had increased in recent months to more than 50 per cent, with most of the foreign business going to the British empire.

OLDEST RAILROAD.

In a recent story about the reëlection of the president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, it was stated that the road is the oldest in the country. Is this true?—J. D.

Answer: The Baltimore & Ohio was the first railroad in the United States to operate as a common carrier of passengers and freight, according to the Association of American Railroads. The first revenue passengers were carried Jan. 7, 1830, and the road was opened for regular service on May 24 that year. The original line ran from Baltimore to Ellicott's Mills, Md., a distance of about 13 miles. The cars originally were horse drawn.

CHICAGO GIVEN TINY SHARE OF NEW AIR FUNDS

Allotted $20,000 Out of 40 Millions.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Approval has been given to construction or improvement projects on 200 airports in the United States and possessions, including a $20,000 WPA allocation for work on Chicago airport, Col. Donald H. Connally, administrator of civil aeronautics, announced today.

The program was authorized in a 40 million dollar appropriation passed by congress in October as part of the national defense program. It provided that improvements should be made to not more than 250 public airports, as determined by the administrator with the approval of a priority board consisting of the secretaries of war, navy, and commerce.

The $20,000 allotted for Chicago airport is a nonlabor grant to WPA to widen the east-west taxi strip by 50 feet, and "provide additional drainage required and other necessary and appurtenant work."

Other Projects Approved.

Other middle western projects follow:

Battle Creek, Mich.—$381,000 for grading, drainage, fencing, lighting, paving, and other work.

Fort Wayne, Ind.—$631,000 to grade, drain, pave, and install lights, provide rotating and code beacons, a tower, and other facilities.

Milwaukee, Wis.—$80,000 to extend and pave runways, revamp the basic lighting system, and provide floodlights.

In contrast to these single projects in Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, and Wisconsin, were a large number of developments approved along the eastern and western seaboards. Florida airport projects number 19 at a cost of $2,454,000; New York was allowed 8 projects at a cost of $1,611,000, and California 10 costing $1,714,813.

Illinois has lagged consistently in the award of defense projects, ranking thirteenth among states in the period between June 1, when the defense program go under way, and Nov. 1.

Chicago Ranks Seventeenth.

A breakdown of contracts by cities during that period, as prepared recently by the National Defense Advisory commission, showed Chicago, the second greatest industrial district in the country, ranking seventeenth in the value of defense contracts received, getting contracts valued at $116,011,000 out of total awards of $7,616,650,000 during the period. The ranking of industrial areas getting total contracts of more than 100 million dollars was as follows:

1—New York-Newark and Jersey City, N. J.	$818,455,000
2—Philadelphia, Pa.-Camden, N. J.	747,780,000
3—Boston, Mass.	649,946,000

19—Cleveland, O.	101,270,000
20—Louisville, Ky.-Jeffersonville, Ind.	100,066,000

Program Is Limited.

On the airport program, Col. Connally said that improvements are undertaken only where the land is owned by a political subdivision of government which is prepared to make the land available to the federal government without cost and further to pledge itself to maintain and operate the improved airport. Improvements are limited under this program to actual landing facilities and none of the funds are to be used for buildings, hangars, and other facilities.

COURT PUTS BANK STOCK SUITS IN TEN YEAR LIMIT

A decision holding in effect that the 10 year statute of limitation applies to liability suits against bank stockholders was handed down yesterday by the Illinois Supreme court. The court reversed an Appellate court decision that stockholders of the West Madison State Bank of Chicago were not liable for obligations of the Garfield State bank. Garfield State absorbed West Madison State in a 1929 merger and later failed.

Attorneys said the ruling was significant because it places a number of stockholders liability suits within the statute of limitations. The Appellate court had held that liability suits must be brought within five years after a bank's failure. The issue was whether a deposit was an oral contract, to which the five year limit applies, or a written contract, on which the limit is ten years.

The attorneys said a number of such suits brought by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which would be barred by a five year limit, are within the 10 year limit.

Senators Flay Plan to Tax All U. S. Securities

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau's proposal to eliminate tax exemptions from all future issues of federal securities was assailed in the senate today as a step toward national socialism.

Senators Burke [top] and Austin.

Both Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.] and Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], members of a special senate committee on the taxation of governmental securities, said the removal of tax exemptions from the obligations of the federal government would be used as a club to tax the securities of state and local governments.

Clark Starts Debate.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] occasioned the senate debate on the issue of reciprocal intergovernmental taxation when he commended Secretary Morgenthau's announcement that hereafter the income from all federal security issues should be subject to taxation.

Clark explained that Morgenthau had exercised his discretionary authority to issue 500 million dollars of short term notes without tax exemption features instead of selling long term tax exempt bonds.

Senator Austin denounced "the adventitious claim that this is a procedure necessary to national defense."

"In my judgment there is no single step the congress of the United States could take which has greater significance as an indication of our coöperation in the world revolution, which has the form of war elsewhere but which nevertheless has for its object the setting up of a system of national socialism in the entire world," said Senator Austin.

Sees Barriers Broken Down.

"Every time the congress permits a statute to be enacted that breaks down the barriers and limitations between the two governments which occupy the same geographical area we take an important step away from representative government and we take a step toward national socialism."

Senator Burke agreed wholeheartedly with the contention of Senator Clark that the federal government has the right to tax its own securities, but said he was disturbed by "the attempt by the federal government to force the states to enter upon a line of policy with which they do not agree."

"If the secretary of the treasury is engaged in such a program or starting on such a course, I want to be in a position to condemn him as doing a great disservice for the country, because in my humble judgment we have gone altogether too far in breaking down state lines and local autonomy," said Senator Burke.

LARD AND GRAIN FUTURES SLUMP ON LIQUIDATION

Scattered liquidation by holders of grain and lard contracts developed yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Lard futures declined 7½ to 12½ cents per 100 pounds, with all deliveries except March and May selling at new seasonal low levels. December lard closed at $4.30, the lowest price quoted on any future since April, 1933.

Closing sales of wheat futures were slightly above the low point, with losses of ⅛ to ⅞ cent a bushel, the latter on December. Corn was off ⅛ to ¾ cent, and soy beans declined ⅞ to 1¼ cents. December oats, however, closed ⅛ cent higher at 39½ cents, only ⅛ cent below the seasonal high price.

The Merchants National bank in Chicago declared a dividend of $6, payable $3 on Jan. 10, and $3 on July 10. The bank made payments of $2.50 in January and July of this year. The board authorized the transfer of $25,000 from earnings to surplus, raising the surplus account to $250,000.

Some 4,000 delegates to the annual convention, the 45th "Congress of American Industry," unanimously adopted this pledge:

"2. To exert its utmost effort in coöperation with the government to carry out the program of national defense with all possible speed and efficiency.

Maintain Normal Output.

COMPANY WINS SUIT TO BAR TAX ON CASH IN BANK

A decision handed down by the Illinois Supreme court yesterday in Springfield relieved the McGraw Electric company of paying $26,811 in Cook county 1936 personal property taxes.

Tax authorities in the state's attorney's office and private tax attorneys said last night that the decision might set a precedent for reducing the taxes of thousands of corporations in Illinois.

The electric company, incorporated in Delaware, argued that as a foreign corporation it could not be assessed for cash it held in Chicago banks. The Cook county Circuit court ruled against the company, but this was reversed by the high court.

Board of Trade Members Reject Fee on Trading

Members of the Chicago Board of Trade voted 407 to 340 against a proposed change in the rules of the exchange which would have assessed brokers and commission houses a small fee on all cash and futures transactions. Its sponsors said the fee would eliminate a special annual assessment of $150 now levied on members for exchange expenses. In addition members pay yearly dues amounting to $250.

METAL BURIED YEARS IN CHINESE RIVER IS BROUGHT TO AMERICA

New York, Dec. 12 (AP).—Approximately $5,000,000 worth of antimony, buried in wooden cases years ago in the muddy bottom of a Chinese river to protect it from seizure by the Japanese, has arrived in New York by steamer and now lies in the Staten Island warehouses of the New York Foreign Trade Zone Operators, Inc., it was learned today.

Also newly landed in the foreign trade zone is $5,000,000 worth of tungsten ore from mines in Burma.

Antimony and tungsten both are important raw materials in the making of alloy metals.

China has been secretly preparing the antimony for market for years.

A refinery is being set up in the foreign trade zone and the ore shortly will be cleaned and packed in 500 pound steel drums to await consignment to buyers.

3 OIL COMPANIES, 3 OFFICERS GET FINES OF $45,000

Three major oil companies and three oil company officials were assessed fines aggregating $45,000 in United States District court here yesterday by Judge Walter C. Lindley, Danville, when they entered pleas of no contest to charges of violating the Sherman antitrust act. The companies allegedly violated the act by fixing gasoline prices.

Fines were assessed as follows:

W. V. Hartman, general sales manager, Gulf Oil company, $15,000; Gulf Oil Refining Company of Illinois, $7,500; National Refining company, Cleveland, O., $7,500; Globe Refining company, $5,000; J. W. Carnes, vice president, Sinclair Refining company, $5,000; C. B. Watson, vice president, Pure Oil company, $5,000.

Two companies, the Tidewater Oil company and the Texas company entered no pleas yesterday and will go on trial in Madison, Wis., Jan. 20. Judge Lindley dismissed charges against the Gulf Oil Company of Kansas, the Gulf Oil Company of Oklahoma, and three officials of the Gulf Oil company.

BANK DISCLOSES PENSION PLAN FOR EMPLOYES

COUNCIL GROUP ACTS TO HASTEN SLUM CLEARING

Holds First Hearing on New Bill.

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

Action to facilitate proposed state legislation giving private capital broader powers in rebuilding slum areas was taken yesterday by a city council housing subcommittee, which held a preliminary hearing on a bill which the Chicago Building Congress has drafted for presentation to the next session of the legislature.

The subcommittee, arranging hearings as a means of coöperating with the building congress in shaping the bill, proposed changes to clarify some sections, officially invited all interested groups to submit written suggestions, and announced it will hold another public hearing next Wednesday.

Lindell Conducts Hearing.

No opposition to the bill as a whole developed at the first hearing, over which Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th] presided as chairman of the subcommittee. Lindell also is chairman of the council's full committee on housing.

The bill, which would provide for creation of "redevelopment" corporations with power to condemn a fraction of sites needed for slum rehabilitation projects, is a redraft of a measure which was passed by the state senate in 1939 but killed by the house in a last minute legislative jam.

The original measure was known as the public service building corporation law. The new measure is called the neighborhood redevelopment corporation bill. Its aim is to solve the problem of "holdout" minority owners of land who seek to get excessive prices, thereby often balking slum clearing projects.

Many Changes Made.

Ald. Lindell asserted in opening the hearing that the Chicago Building congress, sponsor of the new bill as well as its predecessor, had made many changes in an effort to meet objections which the old bill encountered. He congratulated the congress for changing the plan to provide for "pure home rule" of redevelopment corporations. The old bill would have placed control in the state housing board. The new one calls for creation by each community of its own redevelopment commission to regulate such corporations.

Lindell raised several questions for future study, with a view to possible changes in the measure. He asked if powers of the redevelopment commissions ought to be made more specific and less discretionary.

The alderman also asked attending officials of the building congress whether additional provisions should be made to assure that projects once begun would be finished.

Wants Full Assurance.

"We want assurance that a job will be finished, and we also want specific requirements as to time of completion," Lindell said.

J. Soule Warterfield, chairman of Use of Synthetic Rubber Will Slow Industry, Says Chemist

Large scale use of synthetic rubber to meet an emergency shortage or loss of crude rubber supplies from the far east would work a hardship on the American rubber industry, Dr. Per K. Frolich, director of chemical research of the Standard Oil Development company, said yesterday. He spoke at the opening of the National Industrial Chemical conference in the Stevens hotel.

Dr. Per K. Frolich.

Standard Oil Development, a subsidiary of Standard Oil company [N. J.], is a leading factor in the new industry making synthetic rubber from petroleum refinery by-products.

Dr. Frolich explained that the toughness of many of the synthetic rubbers would cause production in rubber factories to lag temporarily until new equipment could be added. Processing of the synthetic material by conventional factory methods into tires and other commonly used rubber products would be more difficult than with crude rubber, he said.

Fill All Needs "in Time."

The American rubber companies, he said, are familiar with methods of processing synthetic rubbers because of the extensive work done in applying synthetics to special uses. And with judicious planning, the American chemical industry, in time, could expand its output of synthetic rubber to fill domestic requirements in time of emergency, he predicted.

"The synthetic rubber industry," Dr. Frolich asserted, "has developed to a point where plant capacity should be available early next year for the production of some 50,000 pounds a day.

"Impressive as this figure is, considering that it refers to highly specialized manufacturing operations, it represents less than 2 per cent of our crude rubber imports."

Used in Other Fields.

Synthetic chemicals are being used in greater quantities by the petroleum industry to improve the quality of fuels and lubricants, said Walter G. Whitman, head of the chemical engineering department at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"A notably successful example is tetra-ethyl lead, which is incorporated in gasoline in very small percentages [less than 0.2 per cent] to improve its antiknock properties," he said. "Antioxidants [to prevent oxidation] are used extensively to stabilize gasoline against gum formation and deterioration in storage."

Of military importance is the development of synthetic gasolines with high antiknock ratings needed for airplane engines, he said. These high quality gasolines are from refinery gases obtained as by-products of the cracking process.

The chemical conference will close tomorrow afternoon but the related National Chemical exposition will remain open thru Sunday.

Chicago Rivet to Build New Bellwood Plant

Increased defense program contracts have caused the Chicago Rivet and Machine company, now in Cicero, to let contracts for a new plant in Bellwood which will more than double its present floor space. The cost of site, building, and equipment may total over half a million dollars, it was said. The construction cost of the first unit will be $350,000. The company's Cicero plant has been sold.

Approximately 10 acres have been acquired at the intersection of 25th avenue and Jackson street, Bellwood. Six acres were purchased from the Lindop Industrial district. The new plant will be built on this. In addition about four acres to the south have been acquired from other interests.

William M. Hart, of Hart & Whetson, broker in the purchase, took title for the rivet company. All construction and architectural work is in charge of Engineering Systems, Inc. The general contract was awarded to the E. L. Lonergan Construction company. Completion is scheduled for June 1.

John A. Morrissey, president of Chicago Rivet, said the new plant will have 110,000 square feet of floor space. The Cicero plant, at 1830 South 54th avenue, contains 54,000 square feet.

WAR PLANE BUILDER, LACKING MATERIALS, DISMISSES FIFTY MEN

Farmingdale, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP).—The Republic Aircraft corporation, manufacturer of pursuit and fighter-bomber planes for the army and Great Britain, has dropped 50 workmen because of a "temporary shortage of materials."

A spokesman for the company, successor to the Seversky Aircraft corporation, said the men were advised to look for other employment even tho they would be given the opportunity to return to Republic in the near future.

"It is only a temporary shortage of materials," he said, such as occurs in all industries." What materials were involved he declined to state.

A $9,000,000 plant addition which has been planned for several months has not yet been started. The company holds about $60,000,000 in government contracts.

Waukegan Bank Begins 5 Per Cent Repayment

The Waukegan National bank, which is in receivership, yesterday began the distribution to depositors of a 5 per cent payment, totaling $126,500. This disbursement will bring the total to 63 per cent. Payment is being made in the Citizens National bank, 4 South Genesee street, Waukegan.

TERM CHANGE IN LOAN POLICY DANGEROUS NOW

Bankers Say Bond Prices Will Fall.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Fla., Dec. 12.—The country may soon begin to pay for the cheap money policy that the national administration has pursued for the last eight years, the Investment Bankers association declared today.

Emmett F. Connely, I. B. A. president, takes time out for recreation. He probably will be reëlected today.

A reversal of that policy, now advocated by federal reserve officials, would have serious consequences, the association said in a report prepared for the board of governors.

Bond prices will come down from their present peak levels if the federal reserve board uses the new powers it now seeks, the association said. This decline, it said, will have an adverse effect on banks, insurance companies, educational institutions and other investors who have been buying billions of dollars of government securities at artificially high prices in recent years.

Eccles Asks Greater Powers.

Reserve Board Chairman Marriner S. Eccles and other board members have asserted that the board does not have sufficient powers to control credit expansion. The existence of 7 billion dollars of unemployed reserve funds in the banking system is a matter of concern to the reserve officials. These excess reserve funds could provide the basis for an expansion of credit of 35 billion dollars or more.

The new policy of the federal reserve board, the association said, conflicts with the aim of the federal treasury to finance government borrowings as cheaply as possible.

"The sponsors of the original policy," the association said, "now say that rates are too low and that excess reserves are too high and that both things could be corrected by the operation of increased controls.

Interest Rates Forced Down.

"One aspect of the easy money policy has been to have the governmental corporations beat down rates on mortgage investments, farm loans, and small business loans by lending

For practically every type and kind of electrical device from toys telephones . . . from X-Rays to household utilities . . . is made here. Leadership in so modern an industry speaks eloquently of many things: of strategic location near sources of supply, of unusual shipping facilities, of skilled labor, of an able executive class. RISING STOCKS HELD IN CHECK BY TAX SELLING

Steels Help Slight Lift in Day's Averages.

New York, Dec. 12 (AP).—Selling to establish losses for income tax purposes persisted in the stock market today but a selective last minute rally, led by steels and industrial preferred stocks, enabled the list to close moderately higher.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished up .2 of a point at 44.2, its first advance of the week.

Preference stocks with sizable dividend arrearages were bullish performers, these being propped by the idea the forward stride of industry would enable companies to reduce or pay off accumulations. Universal Pictures preferred shot up 14 points on scattered buying and ended with a net advance of 9 at 119, a new 1940 peak. Up 1 to more than 3, also at new 1940 tops, were Crucible Steel common and preferred, American Shipbuilding, and Chicago Pneumatic Tool.

Steel Issues Up Slightly.

Ending with modest improvement were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Western Union, Union Pacific, Great Northern, Anaconda, Kennecott, Loew's, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Cuban-American Sugar preferred, and Pittsburgh Steel preferred.

Lower were American Telephone, Santa Fe, Montgomery Ward, Eastman Kodak, United States Gypsum, Westinghouse, Boeing, J. C. Penney, and International Harvester. Rails generally about held their own altho it was disclosed last week's freight loadings climbed more than seasonally.

Chicago Stocks.

Prices were irregular on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, with gains holding an edge. Of the 94 issues traded, 36 advanced, 29 declined, and 29 were unchanged. John R. Thompson stock established a 1940 peak at 6¼ and closed at 6⅛, up ⅜.

A comparison of several stocks which closed in Chicago at a different price than in New York, follows:

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 12 (AP).—Conflicting trends prevailed in the bond market today. A group of British Empire bonds rose 2 to 4 points, and a selected group of domestic issues made some progress but there were many losers at the close.

United States government obligations ended 10/32 of a point higher to 18/32 lower.

Bank Stocks.

Harris Trust shares advanced three points and Chicago Title two points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. La Salle National was a point higher and City National declined a point.

The directors of the First National bank will meet today and are expected to raise the annual dividend rate from $8 to $10.

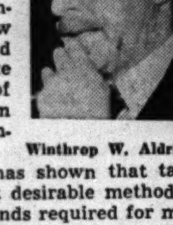
PAY FOR DEFENSE THRU TAX BOOST, ALDRICH URGES

Warns Debt Financing Will Endanger Credit.



Winthrop W. Aldrich.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 12 [Special].—Defense costs should be defrayed as far as possible from taxation rather than thru debt increases, Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of Chase National bank, New York, declared today. He spoke at a meeting of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

"Experience has shown that taxation is the most desirable method of obtaining the funds required for military use," Aldrich said. "Armaments, however necessary, are economically nonproductive and should not form the basis of debt increases.

Eases Readjustments.

"Taxation has the advantage of reducing nonmilitary consumption and, in consequence, of releasing productive facilities and materials for defense requirements. Reliance on taxation minimizes also the danger of expansion in bank credit and makes easier economic readjustments."

Drastic curtailment of nondefense expenditures also was proposed by Aldrich. He said the federal tax system ought to be revised.

The "easy money" policy of the government was criticized by the banker, who said interest rates have been reduced, by monetary means, below the levels "that would have ruled on the basis of the savings of the community."

Favors Gold Resumption.

Aldrich proposed:

1. That gold coinage and gold redemption be reintroduced.
2. That future additions to the gold stock be sterilized [isolated so as not to move into the monetary system].
3. That the exchange stabilization fund be used for foreign credits only to the extent of the $200,000,000 in the active account.
4. That the monetary powers now vested in the President be withdrawn and returned to the Federal Reserve banks.

Asks Boost in Reserves.

5. That the federal reserve system raise member bank reserve requirements to the maximum now permitted by law. This will reduce excess reserves by over one billion dollars.
6. That governors of the federal reserve system add to the number of cities classified as reserve and central reserve cities.
7. That the board of governors be granted, under adequate safeguards, additional powers to raise reserve requirements.

directly at low rates to this type of borrower. Originally this was only to be an emergency measure, but it has now become a permanent policy.

"The result has been to reduce rates and to siphon from the banking structure many billions of dollars of loans which formerly the banks made. It has forced the banks to buy large quantities of government and federal agency obligations at very low rates of return."

The association did not go on record as opposing the granting of new powers to the reserve board, but declared that recognition must be given to the possible consequences of such a step.

Elect Officers Today.

The convention will end tomorrow with the election of officers. Emmett F. Connely is slated for reëlection as president. Connely is president of the First of Michigan corporation of Detroit.

The association today voted to intensify and continue for one year its public information program to promote the function of investment banking as an indispensable part of the American system of free enterprise.

COUNCIL GROUP ACTS TO HASTEN SLUM CLEARING

Holds Its First Hearing on New State Bill.

the building congress committee which drafted the bill; Paul D. Angell, congress secretary, and John C. Butler, of counsel for the congress, asserted they believed the bill covered these points, but agreed to further study. Elmer C. Jensen, president of the congress, outlined the aim of the organization in sponsoring the bill.

Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th], who opposed the original measure, declared he approved changes embodied in the present bill and said: "I hope that the redevelopment commissions will be vigilant in seeing that housing work is stressed as the primary aim of projects, with adequate restriction of commercial areas." He urged that the sponsors be sure that the bill will protect persons who invest money in the redevelopment corporations.

"No Serious Obstacles."

Alexander Rieser, assistant corporation counsel, said it might be advisable to include in the law a provision that no streets or alleys be vacated until completion of the slum clearing project involved is assured. He said some changes in the bill are needed, but added: "There are no serious obstacles to agreement."

Eugene Taylor, manager of the Chicago Plan commission, said an important task of redevelopment commissions would be to determine that all projects dovetailed into the master plan of city development.

D. E. Mackelmann, executive director of the Metropolitan Housing council, an organization of groups interested in the housing problem, proposed that redevelopment commissions have five members instead of three, as provided in the bill. The proposal met opposition of the subcommittee on the ground that the larger commission would entail increased costs.
